R. D. Kimball Co. Gets the High School Contract—More Discussion Over Bridge Plans

At an adjourned meeting of the municipal council this morning it was voted to pay $34,000 to the Genoa club for its property in Anne street, which was seized by right of eminent domain for a high school site. This action was taken on recommendation of the city solicitor after he had held a conference with counsel for the club.

and ventilating of the new high school was awarded to the R. D. Kimball Co. and the contract was signed. The contract between the city and the National Engineering Co. of Lowell for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge was presented and referred to the law department and the J. R. Worcester Engineering Co. for approval. The matter

MEXICAN BANDITSHANGED

First Legal Executions as Punishment for Slaying Americans at Brownsville, Texas, Today

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 19.—The first legal executions as punishment for the slaying of Americans in border raids by Mexican bandits last summer and fall are to take place here today with the hanging of Melquiades Chapa and Jose Buenrostro. They were found guilty of murder in connection with the death of A. L. Austin and his son Charles, following a raid on Sebastian, Cameron county, Aug. 6, 1915, by a band of 14 Mexicans.

COWBOYS BROKE UP

BAND OF BANDITS FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Near Namiquipa, May 19, via wireless to Columbus, N. M.—Twenty-five Mexican cowboys from the Hearst ranch at Babilera broke up and scattered a newly formed band of bandits near Babilera about a week ago killing fifteen, wounding one and capturing six, according to news reaching here today.

RELEASED BY U. S. TROOPS

COLUMBUS, N. M., May 19.—Ninety Villa prisoners, captured by American cavalrymen in the engagement at Ojo Azules, Chihuahua, late in April, have been released, according to civilians returning to the border today. The prisoners were held some days and questioned concerning the movements of the various scattered bands and then released, it was said.

A number of American soldiers encamped between Colonia Dublin and Namiquipa recently became ill after eating food purchased from Mexicans and a result several of the natives were taken into custody the arrivals said.

TRIAL OF W. H. ORPET

THREE VENIRES EXHAUSTED WITH JURY NO NEARER COMPLETION THAN YESTERDAY

WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 19.—The jury to try W. H. Orpet, the University student, for the murder of his former sweetheart, Marion Lambert, was no nearer completion when court opened today than it was yesterday morning. Two hundred and twenty-three men have been examined for jury service since the trial began and three venires have been exhausted.

Attorneys for the defense have hinted that a letter, written by Miss Lambert to Orpet a few days before her death from poison last February, in which she threatened to commit suicide, will form a vital part of the evidence in their case.

BIRRELL SAYS GERMANY AT BOTTOM OF REBELLION

Testifies at Inquiry—Says Passage of Home Rule Bill Prevented Serious Trouble—Had Appealed to Gens. Kitchener and French to Send More Troops to Dublin—If Redmond Accepted Place in Cabinet With Carson He Would Not Have Remained the Leader of Irish Party

LONDON, May 19.—Augustine Birrell, who resigned as chief secretary for Ireland after the Sinn Fein revolt, appeared today as a witness before the royal commission which is conducting an inquiry into the Irish rebellion. The presence of the chief secretary aroused keen interest in view of the testimony given by Sir Matthew Nathan, former under-secretary for Ireland at yesterday's hearing that the government had had advance information regarding the German plans for aiding the Irish rebels. At the outset of the hearing today, Mr. Birrell stated that he had read Sir Matthew Nathan's statement and that he did not know that there were any additions or modifications he wished to make. He then read a statement which he had prepared and which he described as dealing in a general manner with Sinn Feinism.

Mr. Birrell continued: "If the home rule bill had not been placed on the statute books there would have been a great explosion of rage and disappointment, both in Ireland and in the United States which when war came would have assumed alarming proportions. The events in Ulster and the gun-running at Larne by the Ulsterists in 1914 undoubtedly had a great effect on disloyalists elsewhere."

Mr. Birrell said that he had been at the outbreak of the war, through the patriotism of John Redmond, Mr. Birrell continued, but there were many who did not agree with his attitude. It was impossible to overestimate the effect which the advent of the Ulster leader, Sir Edward Carson, to the cabinet had exercised upon the minds of the people of Ireland. If Mr. Redmond had accepted office in the same cabinet he would not have remained leader of the Irish party.

When it was seen that the war would be prolonged Mr. Birrell said, Ireland soon developed not wholly unreasonable expectations of a German landing and of partial risings in different parts of Ireland, and promises of German assistance were at the bottom of the outbreak.

Answering Baron Hardinge, Mr. Birrell said: "Sinn Feinism had spread all over the place. The Sinn Feiners were sick of parliamentary parties and they desired to be left alone. I realized for two years certainly that there was a dangerous movement in Ireland but after consultation with the various Irish leaders I came to the conclusion that a policy of non-intervention was the safest."

Baron Hardinge: "You need not answer this question, but why were the Irish leaders who advised you in this policy to be relied upon?"

Mr. Birrell: "In the first place I had formed a pretty clear estimate of my own, and I don't think I ever was much influenced by other people. But Mr.

Redmond, for example, always took the view that the Sinn Feiners were negligible, and he said so in the house of commons. I did not attach much importance to his opinion because I was quite sure they were dangerous."

Continuing, Mr. Birrell said he had daily reports from the Royal Irish constabulary, and these reports were of such a character that one could form a general estimate of the state of feeling in the countryside.

"The state of feeling varied very much," Mr. Birrell added. "If a priest was an anti-Sinn Feiner, Sinn Feinism died out, but if the priest was in favor of it the movement was promoted. But in Dublin it was different. I always felt that I was very ignorant of what was going on in the cellars of Dublin and I was exceedingly nervous about that. I had heard that the castle was to be taken."

"Steps were taken to deal with these reports, but nothing came of them, and I should be very curious to hear if anyone knew this thing was going to happen."

"I had very decided views, so much so that I had conferences with Generals Kitchener and French on March 20 and March 27 to persuade them to send more soldiers to Dublin. I knew the people of Dublin should have evidence that England still had soldiers and if soldiers with bayonets and hands could be got to parade the streets of Dublin it would have had a great effect on the Sinn Feiners."

WIRE TAPPING REVEALS FRENCH SECRETS STOLEN

Cablegrams to J. P. Morgan & Co. Regarding Buying of War Munitions Stolen and Sold to Munition Makers—Comm'r Woods Tells Why N. Y. Police Tapped Wires—Mayor Mitchell Accuses Senator Thompson "of Treachery to United States"

NEW YORK, May 19.—Police Commissioner Arthur Woods was ready today to tell the state legislative committee which has begun an inquiry into police tapping of telephone wires why the police listened on the wire leading to the offices of the law firm of Seymour and Seymour. Senator Thompson, chairman of the committee, promised Mr. Woods he should have an opportunity to disclose the facts in justification of the action of the police.

After a conference in which Senator Thompson, the police commissioner, the district attorney and Mayor Mitchell took part, District Attorney Swann gave out the information that the wire in question was tapped because J. P. Morgan & Co. had complained that confidential cablegrams from the French government to that firm regarding the buying of war munitions had been stolen from the firm's offices and sold to munition manufacturers in this country.

The district attorney was informed that copies of the French cablegrams had been received by men who had desk room in the offices of Seymour & Seymour but that this firm had nothing to do with the matter. These cablegrams, the district attorney said, gave directions as to the war munitions to be purchased for France and the prices to be paid for them.

"The men who received these copies," it appears, said the district attorney, "peddled them around to munition manufacturers. Then after the orders were placed these men would ask for a commission, very much as a tout on a race track."

Before testifying today the police commissioner said the theft of the information from the Morgan offices was only one reason why the police

AUSTRIANS ADVANCING ALONG ITALIAN FRONT

Germans Gain in Verdun Region—British Bombard El Arish, Egypt—Austrians Move on Avlona

Although the Austrian offensive on the Italian front is meeting with stiff resistance than at the outset, ground is still being wrested from Gen. Cadorna's forces which, according to unofficial reports have at points been pushed back as much as five miles.

The main line of attack is in the southern Tyrol, where the recent near approach of the Italians to Rovereto had threatened that place, a key position in the defense of Trent. The latest report from Vienna shows continued progress for the Austrians in the valleys southeast of Rovereto, their forces crossing the frontier by capturing the Maggio ridge and working into Italian territory as far as Costabellia, which was captured.

Counter attacks by the Italians have not resulted in any territory being won back from the Austrians according to the Vienna war office, which also claims the capture of more than 90 additional prisoners, together with 13 cannon and machine guns. The Austrian losses are declared to have been small.

Fighting on Verdun Front

There has been notable fighting on the Verdun front, where the Germans have thrown fresh troops into the conflict. Two new divisions attacked the French lines west of the Meuse between the Avocourt wood and Hill 309, and succeeded in obtaining a footing

Lowell City Officials Given Demonstration of Street Flushing at Night in Worcester

Lowell city officials were given a practical demonstration in night flushing of streets in Worcester last night. The Lowell men, including Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Commissioners Charles J. Morse, Newell F. Putnam and William W. Duncan; City Engineer Stephen Kearney, Inspector of Buildings Francis Connor, Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye and John Blessington, superintendent of streets, went to Worcester in two automobiles, leaving Lowell shortly before three o'clock and returning about midnight. They were all very much impressed with the demonstration and were a unit in declaring that Lowell's block tapped the wire. "There was another reason which I am not at liberty to tell because it has to do with most important matters, affecting the national government," said Mr. Woods.

It was reported that the police had been informed that a foreign agent posing as the representative of the Russian government had purchased war munitions, ostensibly for the allied forces and had smuggled them into Mexico.

Mayor Mitchell in a statement issued from his office today accused Senator Thompson, chairman of the legislative committee "of treachery to the United States" because of his attempt to investigate the tapping of the telephone of the munitions dealing firm of Seymour & Seymour.

ELECTROCUTED

Martin Delmore Killed While Working on a Pole in Wamesit

Martin Delmore, a resident of this city and an employee of the Dixon Electrical Co. of Boston, was electrocuted this morning while working on some high powered wires at the plant of the Avery Chemical Co. in Wamesit.

The unfortunate accident happened shortly after 10 o'clock. Delmore was working on a pole near a building in which sulphuric acid is manufactured. Other employees of the electrical concern were also at work on the same job, but they left Delmore for a few minutes to attend to other duties and when they came back they found his body stretched across the wires. His body, which was badly charred, was removed from the wires by Delmore's fellow workers and the ambulance was called, but there was no need for it as life was extinct.

Delmore was married and has a wife and two children living in Cross st. He was born in Lowell and lived here most of his life, with the exception of short periods when his work took him to other points. He was 26 years of age.

He is survived by his parents, John and Catherine Delmore, a wife, Mary, two children, Martin and Dorothy, four brothers, John, Patrick, James and Thomas, and two sisters, Mrs. Emily Spillings and Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

He was a popular member of the Eagles. The body was removed to the funeral chapel of Undertaker J. F. O'Donnell & Sons and later to his home in Cross street.

HELD ENJOYABLE DANCE

SENIORS OF HIGH SCHOOL CONDUCT SOCIAL EVENT AT SCHOOL HALL

The assembly hall of the local high school was last evening the scene of a delightful spring dance conducted by the members of the class of 1916, and the affair proved to be one of the most enjoyable on the school calendar this year. The hall was well filled with young couples and a program of dances comprising over 20 numbers provided plenty of pleasure for all from 8 until 11:30 o'clock. Broderick's orchestra furnished music for the dancing. The matrons of the party were the following teachers of the school: Mary G. Stevens, Miss Mabel Cassidy, Miss Ellen McQuade and Miss Violet Stocks.

The committee of the class responsible for the success of the affair was comprised of the following: George L. Conley, chairman; Edward S. Murphy, Arnold W. Rawlinson, Raymond S. Walker, Gertrude E. Bachman, Alice E. Bachman, Alice M. Dacey and Dorothy A. Mahoney.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"The Coward" a triangle Ray-Bee picture in six parts, was given its first presentation in Lowell at the B. F. Keith theatre, yesterday afternoon and evening, and it proved enormously impressive. A story of the Civil war, staged by Thomas H. Ince, one of the greatest of present day producers, and with Frank Keenan and Charles Ray in the leading parts, it will stand with some of the very best pictures ever shown in this city. The story is unusual, and it holds a present-day application, in that the characters of the "Frank Winslow" holds a close approach to that of many men who are pacifists at heart and who abhor that which savors of bloodshed. The character is very cleverly outlined. At the opening the father, an elderly Virginia colonel, with much of pride in his heart, insists that his son enlist for the Confederate cause. The son holds back, but finally goes to the station, and is about to take oath to support the Confederacy when fear overcomes him and he runs back to his home. There his father threatens to shoot him unless he enlists, and after a stormy scene the son enters the army and goes to the front. His very first night on sentry duty sees him a deserter. He goes home, and after a short stay he takes the place of his coward son in the ranks. The coward hides from everybody. The old homestead is suddenly taken possession of by Union officers, who use it as a headquarters. They discuss plans for an attack on the rebel army. The coward overhears the discussion, escapes from the house at night, mounts a horse and makes a break for the Confederate lines. He is discovered and is pursued. In crossing a bridge over a river, he is discovered by a Rebel sentry who aims a shot at him. Both horse and rider plunge down into the river, but the coward gets to headquarters, gives the information to the staff and saves the army from a surprise attack. Then, of course, there is a reconciliation between father and son. Fred Mace & Co., in "Crooked to the End," present one of the most thrilling of comedies, and there is another good picture, "Shirts and Children." On Sunday Bushman and Bayne will be seen in a five-part feature.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Do not miss the feature which is now being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre for the remainder of this week. The ever-popular and winsome Blanche Sweet makes her first appearance in the five-act photo-creation, "The Ragamuffin," a play which will engage your attention throughout every scene. It is a story which appeals to every heart, and seeing it one cannot refrain from deeply sympathizing with the heroine, which part, Miss Sweet sweetly interprets. Sessie Hayward, the noted Japanese star, who acted so effectively with Miss Fannie Ward in "The Cheat" appears during the remainder of this week in the five-act masterpiece, "Allen Soule." He plays opposite his wife, also, of Japanese birth. The theme of the play centres upon the introduction of a Japanese girl into American society and the situation in which she is treated. It is a play which every one should see. "A Night in the Show" is the title of the button-bustin' Charlie Chaplin comedy on screen for the rest of this week. The Burton Holmes pictures of travel will also be shown as well as others of merit.

OWL THEATRE
"Fruits of Desire," a William Brady feature and a pictureization of a famous stage success will be the attraction at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow. Robert Warwick, the famous actor who appears in the role of a "fighter" who wins his way up the ladder of success by masterful force, considers this his greatest work, in spite of the fact that he has scored wonderful praise in other productions. "Fruits of Desire" tells a story of a young country youth who leaves his home and sweetheart and enters the employ of a steel concern in a distant city. He begins at the bottom and steadily forges his way upward. From the lowest position he soon rises to foreman and from there he fights his way unrelentingly. He soon afterwards becomes superintendent and then forms a new corporation with one of the younger members of the concern. He returns to his home and marries the girl of his boyhood days. Shortly afterwards his dreams come true when he sees the creation of his own great mills in the valleys in which he roamed as a boy. But he soon finds out that this world is not all money and that even though he has everything that he could desire, there is something missing and it is the love which should be in every home. This is missing in his mansion as his wife and he become estranged and finally divorced. How he discovers that after all, "The Fruits of Desire" are as bitter as wormwood, forms one of the most powerful dramas ever depicted. Other attractions will also be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

JEWEL THEATRE
Real circus acts and real circus folks appear weekly at the Jewel theatre, every Friday and Saturday, when Grace Conrad and Francis Ford co-star in "Fog on the Ring," the latest Universal serial. The biggest acts from the big tops are seen weekly just as you see them in the sawdust rings, on circus days. Besides, the plot of this new serial is one of the most fascinating ever conceived.

ROYAL THEATRE
Tom Moore, who is co-starred with Anna Nilsson, in "Who's Guilty" series, is fond of walking over all other sports. Miss Nilsson likes swimming. Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, who has novelized these photoplays, enjoys rifle-shooting. Director Howell Hansel—being a true disciple of the twenty-four-hours-a-day-at-work type—thinks sleep is the greatest sport in the world, and Director Lawrence B. McGill, who is co-directing the "Who's Guilty" series with Mr. Hansel, enjoys directing motion pictures above anything else. Just imagine what a terrible thing it would be if they all got working on their hobbies simultaneously! And think what a picture it would make! There will be fourteen episodes of this series—beginning today at the Royal. In "Puppets of Fate," the first of the fourteen photo-novels in the "Who's Guilty?" series, Tom Moore plays the part of a clever young surgeon. And he had to learn how to perform a real operation in order to get "realism" into the scenes. Dr. Carr, head surgeon of St. John's hospital in Yonkers, N. Y., who gave Moore instructions along this line, deems that Moore really practiced on anybody in the hospital. So does the hospital—for there hasn't been a death there in four months. Besides this new series today and tomorrow at the Royal theatre, an episode of "The Mysteries of Myra" and other new photo-plays will complete the performance. Sunday, Irene Fenwick in "The Sentimental Lady."

GIRL WINS LOVE SUIT

Jurors Find Rector Wilson Did Promise to Marry Miss Johnson and Awarded Her $3625 Verdict

BOSTON, May 19.—Miss Laura Louise Johnson, the attractive little brunette who sued the Rev. Charles Chase Wilson, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Roslindale, for breach of promise, was awarded $3625 damages by a jury in the United States district court yesterday.

The verdict was a big surprise, especially in view of the charge of Judge Morton, which was generally regarded as strongly favoring the rector.

The latter declined to discuss the verdict, but his counsel, Walter A. Dane, stated that he would file a motion to set aside the verdict within three days, as he regarded it against the weight of the evidence and the law.

As Miss Johnson had sued for $20,000, the award of $3625 was regarded about the courts as something in the nature of a compromise. The jury had been out nine hours and had asked for instructions twice, once for a definition of an implied contract to marry.

Tears in Women's Eyes
The rector showed considerable agitation on hearing the verdict. He appeared to be trying hard to control his emotion. His lips and cheeks blanched and then became suffused with color. An unusual number of his parishioners had remained in and about the court all day, and they crowded around him as he turned to leave, shaking hands with him and expressing their sympathy. Many of the women had tears in their eyes. He received them all very kindly and then hastened away.

When the suit was first brought, the rector offered his resignation to the vestry of his church, but the officers declined to accept it, pending the outcome of the suit, as they expressed it at the time. Since then several of the vestrymen have said that they would not accept his resignation unless something more was shown than was brought out in the evidence at the trial.

Postponed His Marriage
The rector was one of the most prominent young clergymen in the Episcopal church in Vermont before coming to Roslindale. He was born in Bethel, Vt., graduated from the University of Vermont in 1907, and was a Rhodes Scholar from that state at Trinity college, England. His name was voted among others for the rectorship of Trinity church, Burlington, the largest and most flourishing Episcopal parish in the state. He has been a little over a year at the church in Roslindale.

The suit resulted in a voluntary postponement of his marriage to Miss Mary de Forest Clark, an heiress of Burlington and New York.

The little woman whose story won the hearts of the middle-aged jurors is a native of Minneapolis, where her father is director of a school of music. She was not in court when the verdict came, but when seen later at the office of her counsel, Ralph H. Willard of Boston, she said:

"I feel very happy and especially grateful to the kindly, warm-hearted jurors, who have done all in their power to right the wrongs of a little woman who appealed to them for justice."

"In a way it was a great surprise to me, but I feel that it is one more instance where the truth has prevailed. It was not crushed to earth this time."

"I am going back home soon. I shall certainly go to Burlington some day, for I feel that I can go there now a vindicated woman."

"I lost all love for the Rev. Mr. Wilson when I heard of his engagement to another woman, but I felt sorry for him yesterday, when I heard him deny with his own lips the things so wonderful, so spiritual, so high that he knew existed between us. I could not believe my own ears."

"I do not feel revengeful, I do not feel vindictive. I feel sorry for him now, although he perhaps will not believe it."

"It is hard for me to say why I brought that suit. I felt it was my duty to vindicate my character in a city 1500 miles from home, where I was a stranger and where the understanding between us was not confirmed by marriage."

"If he had only come to me and explained, I think I would have forgiven him, but he made no explanation. He did not come. I certainly did not want to force myself on him. Then I felt that the other girl ought to know his treatment of me. I felt that perhaps other women ought to know. That was my reason for bringing the suit. Perhaps it may seem selfish. I simply gave in to the inevitable, as I told Bishop Bliss."

Her Faith in Men Shaken
"It has shaken my faith in the men in the church, but not in God. I would not want to believe all men are the same. Mr. Wilson should have acknowledged more than he did. If he did, perhaps the jurors might have had more sympathy with him."

"When I looked into the eyes of those jurors as I told them my story, I knew they would take a fatherly interest in what had occurred between us. I felt I could trust them with my story. They were all older than I, and so sympathetic that I felt they would be able to understand a woman's heart, for it is sympathy and not cold calculation that makes this world a pleasant place to live in."

"I know they sympathize with the rector, for I sympathize with him myself. They sympathize with me, too, but while he claimed to be like other men, he did not show it. I only claimed to be a woman, and I heard a woman's heart to them, and they were able to understand."

"I will seem good to get home. I will stay in Boston for a little while with my mother and father."

"I want to thank publicly those kind-hearted people who have expressed to me and to friends their sympathy in my trouble. I thought the newspapers were very sympathetic and desired to be fair between us, and I want to express my gratitude to them for their considerate treatment of the things that every woman regards as sacred, but which had to be bared to the public gaze that the truth might be known."

STEPPLE JIM'S TUMBLE
James A. Parker of New York, better known throughout the country as "Steeple Jim" is with us again. He is no stranger in this city for he has performed many hair-raising stunts on flagpoles and steeples here, his specialty being the painting and gilding of flagpoles, steeples and other lofty structures.

In conversation with a reporter he stated that since his last visit to Lowell he met with slight (?) fall, just a mere 70 feet. This happened in New York City and resulted in a couple of broken elbows and a sprained ankle and numerous bruises and abrasions.

During his stay here he says he will paint the flag pole on the J. L. Chaffoux building, two on C. I. Hood's factory in Thorndike street and one on the county jail.

A VOLUNTEER CRUISE
LOCAL MEN INVITED TO TAKE CRUISE IN EARLY FALL THAT WILL LAST FOUR WEEKS

The local recruiting office of the navy department is in receipt of further information relative to the volunteer naval cruise to be held in the early fall in which local men are invited to participate. The cruise will last four weeks.

The first week will be devoted to the cruising of ships individually, the second to the participation of the squadron with the Atlantic fleet in the war game, the third to squadron maneuvers along the Atlantic coast and the fourth week to the return to port and cruise of motor boats.

Particular stress is placed on the motor boat feature. In the near future an officer of the navy and a location will be designated where motor boats may be qualified and assigned to motor boat squadrons. The age limit does not apply to motor boat owners. All of the men of one college or association will, insofar as it is possible, be grouped on the same ship and in the same division aboard.

In case of an emergency at home, requiring the presence of a volunteer, he may be permitted to leave the ship and go home. Women cannot form any part of the crew of a motor boat on cruise. It is pointed out in the latest instructions.

The following articles of clothing are to be drawn aboard ship: Four undershirts, white; four trousers, white; two hats, white; one jersey; one mattress; kapok; two mattress covers; one watch cap; two suits of dungaree; for those doing duty in engine room or dynamo room, a pair of bathing trunks, one blanket and a neckerchief may be drawn.

The next opportunity for examination and enrollment at the local station will take place Wednesday, May 24, at 10 a. m., at 7 Merrimack street. W. M. Holman of this city is the latest applicant who has been enrolled.

Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, has recently sent to the local station a notice to the effect that it is desirable to fill all positions in the canal zone with Americans, and at the present time the following positions are filled by aliens:

Boatswain of tugs, foreman of docks, signal station keepers, operator of motor boats, officers, firemen and seamen for tugs. Members of the naval reserve are eligible to take examinations for these positions. More information on the point may be obtained at the local navy recruiting station.

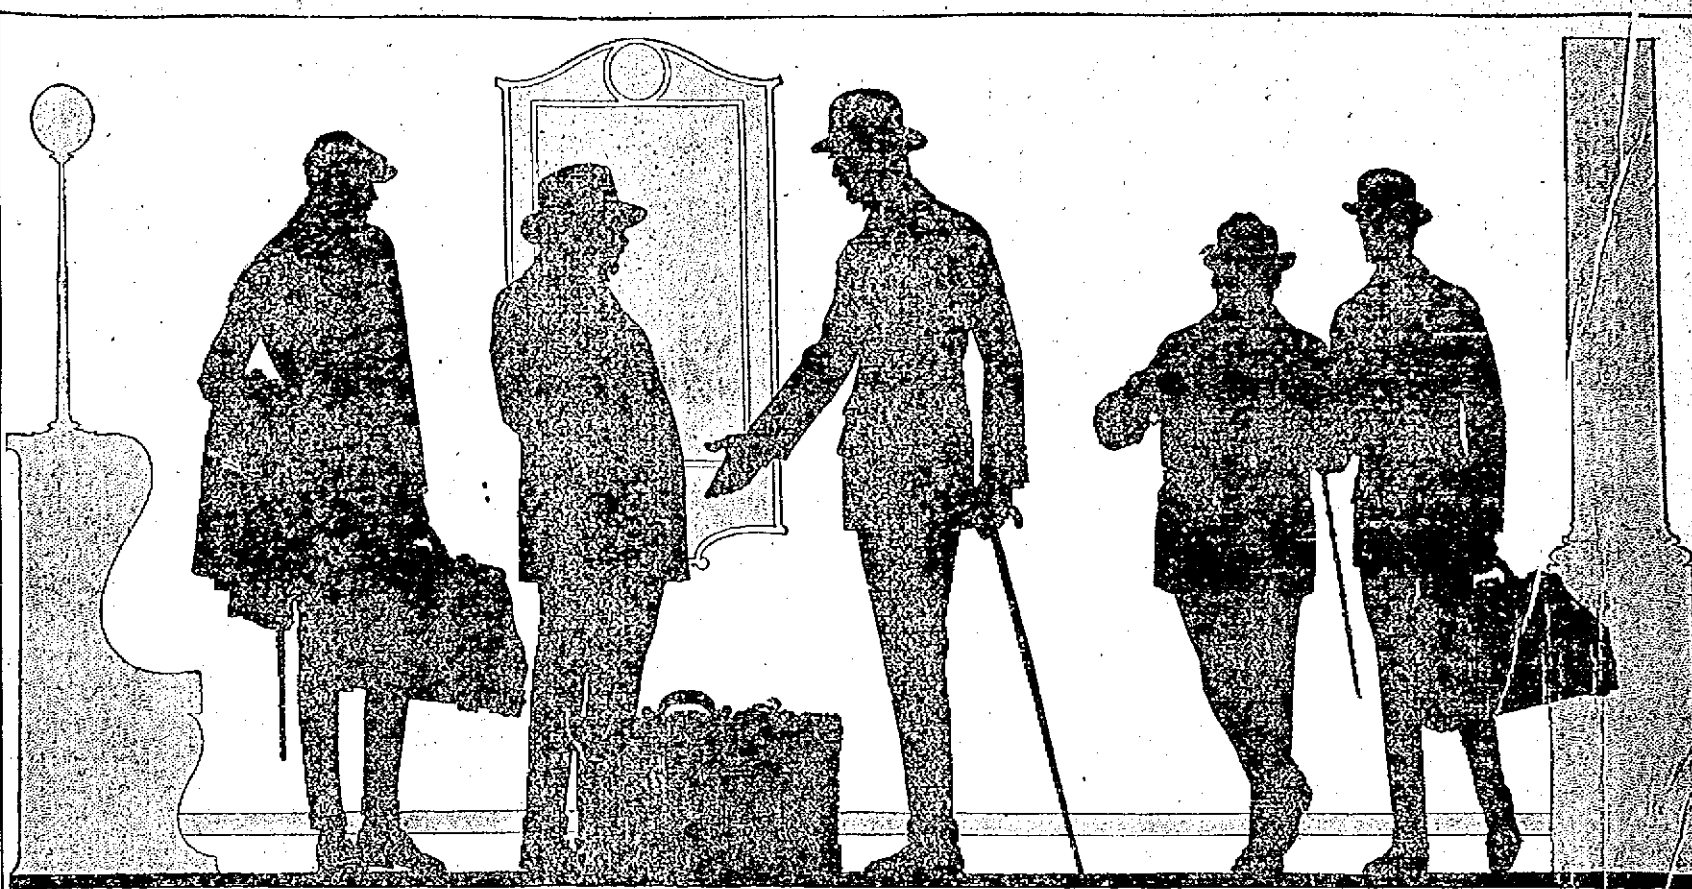

MANY PEACE MEETINGS
STOCKHOLM, May 18, via London, May 19.—Under the auspices of Henry Ford's "neutral conference" meetings were held today throughout Scandinavia, Switzerland and Holland in celebration in the 15th anniversary of the first Hague conference. In Denmark and Sweden the meetings will be continued over several days with a big demonstration in Stockholm on Sunday. At all of the meetings resolutions are adopted urging the neutral governments to call an official conference to arrange for mediation between the belligerents.

These peace meetings are being held in nine cities in Sweden, seven in Switzerland, six in Denmark and three in Holland. In Norway they have been combined with the national celebrations of Norway's independence, the anniversary of which is May 16.

CRUISE OF N. Y. YACHT CLUB
NEW YORK, May 19.—The annual cruise of the New York Yacht club, the great event of the yachting year will begin on August 1, according to an announcement today by Commodore George F. Esker. The rendezvous will be at Glen Cove and the cruise will extend eastward to Buzzards Bay. An earlier suggestion of a trip around Cape Cod to Massachusetts Bay has been abandoned.

Russia Takes Action

According to Berlin advices, Russia, believing that the treaties recently concluded between Rumania and the central powers go beyond the bounds of commercial agreements and have political significance, has taken measures to ascertain the circumstances which gave rise to the conclusion of the treaties.

Berlin Claims Successes

The Berlin report on the Verdun fighting points to a more serious inroad upon the French defenses in the neighborhood of Hill 304 than was indicated by the French official statement.

The German war office declares that French positions on both sides of the Haucourt-Esnes road were taken, the Germans pushing through to the southern corner of Duck wood. It also announces that the French again attacked the German positions on Hill 304 but failed to attain their object and sustained considerable losses.

British Bombardment

Indications that the Turkish move in Egypt may be more of an organized effort than was generally thought is contained in a British official statement today. It reports the bombardment of the town of El Arish, in Egypt, near the Palestine border on the Turkish "line of communications," from Syria to Egypt, indicating that the Turks fighting in Egyptian territory may not be mere isolated forces but that they are working with support from a home base.

Attempt to Capture Avlona

The possibility of a determined move by the Austrians in the near future to capture Avlona, Albania, held post through Paris that a fleet of 150 transports has been assembled at Fiume to take troops, munitions and supplies to Durazzo on the Albanian coast north of Avlona.

It is supposed here that the Austrians intend to make a strong attack on the Albanian town of Avlona which is occupied by the Italians.

EVANGELISTIC ORGANIZATION

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 19.—By the adoption today of a recommendation offered by its permanent committee on evangelism, the 123rd general assembly of the Presbyterian church took the first step in the establishment of a proposed interdenominational evangelistic organization which will put religious revivals the country over on an efficiency basis under the immediate direction of the church in America and an advisory non-denominational lay board.

The plan, when carried to its conclusion will make evangelists salaried members of an evangelistic committee of all the churches. The evangelists will be assigned to certain districts that need them. This arrangement will eliminate the much criticised thank offerings at the end of the revivals.

The pacemaker in business today finds the road of success a rough and difficult one, because he must find the way over it without the compass of experience to guide him. To myself I have the egotism to attach the claim that I am a pacemaker and I think my record in business bears me out. Travelling not upon the beaten path—following none of the precedents that most of my brother tailors follow—I am going about getting business in my own way—making my own pace and following it also. For this reason I have committed many business acts that my fellows cannot reconcile. To many of them the giving of a premium to procure business is a violation of the ethics of our trade. I claim it the act of a business man who places common sense above precedent; and so I will continue to offer premiums, for business so long as they may prove effective. The best business-getting premium ever offered by me was the one inaugurated in this city on two previous occasions.

A Pair of Heinisch Tailor's Shears, Value $3.50, Absolutely Free With Suit or Overcoat Order.

It was beyond doubt the most successful business-getter ever launched by any tailor in New England and brought me trade at a time when trade was at a standstill everywhere else. Although we are wading through the greatest reign of prosperity today Lowell has seen in my time, the weeks now figure more than the months did years ago. I am anxious to make this a record month for business.

I want every customer to enter into the spirit of this gift, to ask for it as something that belongs to him, to ask for it as something that, if it is worth taking it is worth asking for.

Ladies, Attention!

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Andrew Barbera Takes Full Charge of My Workshop

Mr. Barbera comes to me with a brilliant reputation and I expect to help him to sustain it. He has lived in your city for thirty-five years, a voter and tax payer and one of your moral citizens. For thirty years in the high priced tailoring trade, making garments in many orders that sold as high as fifty dollars. He worked on the bench as coat maker, away back in 1890 for BARNES, THE TAILOR, Central Street, left to accept a position with ALEXANDER, THE TAILOR, where he stayed seven years, resigned to take the position of foreman for MARKS, THE TAILOR, 34 Central Street, where he stayed for nine years, resigned to take a chance in the business world for himself, successful for a time, he had to do business on a small scale to the higher priced trade, and mostly charge—The Answer, There Are More Fords Than Packards—More fifteen dollar suit customers—than thirty-five.

MR. BARBERA closed out his business on Bridge Street to take full charge of my workshop on premises. He brings with him the same organization in help who have made you clothes as high as forty dollars. He will be pleased to meet his old customers and show them through my line, at popular prices. I am never satisfied. I am always trying to perfect my organization.

Under the supervision of my head designer, Mr. Atwood and his assistants, Mr. Campbell, Mr. McMahon, Mr. Daley and Mr. Healey, the garments you buy in my store today are draughted, cut and fitted by talent pre-eminent among designers of America. With Mr. Barbera in full charge in my workshop, leading a force of men who have spent a lifetime sewing garments, moulding them to the human shape, and I will say you seldom find two forms alike. If this combination can't fit and please you, cutters, fitters, tailors, all together working on the same floor, I don't know what chance you have to be fitted by men who do not profess to be, or cannot hope ever to be style creators.

TWENTY YEARS PASTOR

RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS. N. W. MATTHEWS BY FIRST PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Matthews, of 15 Ellsworth street, were tendered a reception by the members of the First Primitive Methodist church Wednesday evening on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of Rev. Mr. Matthews' pastorate at the church. In the receiving line with the couple were Mrs. Jacob Norris, president of the Ladies Aid association; Lee Ashton, delegate to the recent conference and Joseph Sutcliffe, representing the board of trustees.

The attendance was large and a pleasing program was carried out. Parishioners and friends gathered in the vestry of the church and were given a warm reception. Those in the receiving line were seated on the platform, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Musical numbers were given by John Pooler, David Ingham, Albert Ingham, Lee Ashton and others. In the course of the evening Rev. and Mrs. Matthews were presented flowers as gifts from the Ladies Aid association, the Dorcas club, Mt. Zion lodge, Good Templars and the Matthews bible class.

Mr. Matthews spoke in part as follows:

"I wish to thank the members of my Bible class and Old Mt. Zion lodge for these expressions of their esteem. I am one of the charter members of the latter organization, and it holds a tender place in my affections. I am proud indeed to be the teacher of such a bible class as mine and again permit me to express my hearty thanks. "Brother Ashton has beautifully described the work of our recent conference, at which the most beautiful spirit prevailed. A signal honor, that of presiding over the session, fell upon the oldest pastor present, Rev. T. M. Bateman, formerly of the First Primitive church in Lowell. At the conference, also, several things were taken up which I believe marks a new period in our history. For one thing, the president is now designated a year ahead, in order that he may make thorough preparation for the work, and we of the Lowell church feel honored when we consider that it was your pastor who received unanimous election. Our ordination services were the greatest ever held, a woman was endorsed as a deaconess, and in other ways the occasion was notable.

"And so, dear friends, the conference met and, in his wisdom, has sent the Lowell pastor back to the same church I am sure I appreciate this, and I trust that we may continue to progress for another year. I tell you we should be proud of our work. We lead in home missionary contributions and in contributions to foreign missions. And I believe that the church that does not go abroad in God's kingdom is not alive at home. None of us is perfect, but we are going to do this year, the best we can."

The evening closed with the singing of hymns by the congregation.

SPLENDID BARGAINS ARE BEING OFFERED AT THE ANNIVERSARY SALE

This year marks the seventh anniversary of Macartney's Apparel shop in this city and the thirty-sixth anniversary of the Lawrence store. According to the custom of these two progressive stores each year at this time a big anniversary sale is conducted for a few days. Although this year's sale started last Thursday and a very large number have made purchases at the store during the first few days, there are still many desirable bargains to be secured, for this sale is being run on a very extensive plan. The men's furnishing department offers many attractions. In this line sweeping reductions have been made on all kinds of seasonable articles of furnishing which certainly ought to create a desire to buy on the part of all who inspect the offerings. It will pay one well to take in this sale and obtain some of these goods even though the low prices at which they are selling are unusual. It is by no means intimated that the splendid bargains are limited to the furnishings department. In the other departments of this store some exceptionally fine purchases can be made which would be difficult to duplicate at any other time. A trip through this store during the sale which will close one week from tomorrow, will carry with it the conviction that now is the time to buy.

MATRIMONIAL

church, when Philip J. McCarron and Miss Madeleine A. Kennedy, two prominent young people of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in white taffeta silk with overdress of tulle and mother of pearl trimmings. She wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Agnes Roarke, who wore blue taffeta and carried Killarney roses. The best man was James McCarron. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 61 Andrew street, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. McCarron, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left in the evening on a wedding trip to New York and Philadelphia. After May 30 they will be at home to their friends at 69 Pleasant street.

We most sincerely thank our many friends who so generously responded to us on our opening day, last Saturday, May 13. The enormous business we did was far beyond our wildest expectation, which in itself was a vindication of the confidence you had in Mr. George F. Lynch who has served you in Lowell for the past 21 years, and also in Mr. Lotto's ability as a designer. To the many who could not be waited on in the rush and whirl of business, we wish to apologize.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY your garments from LYNCH & LOTTO—We can save you from 20 per cent. to 30 per cent. on any suit or overcoat you buy.

We closed a deal this week with the most aristocratic tailoring house in Boston to take all their ends; goods that cost from $2.50 to $4.00 a yard, at a price enabling us to sell them as we do.

Every piece virgin wool. This house never made clothes less than $30 to $60 a suit. We pay cash for everything, so you profit by our dealings.

LAKE MOHONK PLATFORM

Confined to Approval of General Principal of Arbitration

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 18.—The resolutions committee of the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today showed its appreciation of the unsettled conditions of international affairs by presenting a platform which avoided any radical recommendations and confined itself to carefully worded approval of the general principle of arbitration. The platform proved a disappointment to the members of the League to Enforce Peace, led by former President William H. Taft, the presiding officer of the conference, but it also offered no encouragement to the opponents of enforced peace, who under the lead of William J. Bryan lost no opportunity to attack the recommendations of the league during the present conference. The platform follows:

"The world conditions of the past two years have confirmed the belief, often expressed in these conferences that arbitral and judicial methods should and must increasingly prevail in settling international disputes. During the 20th century the permanent court at The Hague has acted on cases involving questions relating to Europe, Asia, Africa, the islands of the Pacific, and the Americas. These questions involved financial and territorial claims and such fundamental matters as the right to fly the national flag and to exercise jurisdiction over national military forces. These facts are clear testimony to the development of arbitration.

"The tendency of this court at The Hague to become in reality permanent is evident from the fact that there are eight judges who have sat in three or more of the fifteen cases and one judge sat in seven of the fifteen cases.

"The conference desires again to affirm its belief in the desirability of such legislation by congress as will confer upon the courts of the United States jurisdiction over all cases arising under treaty provisions or affecting the rights of aliens."

The speakers this morning were Ignacio Calderon, Bolivian minister to the United States; William P. Borland, member of congress from Missouri; the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway tabernacle; Dr. Ernest Nelson, formerly director-general of Secondary Industrial and commercial education of Argentina, and

Walter S. Penfield, an attorney of Washington, D. C.

The platform as presented was unanimously adopted.

VERDUN BATTLE

English and French

BERLIN, May 19 (By wireless to Sayville.)—English and French assertions that the battle of Verdun has been won by the entente allies are disputed by Maj. Morant, military critic of the Tagblatt, who points to the recent successes won by the Germans and says the French and British are incapable of prosecuting a successful offensive. He says:

"Some days ago the Manchester Guardian announced that the battle had been ended and that the French had inflicted their third signal defeat on the Germans, the other two having been at the Marne and at Ypres. One day later the Germans reached the top of Hill 304.

"Not only have the Germans held Hill 304 against desperate French counterattacks, but they have succeeded in extending their new positions. The present military situation is characterized most precisely by referring to the fact that the French, and still more the British are conscious of their inability to advance, that they are able to act efficiently only on the defensive and as long as they outnumber the Germans considerably.

"French military critics state that the Germans began the battle of Verdun merely for political reasons. A typical instance of a military action undertaken for political reasons is the Gallipoli campaign in which many thousands of lives were sacrificed, with a retreat at the end as the only tangible consequence.

"Twenty-one months ago the British, French and Russians announced their intention of marching on Berlin, occupying the German capital and placing boards of Senegalese in the streets of this city and Potsdam. In view of this how ought the present military position of Germany's enemies to be characterized?"

Miss Kuhne Beveridge, the American sculptress in Munich, has been aptly termed the problem sculptress. Her conception of marriage as illustrated by her work under that title, will hardly meet with the approval of her country women. It is a statue of a man and a woman bound together hand and foot, every action hampered, utter boredom and unhappiness depicted on their faces.

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

CONSECRATION AS BISHOP OF
DIOCESE OF PORTLAND AT ROME

Today marks the 15th anniversary of the consecration of Cardinal O'Connell as bishop of the diocese of Portland, which includes the entire state of Maine. Cardinal O'Connell was at that time rector of the North American college in Rome. The ceremony of his consecration as bishop took place in the Church of St. John Lateran, the cathedral of the world, the same church in which the cardinal was ordained to the priesthood about 17 years before. Cardinal Satolli, the first apostolic delegate to the United States, was the officiating prelate.

Cardinal O'Connell governed the church in Maine for nearly five years, during which time the diocese made much progress. In September, 1905, Pope Pius X. sent him as special envoy to the Mikado of Japan. Proceeding to Rome on the conclusion of his mission he was named coadjutor archbishop of Boston Feb. 8, 1906. On the death of Archbishop Williams August 30, 1907, Cardinal O'Connell took charge of the See of Boston, and in recognition of his splendid services to the church he was elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals Nov. 27, 1911.

EXCHANGING PRISONERS

TUBERCULOSIS IS EXACTING IN WORLD WAR

STOCKHOLM, via London, May 19.—Evidence of the heavy toll that tuberculosis is exacting in the world war is found in the exchange of disabled prisoners which is being conducted through Sweden by Russia and Austria. One train from the Russian camps had 30 cases of consumption among the 230 Austrian prisoners on board. Three of the victims died while the train was passing through this country.

On another train from Russia there were 30 Austrians who had been rendered insane by their sufferings. Three trains are now running weekly in each direction exchanging prisoners who, from disease, loss of limbs or mental breakdown are unfit for further military service.

Over 200 women from different parts of the country are now in camp at Chevy Chase, near Washington, D. C., where they have a first-class service school, the main purpose of which is to train women to be of real national service along lines which they can best serve.

LOWELL'S HEALTH WEEK

Thousands of People Inspect the Health Exhibits—Valuable Lessons on Cleanliness and Health

If you have not yet seen the exhibits in connection with health week you have missed something and yet there is something good in store for you as the exhibits will not close until tomorrow night. The exhibition as a whole is one of the finest things that ever came to Lowell for it affords opportunity for free lessons on cleanliness and health.

The program today included a stereoscopic lecture at Middlesex hall by Dr. Marshall L. Ailing on "How to Keep Well." The lecture was at 3 o'clock and at the same hour Dr. M. A. Tighe lectured on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building where various demonstrations were being given. Dr. Tighe's subject was "Cancer and the Wear and Tear Diseases of Adult Life."

At 3:30 o'clock there was a demonstration on the same floor of proper hospital treatment of patients, bed making, bathing, feeding, milk sterilization, etc., and in Middlesex hall the Boy Scouts are giving demonstrations of first aid and signal work.

The attendance at the exhibits thus far has been very encouraging and it is expected that tomorrow will be a banner day. It was estimated that more than 3000 people visited the exhibit locations yesterday. There were more than 300 people on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and there were fully that many present today at the same hour. The attendance at the exhibit, corner of John and Merrimack streets, has been very good from the start. The place is convenient and there is much to see there, including photographs and pictures of various kinds that tell stories plainer than they can be told in words. There is no discounting the great value of pictures in this crusade to help the cause of public health and cleanliness and it is wonderful to see how carefully the pictures are studied by young and old. It is a wonderful thing for the

Judge Enright Gives Youthful Burglars Suspended Sentences

Joseph A. Barry, an 18-year-old youth who was arrested last week with a younger companion named Bertram E. Smith for breaking into a residence in Stedman street, Wiggville, and stealing $21 in money besides several articles of minor value, appeared in police court this morning before Judge Enright and pleaded guilty to the complaint against him. Smith was brought before the juvenile court earlier in the morning and given a suspended sentence to the Lyman school. As restitution has been made by relatives of Barry, the court was lenient with him and he was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

According to the testimony offered by Special Officer J. H. Clark and others, Smith was the worst of the two boys and it was he who planned the Wiggville break as well as several others in that vicinity. It was also brought out that Smith was desirous of getting possession of a revolver so that he could hold persons up on the street. The boys appeared to be sorry for their actions, however, and were let go after being warned by His Honor that a repetition of their work in Wiggville will end disastrously for them.

For Trespassing
George Underwood and Martin Hannan were fined $20 each for trespassing on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad near the Newton Manufacturing Co. in Atherton.

Officer James Considine who arrested the young men, testified that they were complained of to him by the watchman at the Newton Manufacturing Co. for throwing stones at the latter and other watchmen at the plant. He said the young men were in the habit of riding on freight cars every night between the Bleachery station and the Newton Manufacturing Co., and that when they got off at the latter place they threw stones at the officers. The defendants were arrested last night on the tracks by Officer Considine and another officer employed by the Newton Manufacturing Co. Judge Enright gave them one month each in which to pay their fines.

Violated City Ordinance
Charles H. Spurr of Melrose, who was arrested on May 12 for violating a city ordinance by driving his automobile on the wrong side of the street, was fined $2. The defendant was arrested by Traffic Officer Sheridan on the above date after he had crossed to the left hand side of Central street near the corner of Merrimack, holding up three automobiles that had just turned into Central street from the corner.

Non-Support Case.
Peter Osligan made his second appearance within a year on a complaint charging him with failing to provide proper support for his wife and baby, and after His Honor had heard the evidence in the case he told the defendant that he wished he could punish him by giving him a sound horse-whipping.

Osligan, it seems, has a good position and makes good money but he drinks and gambles and his wife sees but little of his salary. Several times within the past year, it was alleged, he has abused his wife and on one occasion she had him brought before the court on a complaint of non-support and assault. Only a few months ago a child was born to Mrs. Osligan and since that time the husband, the police claim, has failed to give his wife money to live on.

Mrs. Osligan told His Honor that she was willing to give her husband another chance if he would turn over a new leaf and lead a better life and Osligan pleaded with the court for just one chance, promising that he would never take another drink and would go home and take care of his wife and baby. Judge Enright complied with his request and gave him a suspended sentence of six months to the house of correction.

The Drunken Offenders
One drunken offender was given a suspended sentence of one year to the house of correction and another was fined $6. There were eight releases.

BAR SECRET SOCIETIES
NEW YORK, May 19.—Secret societies have been definitely placed under the ban at Barnard college by an election held by the students, the result of which was made public today. The secret societies which formerly existed in the college were suspended by the faculty three years ago, the suspension to expire on Oct. 1 of this year. The election was held to determine whether the organizations should be revived after that date. A revival was decided against by a vote of 244 to 30. At the same time it was voted that the college should have some form of social organizations, devoid of any national affiliation, or elements of secrecy.

CORNELL OARSMEN IN HUB
BOSTON, May 19.—Cornell university oarsmen, including both "varsity" and freshmen eights, arrived here today for practice preliminary to their annual races with Harvard crewmen on the Charles river basin tomorrow. NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Governor Wins on Civil Service— Resolve for the Pensioning of the Needy Blind

BOSTON, May 18.—The bill to extend the jurisdiction and functions of the civil service commission, which Gov. McCall deemed of sufficient importance to warrant sending a special message to the lower branch of the state legislature, was passed yesterday. The bill, which was introduced by a third reading in the Massachusetts house of representatives late yesterday afternoon after nearly the entire day had been spent in discussing the measure.

Of more than a dozen amendments offered, only a few were accepted. As the bill stands the governor has achieved a partial victory. In his inaugural he pointed out the need of "increasing efficiency" and this provision has been retained. Generally speaking, four of the eleven sections which the bill originally possessed are all that remain, although a fifth section to provide that nothing in the bill shall apply to firemen and policemen has been added.

The civil service bill contains these new provisions:

Changes in Bill
"At least one commissioner shall be present during office hours except when all the commissioners are engaged elsewhere on business of the commission."

"The commission may, from time to time, investigate in whole or in part the classified civil service and the work, duties and compensation of the officers and employees therein, and the number employed and the grades, titles, ratings and methods of promotion that have been established, and may report thereon."

"The commission may, at any time, and shall, upon the request of any appointing power, inquire into the efficiency and conduct of any officers or employees in the classified civil service and may recommend to the appointing power the removal of any such officers or employees, or may such other recommendations as shall seem fitting in the premises."

"The commission shall forthwith prepare and submit to the governor and council for approval a revision of the civil service rules, and the rules as revised, when approved by the governor and council, shall supersede all then existing rules."

"Persons holding offices or positions to which they have been elected by the people, or by the selectmen of a city, town, or the selectmen of a village, shall not at the same time be eligible to the office of representative of the civil service commission."

Several of the principal objections to the bill, as voiced by its opponents, have been removed. It does not now apply to "counties, cities and towns," and there will be no referendum for voters in "any city except Boston" as to whether the heads of principal departments shall be classified under civil service law and rules. Neither will there be a similar referendum in towns. Another provision which has been killed is that giving judges the right to have classified under civil service those whose appointment is subject to confirmation by them.

Governor's Appeal Effective

After the rejection of the bill Wednesday afternoon, the republican leaders began "hitting up" the members of their party for reconsideration. When the house came in yesterday morning, Gov. McCall's special message was read. It was virtually an appeal to the house to reconsider. The vote for reconsideration was 138 yeas to 79 nays.

On the question of ordering the amended bill to a third reading the roll-call vote was 156 to 82.

The bill to codify the militia laws was ordered to a third reading on the first call of the calendar.

The house rejected by a voice vote the senate bill to provide that a sentence to the Concord and Sherborn reformatories in case of a felony, when the term is not fixed by the court, shall be for five years.

The house concurred with the senate in the amendment to the Arlington street subway station bill, extending the time for construction from three months to seven.

The bill to authorize the secretary of the state board of agriculture to appoint a director of markets and to provide for marketing agricultural products was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to codify and amend the laws relative to the manufacture and sale of foods and drugs was referred to the next legislature without opposition.

The house passed in the engrossed the senate bill appropriating $700,000 for the completion of the state house grounds by taking more property on Beacon street, west of the state house.

Orders were adopted for two legislative sessions a day, to provide that the last week of the session begin yesterday and further that the house sit Saturday at 10 o'clock.

"Ought to pass" was reported by the committee on counties, with the dissent of Coffey of Salem and Quiry of Worcester, on the salary bill for the South Boston municipal court, amended by giving the justice $3200 instead of $3500; also on the salary bill for $4500 for the justice of the Roxbury municipal court and on the bill for $3000 and $2000 salaries respectively for the clerk and assistant clerk of the same court.

Pass Redistricting Bill

The state senate devoted nearly all of yesterday to the redistricting bill. The discussion was given over almost entirely to senatorial districts.

Of amendments offered, only that of Senator Gifford of the Cape, to take Abington, East Bridgewater and Whitman from the "Cape and Plymouth" district, and to include East Bridgewater in the "Plymouth" district and Whitman and Abington in the "Norfolk and Plymouth" district, was adopted.

The bill was passed to be engrossed by a roll-call vote of 27 to 10.

A bill to provide that cities and towns shall maintain portions of highways between street railway tracks and collect the cost from street railway companies was passed to be engrossed.

A bill to provide that the attorney general's department shall do the legal work for the public service commission, and appropriating $5000 to defray the cost of the extra work, was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to change the method of distribution of corporation taxes, and to provide for reimbursement of cities and towns for taxes lost by soldiers' exemptions was passed to be engrossed.

The bill to authorize the transfer of the Southern New England from the Grand Trunk to the Central Vermont was passed to be engrossed, as was the bill to validate the existing mortgage of the New London Northern railroad by the Central Vermont railroad.

The bill to increase the salary of the secretary of the industrial accident board was taken from the table. Reference to the next general court, as recommended by the committee on public service, was negative and the bill was referred to the ways and means committee.

Senator Fay of Medford invited the members to lunch with him at Medford Wednesday. After the lunch, he said, Gov. McCall desired to entertain the members at Winchester and the mayor of Medford wished to entertain the members in the Medford armory later in the day. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Fish and Game Board

Senate Chairman Martin Hays, of the legislative special committee on consolidations will report "next general court" on petitions of Charles M. Rogers and James A. Thomas for legislation to establish a single-headed fish and game commission in place of the present commission of three members, and on the petition of the highway safety league for legislation to establish a motor vehicle commission to take over the powers now exercised by the highway commission with respect to the registration of automobiles and the licensing of operators.

Ought Not to Pass

The senate ways and means committee has voted, with two dissenters, to report "ought not to pass" on the "income tax" bill. The dissenters are Senators Bazeley of Worcester and Gordon of Hampden. Senator Bean of Middlesex reserves his right to dissent.

The committee voted to report favorably on the bill to provide for the abolition of the economy and efficiency commission, in an amended form, with Senators Bean of Middlesex and Sheehan of Hampden dissenting. This measure has been passed by the house.

THE PATER CHILDREN

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS GETS INFORMATION FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Hon. John Jacob Rogers has addressed the following letter from Secretary Robert Lansing to Mr. Hipolit Pater of 96 Lakeview avenue, this city, which concerns the whereabouts of his children who were living with relatives in Galicia when the European war broke out:

Department of State
Washington
May 12, 1916.

The Honorable John Jacob Rogers, House of Representatives.
Sir—The department has received your letter of May 5 inquiring whether any further information has been received in regard to Misses Olga and Helena Pater, who are now in Galicia.

As you were informed in the department's letter of March 14, 1915, a written instruction was sent, on that date, to the American consul general at Vienna, directing him to communicate with Mrs. Karolina Wisniewski and advise her to take the children mentioned to the embassy at Vienna and apply in their behalf for passports of this government. It is presumed that, upon receipt of the department's instruction, the consul general proceeded without delay to therein. So far, no report on the matter has been received from the consul general. If Mr. Hipolit Pater, father of the children referred to, so desires, the department will telegraph to the consul general at Vienna instructing him to report the result of his efforts in this case. If such telegram is sent, it will be necessary for Mr. Pater to express in writing his willingness to bear the expense of any telegrams in the matter which the department may exchange with its representatives abroad.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) Robert Lansing.

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS

MAKING A CAMISOLE

"Marie, do you know what a camisole is?" asked Marjorie with a puzzled expression, as she walked abstractedly into her aunt's boudoir one morning.

"Some of the girls were discussing camisoles the other day, but, aside from the fact that it is an article of lingerie of some kind, I haven't the remotest idea what it is—but I want one."

"Why," answered Marie, "a camisole is no more than a correct cover of a unique shape, just the thing to wear nowadays. It is simply a yard long strip of sheer linen or lawn, hand hemmed at the lower edge, embroidery or lace inserted across the upper edge, seamed at the middle of the back, and, of course, drawn over the head. It is kept in place by ribbon streamers that bow-knot on the top of the shoulders, and if these ribbon loops or armcuses are of the washable kind, they may not be removed when the garment goes to the laundry."

"Usually the camisole, while wide enough to be easily drawn on over the head and shoulders, fits smoothly over the bust and across the back, but if it is made of a very thin fabric like net, shadow lace or chiffon cloth, and so wide that its fullness across the bust must needs be drawn in run a ribbon through a beading around the top side. This is nearly always done when a narrow edging finishes the top, for when drawn up, it will form a scant little fittingly prettily defining the lower limit of the low cut neck."

"Another expression of the camisole is straight across the top, but gradually widening until it reaches the base of the hips, where it is shaped into a single wide and very deep scallop at front and back. As it fits closely over the bust, it can only be donned by undoing the pocket which buttons half way down the back."

LOWELL BOY A CAPTAIN

CAMBRIDGE, May 13.—The appointment of 125 commissioned officers of the Harvard regiment, including captains of the eight companies, was announced last night. Archie Roosevelt, son of the former president, was named sergeant-major of the first battalion. The captains include George C. Wilkins, Lowell, Mass., and Stephen M. Foster, Derby Line, Vt.

George C. Wilkins, who is an exceptionally bright boy and one well versed in military training, is a son of Alfred W. Wilkins of the Adams Furniture Co.

Resinol Soap

improves poor complexions

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

If the skin is already in bad condition, a short treatment with Resinol Ointment may first be necessary to restore its normal health. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists.

For samples free, write to Dept. 25-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.
"You like the way Resinol Soap makes your skin so soft and smooth after shaving, don't you? It makes daily shaving a real relief."

PERPETUAL WAR

Two Republics Occupying Island of Haiti Are Forever Scrapping

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Elsewhere on the globe wars may be waged and wars may cease, but revolutions go on forever, seemingly, in the two republics occupying the island of Haiti. Double trouble exists there at the present time. In the black republic on the western end of the island, the president, supported by American forces under Rear Admiral Caperton, is at loggerheads with his parliament, while in the eastern republic of Santo Domingo, President Jimenez, impeached by his chamber of deputies, has resigned rather than brook armed intervention on the part of the United States.

The National Geographic society, from its headquarters in Washington, gives the following account of the revolution-ridden, Siamese twins of the family of nations:

Less than two months after Columbus first sighted land in the western hemisphere he had set foot on the northwest extremity of the island which he named Espagnola (Little Spain), subsequently latinized into Hispaniola and now known as Haiti. Four years later Santo Domingo, on the southeastern coast of this, the second largest island of the Antilles, was founded, the first European settlement in the new world.

For two hundred years Haiti, then called Santo Domingo, remained a Spanish colony, but by the treaty of Ryswick (1697) it came under the dominion of Louis XIV. of France, through a peculiar combination of circumstances, constituting one of the most picturesque pages of adventure in the history of the western world. Tortuga, lying off the northwestern coast of Santo Domingo, had been seized and held as the treasure island of a group of adventurous English and French seamen, led by bold and ruthless commanders. These privateers, as they were called, had been waging a bitter warfare against Spanish commerce, their animosity being actuated by Spain's repressive trade regulations. Santo Domingo had suffered greatly as a result of these restrictions, but one of the island's few remaining profitable industries was the butchering of wild cattle, the meat being sold to smugglers. The natives prepared this meat in huts which they called boucan, and the English and French seamen, learning the trick of curing boucan, became butchers and "boucaniers," supplying passing vessels with preserved beef and afterward robbing these same ships.

When the peace of Ryswick was concluded, so many Frenchmen had settled on the west end of Santo Domingo that this portion of the island was ceded to France. A hundred years later Spain parted with the eastern end, also, but before the whole island came under her jurisdiction, France had begun to have her troubles with the slaves whose importation from Africa had begun early as 1512. While the Europeans were divided among themselves over the problems of the French Revolution, the negroes rose against their oppressors and under the leadership of Toussaint l'Ouverture, one of the most remarkable men ever produced by the black race, attained their freedom. Toussaint, the grandson of an African chief, was a military genius who made the grave mistake of styling himself the Black Emperor. His resentment being aroused against this self-proclaimed understudy, France's Man of Destiny sent his brother-in-law, Leclerc, to Haiti to subjugate the rebels. Through treachery, Toussaint was captured and sent to France where he died in 1803.

Desallines, Toussaint's follower, declared Haiti independent and assumed the title of emperor in 1804. After his assassination two years later by two of his officers, Christophe and Pétion, the northern section of the island came under the sway of the former, a negro, while Pétion established a mulatto republic to the south. Jean Pierre Boyer, a mulatto of exceptional ability, succeeded these two and gained complete control of the whole island, ruling with firmness for nearly a quarter of a century, the French having recognized the independence of Haiti in 1825.

In 1844 the eastern two-thirds of the island set up the independent republic of Santo Domingo, with the city of the same name as its capital. On several occasions the latter country has made overtures to the United States, proposing annexation and at one time negotiations had progressed as far as the ratification of a treaty by the Dominican people, but, as in the case of the proposed purchase of the Danish West Indies, two years previously, the United States senate, by a vote, rejected the proposal.

The last three-quarters of a century rulers in both Haiti and Santo Domingo have followed each other like birds of passage, flight, assassination and forcible removal from office being the rule rather than the exception.

"The republic of Haiti, which reflects its French character in the language of its people and in the custom of sending the children of its wealthy class to Paris to be educated, occupies a territory somewhat larger than the combined area of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The capital, Port-au-Prince, is a city of about 75,000. Jérémie, one of the smaller cities,

EARLY MORNING FATIGUE

When you awaken in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with one of the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refreshes the brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition. Neurasthenia is the name given to this common form of nervous debility in which the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need. Many nervous disorders, sometimes chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worth a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

les, is noted as the birthplace of the elder, Dumas.

"Santo Domingo, where Spanish is the prevailing language, has an area twice as great as Haiti, being about the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined, but with only one third the population of the smaller republic.

"While no accurate census of the two republics has ever been taken, the estimated population is 2,700,000, which is 700,000 more than the number of Indians to have been living on the island at the time of its discovery by Columbus.

"The Caribs called this island Haiti, meaning 'high land,' and it well deserves the name, for it is exceedingly mountainous."

THE MEXICAN QUESTION

GUARDING OUR SOUTHERN BORDER AGAINST FURTHER RAIDS BY BANDITS A GRAVE MATTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—The decision of the war department to order out the militia organizations of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona to aid in guarding the southern border of the United States against further raids by Mexican bandits makes the boundary line between the two republics a topic of paramount interest. This boundary is the subject of today's war geography bulletin, issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters, which says:

"All the territory of the four border states of California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas originally belonged to the Mexican republic, and if the United States were called upon to guard the lines which constituted the southern border before acquisition of Texas and the land purchased after the war of 1845, the boundary would extend for a distance of 2,200 miles instead of 1,833 miles as now."

"The Rio Grande, which constitutes a natural boundary between the two countries for a distance of 1,126 miles, rises in the mountains of southern Colorado and flows southeast into the Gulf of Mexico. It becomes a part of the boundary at El Paso, some 180 miles from its source. Owing to the extensive use of its waters for irrigation purposes and to rapid evaporation during the summer months, the river's volume frequently is so diminished that for many miles along its course the bed becomes dry. Its flow is by no means commensurate with its length or with the basin of 240,000 square miles which it drains."

"The Rio Grande is navigated by small boats for 500 miles above its mouth, but it is one of the most variable of rivers, the volume of water which it discharges some years being ten times as great as during others."

"To the Mexicans the upper river is known as the 'Rio Grande del Norte' (Great River of the North), but in the Big Bend region, where the latest border outrages have occurred, it is known as the 'Rio Bravo' (Rapid River)."

"The whole boundary line as it now exists between the United States and Mexico has been established through the purchase of territory by the former republic, for, although the war of 1845 was fought to fix the Rio Grande as the Texas border, by the Guadalupe Hidalgo treaty Mexico received $15,000,000 and was relieved of $3,000,000 of debts, in payment for her cessions in Texas and for the territory embraced in the state then known as New Mexico, from which California, Nevada, Utah, most of Arizona and portions of Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico have been carved. Six years after this treaty the Gadsden purchase was consummated whereby for $10,000,000 the United States, in addition to other concessions, acquired more than 45,000 additional square miles lying between the Gila river on the north and the present boundary line between Arizona and New Mexico and the Mexican state of Sonora. This sale was unpopular in Mexico and was partly responsible for the overthrow of President Santa Anna."

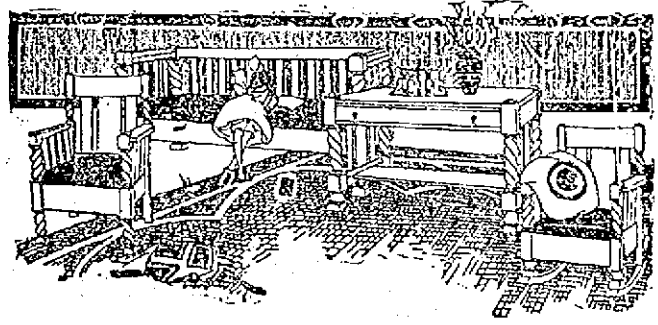

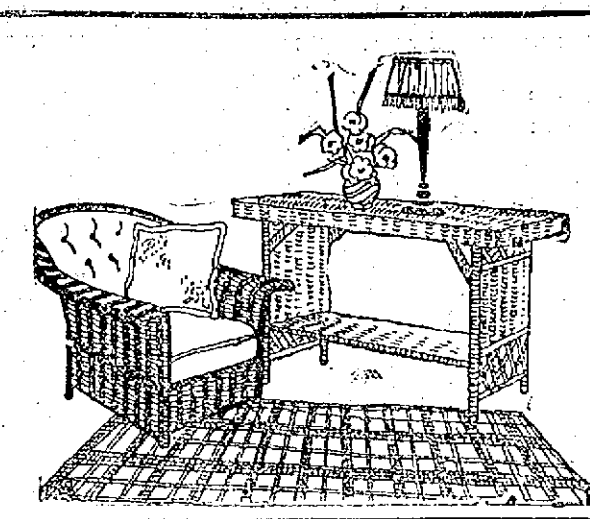

"One-fifth of the total area of the United States (Alaska and the insular possessions exclusive) is embraced in the four states on the Mexican border, while three-sevenths of Mexico's area is included in her six border states of Lower California, Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, and Tamaulipas."

COOKIN FURNITURE CO., Prescott St.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook today gave me a couple of hints on removing stains which I am very glad to give you. Coffee stains, she says, can be removed from table linen and from the most delicate silks by brushing the spot with glycerine. Rinse with lukewarm water and press on the wrong side. If the material is very delicate, care should be taken not to wet more than is possible and to have the iron very cool. Peach stains can be removed from wash material by moistening the spot with glycerine. Let it stand for a while and then wash. She also told me that lemons may be purchased when cheap and kept for months. Put a layer of fine, dry sand about an inch deep in an earthenware vessel. Place a row of lemons on this, with stalk ends downward, and be very careful that the lemons do not touch. Cover them with another layer of sand about three inches deep, and so on to a layer place another lot of lemons, and so on until the jar is full. Store in a cool, dry place.

Cook gave me some very good hints on laundry work this morning which I think will interest you. She said when washing fabrics of delicate colors do not rub soap on the articles themselves. Instead, make a suds first, and immerse the piece in it, rubbing gently between the hands. Gingham, whose color is likely to run on the first washing, should previously be soaked in cold water to which a tablespoonful of turpentine has been added.

If colored embroidery is to be washed, the colors can be kept from running in some instances by rubbing the piece in a mixture of bran and hot water. Boil half a pint of bran and the same quantity together slowly for 20 minutes, strain and add a pint of boiling water. Squeeze and rub delicate laces in this. Rinse in water to which salt has been added. Dry quickly and do not fold wet pieces as they are liable to run into the white material.

There are many tricks to sweeping, says Cook, and here are some she told me. There are probably as many ways of sweeping a room as there are women in the world, she says. She heard recently of a woman who believes in "sweeping her broom with gasoline, and sweeping with windows open. Another avers that her bright rugs are due to sprinkling them with coarse salt wet with gasoline before sweeping. Still another tears up strips of newspapers, wrings them out of water and pushes them before her broom. Of course, the carpet sweeper and the vacuum cleaner make it necessary to sweep thoroughly every day, but housewives cling to the theory that there are times when nothing but the broom will do.

With sal soda water and rinse with a clean cloth and clear water.

Cook showed me how to clean enamel ware today. Enamel saucepans that have become discolored by constant use may be rendered perfectly white by treating them in the following manner: Boil them for half an hour in two pints of water to which has been added common soda and some chloride of lime. Afterward wash the articles thoroughly in clean water and they will look like new.

In our house there are many small pieces of toilet soap left which the Cook objects to throwing away. If put aside until there are a good many pieces, she makes out of this accumulation new cakes of soap. Shave the pieces thin and dissolve them in warm water, then this add three tablespoonfuls of cologne and one of lemon juice. The liquid soap should then be poured into the tops of baking powder tins or some other improvised molds, and when the soap hardens there will be a collection of flat cakes of a good size for use for washing the hands.

Cook says soap can be made out of nothing and get a nice something. She says never to throw food away, no matter how small the amount. Save it for soup. Save also all drippings and bones, all water in which vegetables have been boiled and put aside for soup. Add a little barley or tapioca balls soaked over night to the clear stock, a little celery seed, a dash of paprika, salt and pepper, and simmer. Never boil soup. Sometimes you will want a clear soup. Take broth with the fat removed and for soup for the next day add noodles.

Cook tests eggs by filling a wide-bottomed glass tumbler half full of water and laying the egg in it. If the egg is fresh it will lie flat on the bottom of the tumbler. If it is about three weeks old the big end will be raised slightly above the pointed end. If the egg is three months old, it will stand on the small end, and if older than three months it will rise to the surface. These periods of time refer to eggs which have been kept in a cool place.

removes the cork. The stock from the bottom of the kettle then flows through the tube clear and free from fat—the tube being removed before the fat lowers to the opening. By this method one avoids the delay in cooling or the "mess" of removing by wet feed cloths.

SPLENDID LAXATIVE FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE

Has Been Prescribed by Well Known Physician for Many Years.

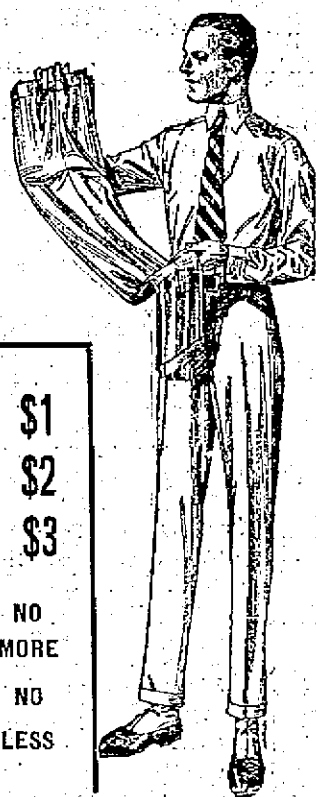

The infirmities of age are especially manifest in a tendency to constipation, and call for treatment that will afford relief in an easy, natural manner. The rapid action of cathartic remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

Nearly thirty years ago Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Monticello, Ill., prescribed a compound of simple laxative herbs that has since become the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. It acts easily and gently, yet the remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

PROCLAMATION IN WHICH EXECUTED LEADERS PROCLAIMED IRISH REPUBLIC

POBLAICHT NA H EIREANN THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE IRISH REPUBLIC TO THE PEOPLE OF IRELAND.

IRISHMEN AND IRISHWOMEN: In the name of God and of the dead generations from which she receives her old tradition of nationhood, Ireland, through us, summons her children to her flag and strikes for her freedom.

Having organized and trained her manhood through her secret revolutionary organization, the Irish Republican Brotherhood, and through her open military organizations, the Irish Volunteers and the Irish Citizen Army, having patiently persecuted her discipline, having resolutely waited for the right moment to reveal to the world the new order that moment, and supported by her exiled children in America and by gallant allies in Europe, but relying for the first on her own strength, she strikes in full confidence of victory.

We declare the right of the people of Ireland to the ownership of Ireland, and to the unfettered control of Irish destinies to be sovereign and inalienable. The long usurpation of that right by a foreign people and government has not extinguished the right, nor can it ever be extinguished except by the destruction of the Irish people. In every generation the Irish people have asserted their right to national freedom and sovereignty; six times during the past three hundred years they have asserted it in arms. Standing on that fundamental right and again asserting it in arms on the day of the world, we hereby proclaim the Irish Republic as a Sovereign Independent State, and we pledge our lives and the lives of our comrades in arms to the cause of its freedom, of its welfare, and of its exaltation among the nations.

The Irish Republic is entitled to and hereby claims the allegiance of every Irishman and Irishwoman. The Republic guarantees religious and civil liberty, equal rights and equal opportunities to all its citizens, and declares its resolve to pursue the happiness and prosperity of the whole nation and of all its parts, cherishing all the children of the nation equally, and oblivious of the differences carefully fostered by an alien government, which have divided a minority from the majority in the past.

Until our arms have brought the oppressive moment for the establishment of a permanent National Government, representative of the whole people of Ireland and elected by the suffrages of all her men and women, the Provisional Government, hereby constituted, will administer the civil and military affairs of the Republic in trust for the people.

We place the cause of the Irish Republic under the protection of the Most High God. Whom we invoke upon our arms, and we pray that no one who serves that cause will be dishonored by cowardice, inhumanity, or rapine. In the confidence that the Irish nation must, by its valour and discipline and by the readiness of its children to sacrifice themselves for the common good, prove itself worthy of the freest and noblest of all nations.

Signed at Dublin, on the 24th day of April, 1916.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY SINN FEIN

paved streets should be treated in the same way.

The Lowell men were met by Frank D. Perry, manager of the American Car Sprinkler company, who arranged the demonstration after having first received the consent of A. T. Rhodes, commissioner of streets and highways for the city of Worcester. The apparatus used for the night flushing of streets is nothing more nor less than a series of nozzles connected to the ordinary street sprinkler such as we have here in Lowell and you can take it from one who has seen that there is some power behind those nozzles.

The night flushing plan was adopted by the city of Worcester last year and it has given such genuine satisfaction that it has been continued. Street Commissioner Rhodes said there isn't any one thing connected with his department that has given such universal satisfaction as has the system of street flushing at night and he firmly believes that it adds not only to the cleanliness but also to the health of the city.

The system employed in Worcester is to use the ordinary sprinkler and then, after the dirt has been well loosened up, probably an hour or so, the nozzle is put on and anywhere from 40 to 100 pounds pressure behind each nozzle is put on and the dirt is flushed into the catch basins. The last night did not include the preliminary wash with the ordinary car sprinkler, but the flusher did a thorough job, just the same, and if Commissioners Morse and Putnam can agree on some kind of a reasonable water rate, Lowell will probably have one of these flushers in operation before another moon comes and goes.

Commissioner Morse took pains to make careful inquiry last night and learned that no charge is made against the street department by the water department in Worcester for the water used in the process of the night flushing of streets and none, in fact, for street sprinkling. "And to think," said Mr. Morse, "that Putnam is trying to charge me about two cents a glass for water used by the street department in Lowell." The chances are, however, that Messrs. Morse and Putnam, with the aid of their fellow commissioners, will get together on the water proposition and that the city will not be deprived of a splendid system of street cleaning and flushing on account of any argument over the price of water.

Mr. Morse and other members of the municipal council are satisfied that the street flusher witnessed in Worcester last night is a great institution. Mr. Morse and Mr. Blessington both stated that Lowell has a better system of catch basins than has Worcester, that the basins here are larger and there's more of them than in Worcester, a fact that would make the street flushing process even a greater success here than in Worcester.

The flushing is not done in Worcester until midnight, but the demonstration given the Lowell men last night took place at about 10 o'clock. It was plain to be seen that only black paved streets could stand the pressure, but the job that the flusher did to the black paved streets in the centre of the city was fine and dandy. It washed every particle of dirt into the catch basins and that there was "bomb" power behind the nozzles that sent the water spraying was witnessed by the ruckions raised on the sidewalks where paper and dust went swirling in the air while pedestrians sought refuge in doorways. They were good natured about it, however, for they knew that it was only a demonstration and that their commissioner of streets and highways had not decided to make the hour for street flushing 10 o'clock instead of midnight. "We have a clean sweep at midnight," said Mr. Rhodes, "for we feel that the fellow who isn't home at that hour deserves all that is coming to him."

ATTEMPT TO SAVE LYNCH

PRES. WILSON ASKS BRITAIN TO STAY EXECUTION—WAS TO BE SHOT TODAY

NEW YORK, May 19.—The fate of Jeremiah C. Lynch, an American citizen who was to have been shot at daybreak in Dublin, is believed to be screened by strict censorship. No word regarding the man who had been convicted of complicity in the Irish rebellion had come over the cables up to 9 o'clock this morning. Pres. Wilson made an eleventh hour plea for a stay of execution just before midnight, last night, in Washington. Reckoning the difference in time Lynch was to have faced the firing squad about three hours after President Wilson had directed that a cable be sent to London asking that the execution be deferred until the American government could make an investigation into the case. It was not known here whether President Wilson's plea reached the English authorities in time to save Lynch from being executed.

REPORT OF TRIAL

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A report on the trial of Jeremiah C. Lynch, from the American consul at Dublin, dated yesterday, was received at the state department today from Ambassador Page at London. It said Lynch was tried yesterday by a field court-martial. An apparent omission in the coded message made its interpretation uncertain to state department officials. It was suggested, however, that Lynch was to have been either sentenced or executed at daybreak today. Secretary Lansing's message intervening in Lynch's behalf apparently had not been received by Ambassador Page when he forwarded his report.

YEGG ROBS LONE GIRL

YOUNG HOLDUP MAN USED REVOLVER TO SCARE MISS ANNIE HEALEY IN EVERETT

BOSTON, May 19.—A youthful yeggman at the point of a revolver held up Miss Annie Healey in her periodical store at the corner of Chelsea street and Everett avenue, Everett, last night, about 8:15 o'clock, and robbed the cash register of about $3 in change. Miss Healey, who lives with her aged father, Jeremiah Healey, at 75 Malden street, Everett, was alone in the store. The man entered with a handkerchief held over his face and a revolver in his right hand. Pointing the weapon at Miss Healey, who stood behind the counter, he demanded her money. "Don't shoot," cried Miss Healey. "Take the money."

The man hurried around the end of the counter, emptied the register and then ran from the store. The street was practically deserted at the time. He ran down Everett avenue toward Chelsea. Miss Healey reported the matter to the police and described the man as being about 20 years of age, smooth faced, with dark hair and as wearing dark clothing and a brown soft hat.

SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Mary Canavan of 555 Broadway, was pleasantly surprised at her home last evening by a number of girl friends. Soles were sustained by Helen Gray and Nora Molloy. Selections were given by the B. H. & B. quartet, consisting of Bela Hart, Mary Gray, Etta Grogan, Angelina Bonnette and a violin duet by Mrs. L. H. H. and Vina Dulte, accompanied by Nellie Monahan. The Misses Canavan, Mary Kenney and Mary Hughes entertained with an exhibition of modern and fancy dancing. Miss Margaret Murphy gave several recitations. A buffet lunch was served by the Misses Catherine Conlon and Agnes O'Neil. The party broke up at a late hour extending congratulations and best wishes for the bride-to-be. The affair was in charge of Nellie Halloran and Mae O'Neil.

STATE BOARD ATTEMPTS TO ADJUST DIFFERENCES — 18,000 AFFECTED

BOSTON, May 19.—The state board of conciliation and arbitration conferred today with representatives of the weavers and manufacturers of New Bedford in an effort to adjust differences arising from a demand by the weavers that the standard wage list be adopted. The question, it was said, affected 18,000 employees in the twenty cloth mills of that city. It was explained that the demand for the standard list which is the English system, was made on behalf of 9000 weavers. The New Bedford cotton manufacturers' association announced yesterday that no change would be made.

T. R. ON PREPAREDNESS

Favors Military Training and
Abolition of the "Pork Barrel"
Methods in National Defense

DETROIT, Mich., May 19.—Hundreds of school children, waving American flags were among the throng which greeted Theodore Roosevelt at the railway station this forenoon, when he arrived here to be the guest of honor at the American day celebration.

Before Col. Roosevelt was escorted to the Detroit Athletic club at the head of an automobile parade he made a short address to the Boy Scouts, who were lined up in front of the station. He told them he believed in their organization because it taught them to fight for truth and not for "molluscoides."

After luncheon at the club house Col. Roosevelt spent nearly two hours before going to a local opera house to deliver an address on "Americanism and Preparedness for Peace."

This afternoon Col. Roosevelt was to make a short address to a mass meeting in Grand Circus park, in the heart of the business district. Before he returns to New York late this afternoon, it was announced, he expects to visit Henry Ford.

Col. Roosevelt's Address
Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in an address reiterated his opposition "to all kinds of hyphenated Americanism," advocated universal military service based on universal training, and declared that we must abolish "pork-barrel" methods in our national defense, stop talking and get down to the actual business of thorough preparedness if we are "to make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong."

Colonel Roosevelt prefaced his speech by announcing that he had "come here to Michigan because in the primary for the selection of delegates to the republican national convention, Mr. Ford was victorious, and following on his victory here, he showed a marked popular strength in Nebraska and Pennsylvania. The effect of this showing has been immediately visible upon many of the politicians within and without Congress."

"We, through our representatives at Washington," said Colonel Roosevelt, "have absolutely refused in the smallest degree to prepare during these 22 months of world catatylism. We have refused to learn the smallest part of the lesson being written on the scroll of torment in Europe. We have fatuously refused to take the smallest step, either to do our duty to ourselves or to do our duty to others. We have endeavored to deceive ourselves by announcing that in this policy of supine inaction and of failure to perform duty, we are actuated by the loftiest motives. I doubt whether we have really deceived ourselves, and most certainly we have not deceived others. There is not a nation in the world which believes that our course of conduct has been dictated by anything save timidity, unworthy shrinking from effort and responsibility, and cold and selfish love of money making and of soft ease.

"In any serious crisis there are always men who try to carry water on both shoulders. These men try to escape the hard necessity of choice between two necessarily opposite alternatives, by trying to work up some compromise. In actual practice, this compromise usually proves to combine with exquisite nicety all the defects and none of the advantages of both courses. It is true that in ordinary political matters compromise is essential. It is true that in ordinary times it is essential. But there come great crises when compromise is either impossible or fatal. This is one of those crises. There is no man in saying that we will fit ourselves to defend ourselves a little, but not much. Such a position is equivalent to announcing that, if necessary, we shall hit, but that we shall only hit soft. The only right principle is to prepare thoroughly or not at all. The only right principle is to avoid hitting if it is possible to do so, but never under any circumstances to hit soft. To go to war a little, but not much, is the one absolutely certain way to ensure disaster. To prepare a little, but not much, stands on a par with a city developing a fire department which, after a fire occurs, can put it out a little, but not much."

Colonel Roosevelt declared that the Wilson administration "has taken no step for preparedness, and has done nothing essential to sustain our national rights." Because, he said, the administration had at intervals "ventured feebly to speak in contradiction of its non-action," the ultra-pacifists and their followers have refused it any whole-hearted support. They object,

Colonel Roosevelt added, "even to make-believe preparedness; they insist on even more thorough-going helplessness than that which we had so amply provided at Washington."

"We must make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong," declared Colonel Roosevelt. "It little matters what our ideals may be and what achievements we may hope for. If these ideals and achievements cannot be reduced to action. The events of the past, and the events of today show that national ideals amount to nothing if the nation lacks the power to maintain them against opposition."

"Therefore, if we are to win at home against those of our fellow citizens who believe in the policy of unpreparedness, that is, of national weakness and inefficiency, we must have strong and well reasoned convictions and express them with strength and sincerity. A considerable part of the strength of Mr. Ford in the primaries, and of the strength of the advocates of half-preparedness at Washington, comes from the fact that no real alternative of policy is offered with sincerity and fearlessness."

In urging "universal military service based on universal training," Colonel Roosevelt said he believed in it because it would be not only of incalculable benefit to the nation in the event of war, but of incalculable benefit to the individuals undergoing it, and therefore to the nation, as regards the work of peace."

"I believe that the dog-tent would prove a most effective agent for demoralizing and nationalizing our life; quite as much so as the public school, and far more so than the American factory and the American city as they are today. Preparedness through universal service would turn out to be the best possible school of practical civics. In such a school all men who are Americans in spirit would get together and learn to work together, so as to insure co-operation among our people in social and industrial life. Such co-operation will secure not merely liberty and opportunity, but also the sense of obligation—which is just as important as the other two."

"We must abolish pork-barrel methods in the army—as regards army posts, navy yards, as regards everything else. Remember that after preparedness has been accepted by the country and the necessary funds voted, the real work will have only begun. England's navy represents over three centuries and Germany's army over two centuries of development along an unbroken line of tradition and progress to the present stage of efficiency. The first and all important essential is to divorce the army and navy organizations absolutely from politics."

Colonel Roosevelt asserted that "the extreme naval party in Germany has recently advocated war with the United States on the ground that in the end, as the result of such a war, we would have to pay all the war expenditures of the Germanic powers and their allies."

"These enormous sums would be raised by taxation on all our citizens," he said; "those of German descent would pay as heavily as those of any other descent; and all would share equally the shame and dishonor. A foreign foe is the foe of all of us alike. If in this land the citizens of one national origin successfully set the fashion of influencing this nation to its own detriment in the interest of the country from which they originally came, sooner or later it is absolutely certain that the citizens of some other national origin will repeat the experiment; and this country will be left degraded and helpless among the nations. If such an event befall us, the bitter bread of humiliation will be eaten by all of those who dwell in this land, no matter what their creed, no matter what their national origin. It will be eaten by your children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren just as much as by mine."

"Americanism is a matter of the spirit, not of birthplace or descent. Among the best Americans I have ever known, among the men closest to me in social and political life, are men who have been born in, or men whose fathers were born in Germany, Ireland, the Scandinavian kingdoms, and other European countries. They stand on an exact level with the other Americans, whose ancestors were here in colonial times. We are all part of the same people."

"We all stand together for our common flag and our common country. We must so prepare that this country will be a good place in which the children of all of us shall live; and to do this we must so prepare that we can repel all foreign foes and preserve the inestimable right of settling for ourselves the fate of this mighty democratic republic. But the essence of this policy of full preparedness, which remember is not only military, but is at least as much industrial and social, is that it is purely defensive, and is the best possible assurance of peace. No nation will ever attack a unified and prepared America."

EXHIBITION AT Y.M.C.A.

VARIOUS CLASSES GIVE DEMONSTRATION OF YEAR'S WORK BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

Before several hundred friends of the association, the spring term of the physical department of the Y.M.C.A. was brought to a close last evening with a splendid exhibition in the gymnasium. The program presented under the direction of Physical Director M.F. Furey, was replete with interesting and novel features pertaining to gymnastic work.

The first half of the exhibition was staged in the gymnasium, and comprised nine numbers of interesting variety. A wand exercise by the junior leaders opened the program, and was followed by snappy work on the parallel bars, long horse and rings, by the same performers. Gymnastic dance steps were then demonstrated by the juniors, succeeding which the senior leaders took the floor for an exhibition of high horizontal bar stunts. W. A. Bristol entertained with his individual performance at torch club swinging. Two of the most popular features were the dumb-bell drill and the exhibition of buck and jump standards, slide horse and elephant work staged by the juniors. The concluding event in the gymnasium was a basketball game between the students and employed leaders, in which the book runners won by a 7-6 score. The summary:

Student Leaders Employed Leaders
Grant r.f. 1g Whitham
Falls l.f. 1g Sanders, Goodrich
Dutton c. 1g Scott
Isherwood r.g. 1g Buchanan
Dallison l.g. 1g Kiltredge

Score: Students 7, Employed Leaders 6. Field goals: Dutton 2, Kiltredge 2, Falls 1, Scott 1. Foul goals: Falls 1, Referee: C. S. Lake. Time: 25 minutes. Scorer: M. F. Furey. Adjournment was then taken to the auditorium, where the seniors fought out, in the water, a keenly competitive aquatic meet. Ribbon badges were awarded the following winners:

40 yard swim—Won by M. F. Whenn; second, A. Dutton; third, T. Fletcher. Time, 25 seconds.
Plunge for distance: Won by M. F. Whenn; second, T. Fletcher; third, A. Dutton. Distance, 51 feet.
20-yard back stroke: Won by M. F. Whenn; second, A. Dutton; third, T. Fletcher. Time, 15 seconds.
Intermediate relay, Students vs. Employed Boys: Won by Employed boys (Goodrich, Buey, Whitham, Campbell, Kiltredge.) Time, 1 minute, 2 seconds.

Diving: Won by M. F. Whenn, 69.5 points; second, G. Kiltredge, 67.5 points; third, P. Sawyer, 53.5 points.
100-yard swim: Won by M. F. Whenn; second, G. Kiltredge; third, P. Sawyer. Time, 1 minute, 25 seconds.
Miss Rachel Falls was the pianist.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Grant of Centre street, East Chelmsford, observed the 20th anniversary of their marriage Wednesday evening. A large number of friends gathered at their home and showered them with congratulations and many beautiful gifts. Miss Marie Rodrigue and Miss Anita De George, two clever little dancers, entertained with a number of fancy dances. A delightful musical program was given by the Crest orchestra. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Myrtle McKee and Mrs. Arthur Moran.

Refreshments were served. Games and dancing were enjoyed, and the party broke up at a seasonable hour, all wishing Mr. and Mrs. Grant many more happy anniversaries.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Members of Millmen's union, local 1482, report that they will start on their eight-hour schedule next Monday.

Painters' union held a well attended meeting last night in Carpenters' hall with President George Fifield in the chair.

The Electrical Workers' union will hold its regular meeting tonight in the Middle street quarters of the organization.

Trackmen employed by the Boston & Maine railroad in Lowell, Lawrence, Worcester, Salem, Mechanicsville, N. Y., Manchester, N. H., and St. Johnsbury, Vt., and on all branch lines are reported as having joined the general strike.

The Wool & Cotton Reporter has the following:

The Boot mills of Lowell are doing very well. You undoubtedly have at hand the latest statement of this corporation. Add the three reserve items, namely:

Reserve for inventory . . . $184,573
Reserve 453,428
Profit and loss 231,238

And you have a total surplus $569,239. That represents money made by the Boot since its incorporation in 1905, for when the present Boot mills was capitalized, there was no surplus. In that same period, also, the corporation has paid out some dividends, namely 30 per cent. There has been charged off since incorporation 5 per cent annually on all machinery and equipment expenditures. In the last year earnings were $372,000, and since the corporation started in business there hasn't been a six months' period when there wasn't a profit—twice very small, but always something.

The Boot mills assets shown in the last statement as $3,113,000 is a fair and conservative figure. Insurance on the property will average $3,500,000. Fixed assets, carried at $1,833,510, is a conservative figure. The plant could not be replaced for $3,000,000, as there are 160,000 spindles and 3600 looms. Capitalized at $1,000,000, you will see that when business was started there wasn't any too much money to work with, and that the creation of free working capital is bound to come from earnings. The Boot has a distinct advantage in being located in Lowell—at least, in some respects. It is a cotton manufacturing town and help congregated there. Then the Lowell mills have advantage of the water power of the Locks & Canals company, and as we remember it the Boot gets 2700-horse power free. We would not attempt to put the valuation on this water privilege, but as we remember it, Havens & Crosby, leading mill engineers of Boston, value similar water power in Nashua, N. H., at $200 a horse.

You will probably remember that in 1914—along in August after the war broke out—the Boot mills decided to change their selling arrangement. At that time the commission house representing the corporation had endorsed $2,000,000 of Boot mills paper. In making the change in commission houses, the Boot had to have money, and money was hard to get, as the best mills were paying six or seven per cent. for accommodation. This particular time, the Boot had decided to give up their selling arrangement as of that date, but had not made a deal with any other commission house—that is, the Boot management thought that they would sell their goods through one of the largest commission houses (Cattin & Company), but the chief stockholder and actual manager of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, all of whose product is sold by Cattin & Company, objected to Cattin taking on another account from Lowell, so that deal fell through, and the Boot had no one to endorse for it. They did have, as we remember the figure, $300,000 of stock goods. These were turned into cash, and two stockholders, two directors of the Boot, volunteered to loan the company $600,000. These two directors were Charles F. Ayer and A. F. Bemis, the latter of Bemis Brothers Bag company. This money was loaned at 8 per cent. for four years. Eight per cent. seems high, but it should be borne in mind that the maturity of these notes was deferred four years, that they were also junior to all other indebtedness, that is open-market borrowings of the Boot and bank overdrafts, and also that the money came at a time when no one else wanted to make the loan. Today, however, the Boot borrows freely in the open market, and its current borrowings have no precedence over the deferred notes, except of course, that they are of earlier maturity. The Boot is in good credit.

The corporation is not paying dividends, and we do not suppose that dividends will be paid in the immediate future, because the directors of the corporation are conservative men—there is no large number of minority stockholders howling for dividend recognition, and because there is distinct understanding of a considerable free working capital will be created before dividends are paid.

About four months ago, a small block of Boot stock sold at $30 a share, and our information is that the treasurer of the Boot bought it for his own account. Our faith in the Boot mills is shown in our statement that we believe that, in November, 1915, when the deferred notes came due, the stock will sell at par. This statement is suggested, because we remember the deferred notes were sold with the understanding that they would be paid off in cash, or that they would only be renewed by the two directors above referred to, with their own consent, or that they could be, under certain conditions, exchanged for stock in the corporation at par. In other words, we have no doubt but that the deferred notes are worth par, and that they will be worth par two years hence, and that the stock of the corporation will itself be salable at $100 a share in November, 1918.

The dividend record of the Boot mills is not impressive—compared with some of the old and rich textile corporations. But, taking into account the fact that the corporation was not richly financed in the first place, and that most of the years through which it has been working have been poor business periods, the dividend record is not unsatisfactory, namely: In 1906, 4½ per cent; 1907, 4½ per cent; 1908, 5 per cent; 1909, 4½ per cent; 1910, 5 per cent; 1911, 2½ per cent; 1912, 4 per cent—none since.

We believe that prospects for the future of the Boot mills are good. The mill is in good physical condition. It has had a considerable amount of money spent on it, and it has a good mill agent, a good treasurer and good selling connections. You will probably remember that the Tremont & Suffolk mills in Lowell kept the dividends low until a tremendous net quick assets had been built up—something like $130 a share of net quick—and that the Tremont & Suffolk keeps out of debt absolutely. We do not believe that the Boot mills is going to wholly emulate that record. We are quite sure that nothing will interfere with the corporation decreasing its indebtedness to a very great extent, and that the dividends will have to wait upon that condition.

Strike at Tremont & Suffolk

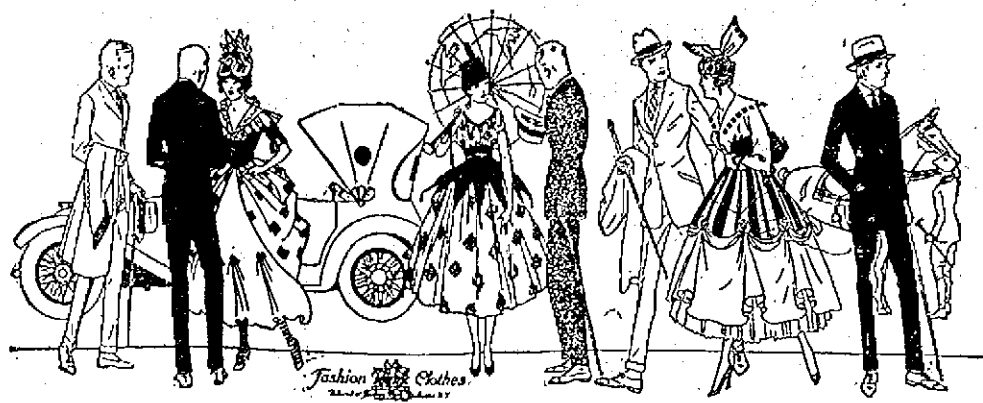

As stated in yesterday afternoon's editions of The Sun a strike took place at the Tremont & Suffolk mills in the morning, over 140 workers quitting their employment. Of this number about 100 were weavers and the remainder spinners. The workers engaged counsel shortly after coming out of the mills, and conferences with the mill officials will be sought.

The spinners demand a flat weekly wage. They had been earning between $12 and $14 a week, but some time ago they accepted a flat offer of $12. After a short time, the pay was cut down, they claim. On Monday of this week the spinners stayed out of work and the wage schedule in force before reduction was re-adopted. Wednesday, the spinners state, they were notified that a reduction must again be made and that they could choose between remaining and walking out.

Trades and Labor News

The Trades and Labor Council held its semi-monthly meeting last night at 32 Middle street with President Frank A. Warnock presiding. A communication from the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor was read, stating that a preliminary hearing will be held in June at Boston on the proposition of forming a New England Federation of Labor. President Warnock was chosen a delegate to attend. A number of locals have sent in to the council the names of their delegates to the Labor day committee, as follows:

HOLD MASS MEETING

REV. GEORGE C. DOWEY OF PHILADELPHIA WILL ADDRESS MASS MEETING IN LOWELL

Arrangements are being made to have Rev. George C. Dowe of Philadelphia come to Lowell on the evening of June 1 to address a mass meeting for men in the auditorium of the First Congregational church. The purpose of having Mr. Dowe come to Lowell is to stimulate interest among men of the evangelical churches of the city in bible study and bring them into men's classes in the Sunday schools.

The second meeting for the purpose of making arrangements for the coming of Mr. Dowe was held last evening at the First Baptist church. William F. Hills of the Calvary Baptist church was chairman of the meeting, and the speaker was Rev. F. F. Peterson of Boston, who is associated with Rev. Mr. Dowe in his work, and who is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the work in the vicinity of Boston. It was decided at last night's meeting to hold a mass meeting for women on the afternoon of June 1, similar in purpose to the one to be conducted in the evening for men, and to be also held in the First Congregational church. It was also decided last evening that the music at the men's mass meeting would be furnished wholly by men's voices in a combined men's chorus. Choir leaders of several churches have already pledged co-operation and all men who are willing to volunteer their services are asked to leave their names with R. R. Gumb at the Y.M.C.A. office.

The following named were present at the meeting last evening: Rev. J. M. Craig, pastor, and J. A. McDonald of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Asa Reed Dills, pastor, R. R. Gumb, W. M. Holman, O. E. McGregor, W. E. Clement, A. S. Hayner and William F. Hills of the Calvary Baptist church; Rev. W. E. Woodbury, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church; Rev. E. C. Ramette, pastor of the French Baptist church; Rev. W. F. Preston, pastor of the Centralville M.E. church; Rev. Samuel Dupertuis, pastor of the Central M.E. church; Nyles Eaton of North Billerica; Rev. Raymond G. Clapp, pastor, and W. E. Hunt of the First Trinitarian-Congregational church; R. W. Hollingworth, Albert Shaw and William Shaw of the Fifth Street Baptist church; John Perry of St. Paul's M.E. church; Rev. A. G. Archibald, pastor, Warren L. Floyd, James K. Anderson, P. W. Louprel, Raymond A. Melton, George W. Hunt, Arthur McFadyen and James F. McAlpine of the First Baptist church.

man or woman who can't read to be able to know just what the thing is all about and to reap an equal benefit with those who can read. The picture tells the story and that is why the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has spent so much money on pictures for use in their welfare literature.

The Family's Happiness

The happiness and health of every family, as we read in that very valuable little booklet, "First Aid in the Home," distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, depend upon the members working together for the common good. We all know how much a good mother means for happiness. But perhaps we do not always remember how important the mother is so far as the good health of the family is concerned. As a matter of fact, the condition of the home and its care rest on her shoulders. From the children's earliest days until they are big enough to look out for themselves, the mother looks after them with her tender care. Love cannot be learned. It is true, but love and knowledge do not always go together. The mother has the good will; she should have the necessary knowledge as well and that is just what she can gather and receive by attending these health week exhibits and carrying home with her some of the little booklets so kindly and generously distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The object of these booklets is to teach prevention of disease and injury, when to call the doctor, and the first thing to do when illness threatens or accidents occur in the home. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and the truth of this old adage is more important so far as disease is concerned than in connection with anything else.

Some Interesting Data

Middlesex hall is replete with interesting data and the lectures scheduled for each afternoon at 3 and Saturday evening at 8 should find hundreds ready to take advantage of an unusual opportunity. The hall is occupied by the Y.M.C.A. exhibit of camp pictures, gymnasium photographs, and health exercise paraphernalia under the direction of W. A. Bristol, assistant secretary of the association. The Boy Scouts have prepared an interesting corner. They got their tent in position today and if you would see Boy Scout life in all its glory and complete in every detail, just peep in at Middlesex hall. But while the exhibition in Middlesex hall is very interesting it is not as important, of course, as the exhibit at the demonstration of the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building and people are urged not to miss these exhibits.

In the Chalfoux building yesterday the demonstrations given by Miss Holland of the Lowell Guild included a feat in scientific bathing. Miss Holland, a very competent demonstrator, who would not find a boy who would volunteer as a bath subject. She made application at Boy Scouts headquarters during the forenoon, but the boys didn't seem to take very kindly to the idea of being given a bath in public. But she finally found a little fellow who had the nerve and he was given the bath of his life.

Men and Microbes

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Joseph A. Mehan gave a health lecture on "Men and Microbes," in connection with the health exhibit on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux store. A small, darkened stage was partitioned off, and a small screen and lantern arranged for pictures. The audience, which was of encouraging size, included both men and women and there was a close attention paid to the speaker. Dr. Chas. B. Simpson lectured in Middlesex hall during the afternoon on "Insects and Disease."

The guild has hung several interesting placards at the different places in which the demonstrations are being held. One of these reads: "The only air to breathe at night is night air. Breathe it. The only night air not to breathe is last night's air. Open the windows and let it out."

The series of pictures shown by Dr. Mehan were accompanied by valuable suggestions and explanations by the doctor. They showed how diseases are carried by small organisms, and gave many valuable hints on avoiding such transmission of diseases. One picture showed an ordinary country condition, where a typhoid patient occupied one room of the house, near an outhouse, and in the very worst place that it could be located, at the foot of a slope, the family well.

Dr. Mehan told how water is purified by storage, keeping it perfectly still. It is an erroneous idea, he said, that running water will purify itself. Still water will purify itself, but running water never. The harmful bacilli must have time to live upon, and when it has devoured all the filth there is in the water, the bacilli will die and water will become pure.

Charts were shown, indicating the spread of an epidemic down the Merrimack river from Concord to Lowell and Lawrence, when the river water was used for drinking purposes, unfiltered.

A picture of an old barn was shown in connection with the doctor's instructions as to the importance of clean milk. A huge pile of manure, provided an excellent breeding place for flies, and the flies contaminated the milk.

The Stagnant Pool

A picture of a stagnant pool suggested a good breeding place for mosquitoes, and the doctor said that the spread of cholera on a pool of that kind would result in destroying hundreds of thousands of mosquitoes. It was demonstrated at Panama, he said, that you cannot get malaria or yellow fever unless you have been bitten by a mosquito that has previously bitten a patient having one of these diseases. Yet the mosquito, he said, is not so great a menace as the fly. It should not be called the "house fly." It should be called the "typhoid fly." A fly may walk over a piece of food today, that is to be eaten tomorrow and enough germs will develop in that piece of food to poison a regiment.

Two flies will develop something like two hundred million millions of flies, in a season. A greatly magnified picture of a fly's foot showed thousands of germs carried upon it. Another picture showed the progress of a fly, from his hatching in the manure heap, through various places of filth, to his final destination, the dinner table.

The danger from public drinking cups was emphasized. It is not safe, he said, to drink from a cup that has been used by others, unless it has been positively sterilized. The very worst diseases that we know of can be contracted innocently. The common towel is also a great spreader of disease. The doctor recommended the use of paper towels in all public places.

Fruits and green vegetables from the market should be thoroughly washed before they are eaten, and a nurse, taking care of a typhoid patient, should not be allowed to carry food to others. She is a positive carrier of typhoid germs.

Closing, the doctor quoted the words of Dr. Pasteur: "It is within the power of men to banish from the world all infectious diseases."

Flies and Filth

Flies are disease carriers. They live and breed in all kinds of filth. Flies infect food and liquids by germinating feet. Each female fly can lay 150 eggs. Flies should be kept out of dwellings and the following are a few "fly hints" contained on a circular distributed by Metropolitan Life Insurance company in connection with the health exhibits:

The presence of flies is a direct evidence of careless housekeeping and the existence of filth in some form about the premises.

Remember that when and where absolute cleanliness prevails there will be no flies.

Look daily after the garbage cans. See that they are carefully sprinkled with a disinfectant.

Look carefully after the cuspidors; they require constant attention; they should always contain a disinfectant.

Files rest on tuberculous sputum, and hover round cuspidors. The specks of filth contain live tubercle bacilli after they have eaten tuberculous sputum, showing that the bacilli will pass through the digestive tract of the fly in an active, infective state.

Files carry on their mouths and on their legs disease germs, on which have recently fed, and then crawl over food, infecting it.

Keep flies from the sick, especially those ill with communicable or contagious diseases.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The report in last evening's issue of the Sun, of the 25th anniversary of the Palmer club, brought to mind the events of a quarter of a century ago, when the club was organized and named after the man who was at that time the most popular citizen of Lowell. Hon. Charles D. Palmer, three times mayor of Lowell, and a man who retained his popularity up to the time of his death, and who even after leaving the field of politics was not permitted by his fellow-citizens to completely retire to private life. Thus, while Mayor Palmer had been succeeded by Mayor Fifield, in 1891, the former mayor was still the popular idol, and this club which organized after the mayor had become a private citizen took its name in his honor. In another item in this column we find him the guest of honor at the anniversary ball of the Burke Temperance Institute, and the columns of the old Sun reveal the fact that during the term of Mayor Fifield, his predecessor attended a greater number of public functions than the mayor did. Mayor Fifield had an aversion to banquets and public dances, etc., and rarely made any speeches outside of city hall, while Mayor Palmer, always agreeable, companionable and a ready and eloquent speaker, would attend anything from a christening to a wake, or from a club outing to a prayer meeting, and could adapt himself to its surroundings. He possessed an advantage not given to many of his successors in office, of being able to make a first class speech in French, and he was always on the job.

Burke's Seventh Anniversary

The Burke Temperance Institute will be 32 years old within a few days. The old Sun mentioned the event as follows:

"The seventh anniversary ball of the Burke Temperance Institute was held in Huntington hall, Tuesday evening (May 13), and there was an attendance of 2000 dancers. Never before have so many people danced on the floor of Huntington hall, at one time. Michael Sexton was general manager; John A. Marr, assistant; Frank Clark, John director; James H. McVey, assistant. John P. Frazier was chairman of the reception committee, and James Redmond, secretary of the ball committee. The grand march was led by Frank Clark and Miss Birdie Kelly. Ex-Mayor Palmer was the guest of honor."

"It's a long time since a ball has been held in Lowell at which 1000 couples have danced, and if that number attempted it in any of Lowell's halls at the present, they'd be pretty closely packed in. Only the armory could touch old Huntington hall, for floor space."

Couldn't Kill Barney

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"A boy named Bernard Judge, aged 14 years, was struck by the chief's wagon on the way to a fire in response to box 13, Tuesday evening. He had a narrow escape from death."

And now Barney is on the police force, where he'll be perfectly safe; while at home, he rejoices in the possession of a "full bench!"

Gardner W. Pearson's Debut

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"The democratic city committee has elected the following officers: Gardner W. Pearson, chairman; George B. McKenna, vice chairman; James F. Owens, secretary; Charles H. Hobson, treasurer."

Speaking of the democratic city committee's election of officers, the old Sun, editorially, said:

Combined Street Railways

The statement made at the legislative hearings on the Bay State petition for the privilege of raising the price of fares, to the effect that Lakeview, Mountain Rock, and other groves owned by that company are not paying propositions, recalls the days when Lakeview and Mountain Rock were in the height of their prosperity, just quarter of a century ago. On June 1, 25 years ago the old Lowell and Dracut and Lowell Horse Railway combined and became the Lowell and Suburban, and here's the advertisement that appeared in the old Sun preceding the consolidation:

On and from June 1 next, the street cars now operated by the Lowell Horse Railway company and the Lowell and Dracut Street Railway company will be operated as the Lowell and Suburban Street Railway company. Until further notice the routes will be as follows:

From Broadway to Centralville and return.

From Gorham street to Middlesex and return.

Lakeview avenue.

Port Hill park to Highlands and return.

Post office to Pawtucket and return.

Transfer checks will be given on all lines and will be good only for a continuous passage in the same general direction on the date of trip punched. All cars on the foregoing routes, except the electric cars, will pass the waiting room at corner of Prescott and Merrimack streets. A passenger on any route whose destination is a point on any other route than that of a parallel line can obtain a transfer check and change cars at the waiting room.

Lakeview tickets will be sold on all cars and will entitle the holders to a

P. F. Sullivan, General Manager.

In those days, too, one could ride for less than five cents per fare by buying a $2 trip book which gave him 40 rides. Comparatively few of those who paid a quarter to go to Lakeview quarter of a century ago, took advantage of the ride on the lake, except to get over to Mountain Rock. Both Lakeview and Mountain Rock attracted great crowds. Lakeview had many attractions and a fine dining room, while Mountain Rock was the scene of many a big outing and ball game and boasted of a first class zoo. The town of Tyngsboro put Mountain Rock out of commission to get square with the street railway people for not giving a five cent fare from Lowell to Tyngsboro, by refusing the company a license for the place. As a result, today there is no such place as Mountain Rock, outside of the name, while the people of Tyngsboro have the distinction of paying a nickel for the shortest street car ride for the money in the whole wide world. (From the Country club to the end of the line). Strange as it may seem Lakeview went down when the price of car fare thereto went down. When the company charged 25 cents to get there and back, Lakeview prospered and was a paying proposition. But since the fare was lowered to five cents each way, the grove has not been such a success as it was formerly, as is probably known to all, and if the company's expert is to be believed is a failure at the present time.

LOWELL SOCIALIST CLUB

At a meeting of the Lowell Socialist club, held last evening at 36 Central street, resolutions were passed in which John Jacob Rogers was asked to use his influence to prevent a breach of the friendly relations between this country and Mexico.

There will be a public meeting at 36 Central street on May 25, with Miss Grace V. Silver as speaker. The usual street meeting will be held next Monday evening at Jackson and Central streets with William E. Sprout as speaker.

CHURCH SOCIABLES

The second annual play under the auspices of the S. & C. club of the Highland Congregational church, was given last evening in the church vestry, the title of the play being "Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," a three-act comedy from the pen of Evelyn Gray Whitney. Those who took part in the cast were Miss Elsie Bliss, Walter McLean, Elliott McLean, Miss Marion Yagerhorn, Miss Virginia Sargent, Irving Kimball, Donald Hanson, Gladys Dodge, Pearl Ealy, Miss Bessie Adams and Miss Harriet Smethurst.

Palmer Street Church

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society of the Palmer Street Baptist church was held last evening in the church parlors. At the close of the business meeting, supper was served by Mrs. Munn and Mrs. S. C. Pillsbury, and an entertainment program was given, those taking part being Master Wesley Roynton, Miss Marion McCord, Roderick Gendreau and Vera Brooks Brown.

ELGIN LODGE MEETING

The regular meeting of Elgin lodge, No. 158, N.E.O.P., was held last night in Veritas hall in Branch street. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. Deputy Grand Warden Elizabeth Gahm of Cambridge made an official visit. She was accompanied by her suite which included: Deputy Grand Guide Mrs. Mayhew, Deputy Grand Chaplain Mr. Mayhew, Mrs. Clara Williams of Crystal Lake, Havertill; Mr. Smith of Talbot Lodge, Billerica; and Thomas Frost and Mrs. Porter of Echo lodge, this city. Other Echo lodge members were also present. All the visitors gave brief remarks and a social hour followed, during which refreshments were served.

Has Now Returned to Work After Two Years in Hospital, Declares
It's No Secret—Public Should Know Facts

MR. THOMAS B. BRENNAN

INTERIOR OF BARBER SHOP SHOWS MR. BRENNAN AT WORK

"What! A statement about my case? Well, it's no secret, and although I dislike publicity I think the public should know the facts: it may be the means of relieving others afflicted as I was," said Thomas B. Brennan, as he put the finishing touches to the close shave that the old gentleman requested.

"I have been working for more than a year and came direct from the hospital after spending two years in that institution. Don't look like a very sick man, do you? Don't look like a man that spent considerable time in a wheel chair, do you? In 1910 I contracted what the doctors called Arthritis Deformans, or rheumatism of the joints. The disease involved my toes, feet, knee, hip, neck, shoulders, arms, and fingers. Both arms were deformed and I could move them but very little on account of the stiffness and pain.

"Read this," he said, passing over a legal looking document, which proved to be the hospital physician's certificate describing Mr. Brennan's case, and read as follows:

PHYSICIAN'S AFFIDAVIT

Thomas B. Brennan has been in the Hospital since March 2, 1911, and is suffering from Arthritis Deformans. Left arm is flexed at the elbow joint and is completely ankylosed, movements of left shoulder much limited. Right arm is flexed at elbow joint and motion much limited, movements of right shoulder are also much limited. Left hip is partly ankylosed. There is considerable thickening of the neck and marked limitation of all movements of the head. He is totally disabled from performing manual labor, and the disease has progressed during the time he has been in the hospital and does not respond to treatment.

Signed, Dr. Hospital.

Mass.

The doctor's certificate was made out by a government physician, in order for Mr. Brennan to secure a pension, as he was a member of Co. 1, 42d Reg. Inf. Vol. It proves his case a severe one and failed to respond to hospital treatment. This certificate may be seen by anyone calling at Mr. Brennan's house, 9 Cherry st., Medford, Mass.

"At the time I secured the doctor's certificate I was ready to apply for a number of people who suffered from this same disease, some of them just as helpless. I investigated and found the remedy to be Var-ne-sis," and he continued, "I thought if it would do as much for these people, why wouldn't it do the same for me?"

"I immediately started to take Var-ne-sis, while in the hospital, in spite of the fact that other patients ridiculed me for taking a remedy that was advertised to the public. I wanted results and didn't care what was said as long as I regained my health. These same people soon saw an improvement and as I gradually recovered, became as enthusiastic about Var-ne-sis as myself. After taking the remedy nine months and finding myself strong enough, I suggested to my doctor that I was going to work. He said, 'Hosh; you'll be back in 30 days flat on your back.' However, I left the hospital in July and came directly to work here at my trade."

CUKE BROKE UP GAME

Home Run in Eighth Won Fast Game for Lowell By Score of 4 to 3

"Cuke" Barrows' home run clout followed with a single to left field. Duggan hit a sharp single, sending Spires to third. Gorham hit to Munn, who tagged first. Reed scored Spires on an infield hit to Downey. Duggan attempted to steal home and was out. Torphy to Kilhullen.

One run, 3 hits, 0 errors.

In Lowell's half Kane and Lohman hit to Smith and were out at first. Simpson drew a free pass. Barrows was third out, hitting to Smith and being retired at first.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score: Hartford 1, Lowell 0.

Second Inning

Neither side scored in the second inning. Briggs opened with a fly to Simpson. Wagner hit an easy grounder to Lohman who threw to first for the second out. Skiff struck out.

0 runs, 0 hits, 0 errors.

In the latter half of the inning Downey hit to Smith and was out at first. Munn then popped a fly to Smith. Torphy followed with a single, but Kilhullen went out Gorham to Smith.

0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Score—Lowell 0, Hartford 1.

Third Inning

In the third session Lowell tied the score. Gero started out by fanning the breezes and Smith followed with a fly to Torphy. Spires made his second single to left field. Duggan hit to Torphy who threw to Downey forcing Spires at second.

0 runs, 1 hit, 0 errors.

Lohman was first up in the latter half of the inning and Gero had the satisfaction of striking him out. Kane followed with a single over second base and then furlined the second bag. Lord hit a fly which Wagner gathered in. Simpson singled to right garden and Kane crossed the plate.

First Inning

The visitors showed signs of life right at the start and succeeded in scoring one run while the home team failed to send a man over the plate. Smith, the first man up for Hartford, hit to Lohman and died at first. Spires with Lowell's initial run. Barrows was third out on a fly to centre.

Score—Lowell 1, Hartford 1.

Fourth Inning

Hartford scored again in the fourth inning. Gorham opened with a single to left field and went to second on Reed's sacrifice. Briggs walked. Wagner sent a grounder to Torphy and was retired at first. Skiff singled and Gorham scored the second run for the visitors, but a little later Gero went out on a grounder which Kilhullen gathered in and threw to first.

One run, two hits, no errors.

Spires captured Downey's grounder in the latter half and retired the local man at the first corner. Munn tied to Reed and then Torphy went out on an easy fly to Gorham.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score—Lowell 1, Hartford 2.

Fifth Inning

Lowell tied the score in the fifth inning when Kilhullen scored on Lord's single to left field.

Smith opened with a single to left field and Spires went out on a grounder, Lohman to Munn. Duggan fled to Barrows in right. Gorham bunted to Downey and failed to reach first.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

In the latter half of the inning Kilhullen got a two bagger on a fly which he sent to left field but which dropped between Wagner and Briggs. Lohman popped a foul fly which Smith gathered in. Kane hit to Spires and died at first. Lord followed with a single to left which scored Kilhullen. Lord then stole second. Spires jumped high in the air and gathered in a line drive sent by Simpson, the visiting second baseman, getting the ball with his gloved hand.

One run, two hits, no errors.

Score—Lowell 2, Hartford 2.

Sixth Inning

Reed sent a hot grounder into Torphy's territory and the latter gathered the sphere in and slammed it to first, the runner being declared out on a close decision. Downey had little difficulty in gathering in the fly which Briggs sent out in his direction. Wagner then followed with a high fly but Lord was Johnny-on-the-spot and took care of the ball.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

In the latter half of the inning Barrows sent a fly to deep centre which was nailed by Duggan. Smith made a pretty step of Downey's drive but the Lowell second baseman beat out the ball to first. Munn foul fied to Snyder, who took Skiff's place behind the bat, and the visiting catcher threw the ball to first getting Downey off the bag.

No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Score—Lowell 2, Hartford 2.

Seventh Inning

Torphy gathered in Snyder's grounder and threw the latter out at first. Gero followed with a single to right centre. Smith hit to Torphy who threw to Downey forcing Gero at second. Smith then stole second. Spires doubled between Kane and Simpson scoring Smith. This was the former Lowell man's third hit in the game. Torphy fumbled Duggan's drive, Duggan reaching third, Spires going to third. Spires and Duggan then attempted a double steal and Spires was nailed at the plate, Torphy to Kilhullen.

1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

Torphy started off the latter half with a fly to Duggan and Kilhullen followed with a single to left. Duggan got to Munn's fly in short centre field. Kilhullen stole second. Wagner dropped Snyder's throw. Kane hit along the first base line and Smith threw the ball to Gero who dropped the ball and Kilhullen scored. Lord hit to Smith and died at first.

One run, 1 hit, 1 error.

Eighth Inning

Gorham died at first on his grounder to Downey. Reed hit to Munn who tagged first for a put out. Briggs hit a hot one to Downey and the Lowell second baseman threw him out at first.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Simpson foul fied to Snyder. Barrows

1 run, 3 hits, 0 errors.

Score—Lowell 4, Hartford 3.

Ninth Inning

Kane ran back in deep centre and made a beautiful catch of Wagner's long fly. Snyder went out Lohman to Munn.

Weller battling for Gero singled through Torphy.

HAVE BIG ADVANTAGE OVER RIGHT HANDERS, SAYS EXPERT—COMPARISON OF STARS

Old Cap Anson was a right-hander. So was Ed Delahanty, who could drive a ball as far as any man in the game. Lajoie and Wagner, the veterans, are starboard clouters. "Cactus" Cravath, who lammed the fences ever and anon last summer is a right-hander. Fred Merkle, the long distance banger of the Giants, is a right-hander. "Piano Legs" Hickman, famous slugger of a few years ago, was a right-handed swinger.

On the other hand, Cobb is a south-paw clouter. So are Collins, Baker, Kauff, Speaker, Daubert, Luderus and Doyle. With the exception of Baker and Luderus all are fast men. Excepting those two, none can be classed as a terrific slugger; at least none is in the Cravath, Lajoie, Wagner, Delahanty division. They hit the ball hard and far—but it is their speed that enables them to take unto themselves each year a husky average.

Once upon a time Wilbert Robinson, the hearty Dodger leader, was asked: "If a youngster, aspiring to become a big leaguer, asked you from which side he should swing at a ball, what would you tell him?"

Robinson Gives Advice.

Robinson, who has been in baseball since 1882, answered: "My first advice to him would be to swing from the side in which he packed the most shoulder power. That's the main essential in hitting. In cases where a youngster has almost equal power in his shoulders I would advise that he bat left handed, especially if he were somewhat speedy."

"A left-handed hitter always is from three to six feet nearer to first base than is the right-hander. When a right-hander takes his position he is on the far side of the plate; the left hander is on the near side. When the right-hander hits the ball from the side in which he is standing, he sends a swinging actually sends a left hander nearer to the initial bag."

"When you take into consideration how often during a season that a throw beats a man to first by just one stride you can appreciate the great advantage there is in hitting left handed.

As to Lajoie and Wagner.

And then the subject was shifted to Lajoie and Wagner.

"How much better do you think those two men would have batted if they had been left-handed hitters—and fast also?"

"From 20 to 40 points each season during their prime," answered Robby.

Both men rank among the greatest sluggers the game has produced. They never scored fluke hits. When they made safeties they earned them by terrible wallpopping.

"At least 25 times each season Lajoie and Wagner have been beaten out of hits to the infield because they arrived at first just a fraction of a second behind the ball. That means the stride. Batting from the left side would have put that stride in their favor and those outs would have been hits."

"But both these men are normal right-handers. They have the real swinging power in their shoulders. Had they shifted to the port side they would have sacrificed their

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

Barrows' circuit clout which decided yesterday's game was certainly a beauty. "Coke" has sent the sphere over the right field fence at Spalding park more than any other one player, but none of his clouts was hit any harder than the one yesterday. A fan remarked that if Barrows had got his batting eye there would be nothing to it for Lowell.

Helmie Wagner played a fast fielding game, but didn't get a hit. Kane robbed him of what looked like a triple by running almost to the fence in deep center.

George Spies, who went from Lowell to Hartford about a week ago, played a fine game. Besides collecting two singles and a double he made a couple of nice plays at second.

First Baseman Smith made quite a record. He made all of the put-outs in the first two innings, the first five being made unassisted.

Downey hit the ball hard yesterday, getting two singles. He also accepted 10 chances without an error.

Weaver who was traded to New Haven by Connors Mack, had one bad inning in the game against Lynn yesterday and lost, 9 to 8.

All of the six runs scored in the Springfield-Lawrence game were the result of home runs, each team getting two.

Worcester defeated Bridgeport and jumped from 10th to seventh place.

Every day the Lowell team is 16th on account of the weather, it costs the owners about 200 semoleons, $100 as a guarantee to the visitors and about $100 in salaries.

Danny Murphy, the New Haven manager who appeared here last week with seven or eight pitchers, has released Wilson and Cook. Both of these hurlers worked for a short time in one of the games against Lowell. Donovan, who held the locals to four hits Saturday, will be retained.

Although authorities in New Haven have refused to permit Sunday baseball, Owner Collins of the club will receive $100 for every game played by the semi-professional Colonials against clubs from organized baseball. This is the fee the New Haven owner is to receive for the invasion of his property.

Clinton fans are planning to give Manager Billy Hamilton of the Worcester club a hearty sendoff. The manager of the Boosters made his baseball start in Clinton and brought fame to the town by his long and successful career on the diamond. The project, as it is being planned, will include a street parade in Clinton and an excursion to Worcester. An effort will be made to have the Clinton mills shut down for the afternoon.

Word comes from Bridgeport that Manager Ball will protest the action of Umpire Doherty in forfeiting the Lawrence-Bridgeport game to Jesse Burket's boys Monday late on account of late connections. The fact that the Bridgeport team missed a train in Boston because of unavoidable circumstances and that the game would have been called off anyway will be gone into at the next meeting of the league directors, it is understood.

Several writers insist the brand of ball played in the new Eastern league is far and away ahead of the article served by the old New England and Eastern association. We're sure the article in the new circuit is in a class by itself. Proof of this was supplied the other day when 57 runs were scored, 32 hits lined out and 31 errors committed. There's certainly no comparison between such baseball and the kind given the fans in the old New England league days.—Manchester Union.

The Lawrence-Sun American apologizes for not having any opening day exercises in that city by explaining that the management had a hand at the park on Saturday "so that the real fans could take a hand." While this would indicate that real fans only attend games on Saturday, how are the 30 or more who turned out in the cold rain last Monday to be classed?

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Benny Leonard and Johnny Kilbane have been offered a tempting purse to appear before a Philadelphia club, but it is not likely that the offer will be accepted, as the managers of both men will want and see what the both promoters are willing to give for this match. Leonard's share of the purse is reported to be $5000 if he accepts. These two boxers dashed over in New York some time ago, with Leonard getting the verdict in the majority of newspapers after a tame ten-round scrap.

George "Kid" Cotton, who put up a miserable showing against John Lester Johnson at Lawrence a few months ago, is scheduled to appear against Rough House Wares of Memphis, Tenn. in an all-star show at the Vanderbilt A. C. of Brooklyn tonight. Both men have felt the impact of Sam Langford's fists and have been knocked out by "Ho-Ho" in short order.

Young Labore, the hard hitting Manchester boxer, is matched to meet Paul Demers the kayo king of New Bedford at the Whaling City on May 24th, in a 12-round contest. Demers is reported to be a terrific hitter, but he will find that Labore won't back away from his punches and is equally likely to get Demers will know that he has been in a quarrel after the Manchester scrapper gets through with him.

Walter Butler of Revere opposes Geo. Alger of Cambridge tonight in the feature bout before the Commercial A. C. of Boston. Both boxers are well known in this city, having appeared here in bouts and each created a favorable impression. Alger met Gilbert Gallant a few years ago at the Dulton street arena and gave the rugged Gallant an unpleasant evening only to have a draw verdict hung up. Butler has shown here three times, twice as a preliminary and once in a main bout against Harry Condon. Alger is now handled by Alec McLean, who formerly looked after Gallant's business.

Andy Cortez outpointed Willie Houck in their 15 round bout last Monday night at Ardmore, Md. It was one of the hardest fought battles ever staged in Ardmore and the fans clamored for the match-maker to rematch the pair for another bout.

The bout between Battling Reddy and Al Shubert did not materialize last evening as Manager Crilly called off his show when he heard Reddy was injured in his bout with Pal Moore the night before at Thornton, N. H. These boys will box at the Unity club in two weeks and a hard rugged bout is looked for by the fans. They met a short time ago and Shubert was awarded a verdict. He was entitled to as Reddy beat him practically all the way. A draw would have robbed the little New Yorker, who fought like a champion against the New Bedford slugger.

PHILLIES ANSWER SUIT

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—The Philadelphia Baseball club of the National league filed its answer in the United States district court here to the suit brought by the Baltimore club of the Federal league to recover $900,000 damages for the alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The answer of the Philadelphia club denies generally and specifically some of the charges in the plaintiff's bill, denies knowledge of the others and demands that the Baltimore club submit proper proof.

The other defendants, including all the clubs of the National and American leagues, members of the National Baseball commission, and James A. Gilmore, Charles Weeghman and Harry Sinclair of the Federal league, are also expected to file answers shortly.

GIBBONS BEATS LEWIS

NEW YORK, May 19.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul outboxed Ted ("Kid") Lewis of England in a 16-round contest last night. Lewis weighed 143 pounds and Gibbons 152½. It was a hard fight, but invariably Gibbons was the aggressor. His left jabs and hooks went home with telling effect. Lewis put up a splendid defense. In the first and third rounds he boxed on even terms, and in the eighth round had the better at long range. However, he could not overcome Gibbons' cleverness.

RETRACTS STATEMENTS

Lord Beresford Had Attacked Efficiency of British Air Service—Pemberton-Billings Snubbed

LONDON, May 18.—Lord Beresford, who recently made strong allegations in the house of lords against the efficiency of the British air service, appeared today before a committee appointed to inquire into charges made by himself and others and retracted his statements. He declared that at the time he made these assertions he considered them accurate, but on further investigation he found they were incorrect. Replying to a question regarding his charge that at the beginning of the war nearly all of the British aeroplanes were poorly made, he said that doubtless they were the best that could be purchased at the time. Among those invited to appear before the committee was Noel Pemberton-Billings, who recently was elected to the house of commons, after a heated campaign of denunciation of the aerial service. Since his election he has continued his attacks on the service in the house. Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Pemberton-Billings had not appeared. This caused considerable comment, particularly in view of the snub given to him in the house of commons last night, when the house adjourned while he was in the middle of one of his speeches.

REVENUE COLLECTOR HELD

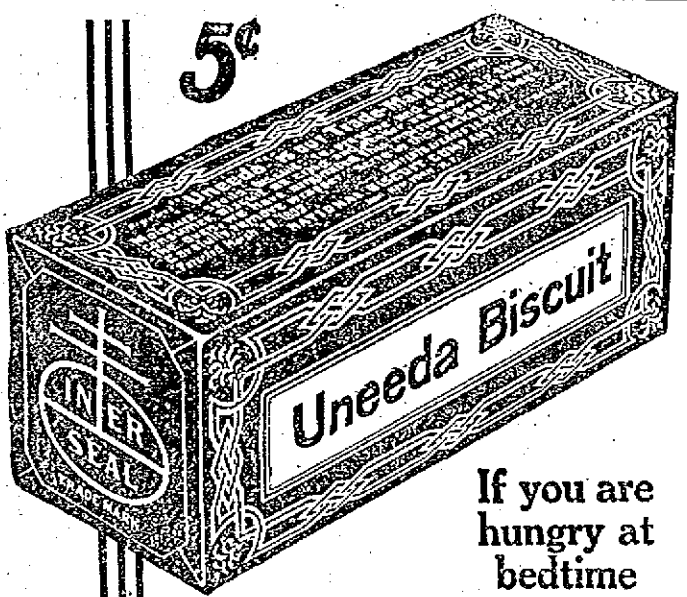

NEW YORK, May 18.—Christopher J. Fortman, for more than 10 years a deputy internal revenue collector, was arrested by the federal authorities today on a warrant charging him with demanding and accepting bribes from tobacco dealers in return for making false reports to the government. His arrest will be followed by that of several other collectors. It was announced by Assistant United States District Attorney McDonald, in an effort to break up a system of alleged grafting which, he said, has cost the government more than $30,000 within the last 10 years. Fortman was arraigned before a United States commissioner and released in bail of $3000 for a hearing June 2. For more than 10 years Assistant District Attorney McDonald charges, Fortman has collected an average of $50 a week in "tips" from the tobacco men. His duty was to check up the returns made by about 100 dealers each month. Fortland, the government charges, without an inventory, certified the dealers' returns and received for this service "tips" of $1 or $2 from each dealer.

UNCERTAINTY ABOUT ROOSEVELT, CENTRAL FIGURE OF CAMPAIGN

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Again, as in 1912, Theodore Roosevelt is the most conspicuous figure in the political situation. He may win the republican nomination, he may try for election independently, but in any event wherever he will be will be also the central point of the campaign. Leader of the rough riders, governor of New York, vice president, president, ex-president, again presidential candidate, since 1895 Theodore Roosevelt has been the most prominent of all Americans.

WAR SHARES HIGHER

MATERIAL GAINS AT ACTIVE

OPENING—RAILS ASSUMED COM-

MANDING POSITION

NEW YORK, May 18.—War shares and related issues recorded material

market. Crucible Steel, Mexican Pe-trolem and the shipping shares rising a point or more, with less substantial advances in motors and metals. Reading was the foremost feature, early dealings comprising numerous individual lots ranging from 1000 to 2000 shares at 93 to 93 1/2, and continuing its rise to 94 1/4, a new high quotation.

Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley shares included in the other strong rallies

Disinherited issues and Harvester corporation figured among the less prominent specialties with gains of 1 to 2

Rails assumed a commanding position later, common and second preferred making new high reords on their overnight gains of

31-4 and 4 points to 96 1/4 and 51-2 respectively, with an advance of 15-6 for the first preferred at 41-2. There was a simultaneous rise of a point in Western Maryland, which was assumed to have some bearing upon the movement in Reading. Gains of 1 to 3 points also were made by Canadian Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific,

St. Paul, New York Central, Baltimore

& Ohio, Erie and New Haven. Industrial and specialties as a whole supplemented early advances. Steel's gain of a point being accompanied by extraordinarily large dealings. Bonds were firm.

The temptation to take profits proved too alluring at midday and prices shedding generally. Later, however, Reading climbed still higher, and Distillers Securities strengthened on assumption of dividends at 5 per cent rate.

Reading established its best price in the final hour on a further advance to above 99 while other rails, including the southern group, made appreciable gains. The closing was

STRIKE LEADER KILLED

One of the Five Men Shot in Riot at Ansonia, Conn., Died Today—Guards on Duty

ANSONIA, Conn., May 19.—Quiet prevailed in the strike district here today following the riot of yesterday when five strikers were shot by armed guards during an attack on the plant of the Ansonia Manufacturing Co.

Charles Laepo, one of the men shot, died early today. The other four are not seriously wounded. The authorities were on the alert for any further outbreak and a large force of deputy sheriffs and special officers patrolled the plant and its vicinity.

Laepo, the dead man, was said to have been one of the strike leaders and had a large following among the foreign laborers here. The police reported considerable uneasiness among the laborers when they learned of Laepo's death, but there was no demonstration.

Most of the 150 to 200 men on strike are foreign born and are employed in the fuse rooms of the company which is engaged in making war munitions. A large number of them came here recently. The plant employs about 500 and the other departments are still in operation. Today, it was understood, as a measure of safety, the girls and women, a large number of whom are employed by the concern, were advised to stay at home.

of street department water bill was again discussed, but no further action was taken. Prof. Buel of New York, who drew the plans of the Pawtucket bridge submitted by the Connors Bros. Co. was present and he spoke at length on his plans. The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell with all members present.

Mayor O'Donnell was introduced by Mayor O'Donnell as the representative of the Connors Bros. Co. in relation to the bids for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. Mr. Hill said his purpose of attending the meeting, was to introduce Prof. A. W. Buel of New York, an engineer of high standing, who has had considerable experience in bridge construction.

Prof. Buel spoke in favor of the plans he drew for Connors Bros. Co. in relation to bids for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. He said his plan is an excellent one and he hopes if the council has a better plan that it will take it. "You are liable to have high water in the river, and to avoid all trouble I have planned a steel bridge which is self supporting and which will avoid a great deal of danger."

"The arch is divided into six ribs, and each one of the reinforced concrete is reinforced by two steel ribs. This will cost a little more money, but we will leave the steel in the bridge. Some people will take out the steel and throw it away and that is lost. My bridge would stand up irrespective of the concrete."

"I am confident that my bridge can be put together faster than any other bridge."

"I would be glad if you sent your plans to Engineer Worcester, for I feel they would be approved." Prof. Buel is a graduate of the Reussel Polytechnic of New York.

The New England Telephone Co. filed three bonds with the council for pole locations, one for Westworth avenue, another for Osgood street and the third for the corner of Westford and Osgood streets. The bonds were accepted and placed on file.

A contract for the heating, lighting and ventilating of the new high school between the R. D. Kimball Co. and the city of Lowell was submitted by the city solicitor. The mayor said the contract is on a 5 per cent basis, but did not force the city to put in a power plant. The contract was accepted.

The far question was then taken up by Mr. Morse, who said the contract for the supply of far to the city by the American Far Co. will be ready in a few minutes.

Mr. Morse also spoke on the stone matter, saying he has paid five cents a ton more this year than last year. He said last year he paid 70 cents a ton for stone and $1.15 a ton for freight. He says five cents a ton means a lot. To a question from the mayor, Mr. Morse said he had reference to trap rock. He referred to another rock and said with a binding of tar it is as good as trap rock. He said he would like the council to authorize him to call for bids for trap rock. He stated he had no specifications but would prepare some. It was voted to authorize Mr. Morse to call for bids for crushed stone, through the purchasing agent, according to specifications to be filed later.

Mr. Putnam again brought up the question of the water bill against the street department for water used in paving during the year 1916.

Mr. Morse said he does not know how much water will be used this year, and he fails to see how he can pay for what he has not yet used.

Mayor O'Donnell said last year's water bill has not been paid. He said the bills are dragged along from year to year with the result that the bills are lost.

Mr. Morse said in 1914 he did not use but two cars and a bill for $1800 was presented. Mr. Morse said the only thing to do is to pay on a basis of three watering carts and two cars. The 1915 bill was not paid, said Mr. Morse, because we could not come to some understanding. I have nothing to say against the water department or how it is conducted, but I think I should be asked to pay as when Col. Carmichael was commissioner.

Mr. Morse said if Mr. Putnam is willing to present a fair bill he will pay in advance.

Mr. Putnam said the council voted a week ago to have Mr. Putnam present his bill, and he did. I want to know, continued Mr. Putnam, if the 1915 bill will be paid for.

"Did you ever pay for the water used in mixing concrete?" asked Mr. Morse.

"No," replied Mr. Putnam.

"But you want me to pay?"

Mr. Putnam: "That is not the question; I was authorized by the council to present a bill for $1000 for 1915 and a similar bill for this year."

The Genoa Club

A ten-minute recess was taken and when the council resumed, the mayor read a recommendation from the city solicitor asking the council to settle with the Genoa club for the property taken in Anne street for a high school site, and fixing the amount to be awarded to the club as $34,000. The city solicitor said if a settlement was not reached this case would go to trial before the superior court next year. He said he was ready with his evidence to go to trial, but he believed it would be better for all concerned to reach an agreeable settlement. Mr. Varnum told of expert builders who have stated that the value of the building and the land is more than the amount named, even without interest. He said he has had a conference with J. Joseph O'Connor and Benjamin J. Molony, counsel for the club, and they are willing to settle for the sum of $34,000. "A trial will cost money," continued the solicitor, "for experts will be needed and they charge for their services, and I believe the safest way would be for the city to settle and I am ready to advise a settlement."

Mayor O'Donnell said inasmuch as he is a member of the Knights of Columbus he will not vote for or against a settlement, and this action will be taken in order to prevent criticism.

Commissioner Duncan said he has gone over the matter thoroughly with the city solicitor and after due consideration of the matter he thought it best for the city to settle. "I do not favor the Knights of Columbus," continued Mr. Duncan, "but I am endeavoring to do what is right for the city, and any other claimant who can show that we are wrong in the assessment will receive the same consideration."

Commissioner Donnelly said he is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, and he will vote in favor of a settlement upon the recommendation of the city solicitor. The city solicitor also suggested that the taxes for 1915 be abated. A vote was then taken on a motion to pay $34,000 to the Genoa club for damages to their property, presented by Commissioner Duncan and all but Mayor O'Donnell voting in the affirmative, the mayor not voting. It was also voted, the mayor not voting, to recommend to the board of assessors that the taxes for 1915 be abated.

When the building and land of the Genoa club was seized by the city, the

SUPERIOR COURT

Case Having to Do With Sale of Awning and Sign Business

The case of George W. Morrison against Lina M. Palmer, an action of contract, was opened before Justice Bell in the civil session of the superior court this morning. Jackson Palmer appeared for the plaintiff while the defendant was represented by Bennett Silverblatt. The ad damnum named is $1728 with interest.

Mr. Morrison in his declaration states that he conducted a business at 215 Dutton street, known as the Cross Awning & Sign Co., and that on or about May 20, 1914 he sold the business to Mrs. Lina M. Palmer. She was to pay him the sum of $3000, $1800 at the time of the sale and the remaining $1200 from the first receipts after deducting running expenses and $25 for living expenses. He says she made the payment of $1800 but since then has paid him nothing. He further claims that she also owes him $500 for merchandise and stock in trade, $25 for counsel fees and $3 which he paid for express on goods.

Mrs. Lina M. Palmer, the defendant, was the first witness called. She said that in 1914 she purchased the business of the Cross Awning & Sign Co. from Mr. Morrison. The purchase was made on May 16th and she took possession on June 1st. She said Mr. Morrison the sum of $1800 on the day the sale was made. In answer to a question put by Mr. Palmer, witness said she mortgaged the business to a Mr. Ratzko for $1600 about the time of the sale. She said that she had paid $200 on that mortgage up to April 15th, the money coming from the salaries of her husband and two sons and what she was able to save herself. Questioned as to whether she kept accurate books she answered in the affirmative, stating that all money received and disbursed has been entered in the books.

"How much if anything have you paid Mr. Morrison since May 16th?"

was asked.

"I could not tell you but Mr. Silverblatt could," answered witness.

George W. Morrison, the plaintiff, was then called. He said that in May, 1914, he was the owner of the Cross Awning & Sign Co. and on the 16th sold the business to the defendant for the sum of $3000. He said in addition to the stock in trade he turned over considerable cloth to Mrs. Palmer which was not included in the bill of sale. Mrs. Palmer agreeing to pay him for it. Witness said that he remained at the store until about the middle of June in order to instruct Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and their two sons, various things about the business. Mr. Morrison said that while he remained there he gave his services and the use of his automobile to the defendant free of charge.

COUNCIL VOTES $34,000 FOR THE GENOA CLUB

R. D. Kimball Co. Gets the High School Contract—More Discussion Over Bridge Plans

At an adjourned meeting of the municipal council this morning it was voted to pay $34,000 to the Genoa club for its property in Anne street, which was sold by right of eminent domain for a high school site. This action was taken on recommendation of the city solicitor after he had held a conference with counsel for the club.

LABOR LAW SET ASIDE

Supreme Court Gives Decision in Suit Brought by Branch of the I. W. W. Against Other Union

BOSTON, May 19.—The supreme court today declared unconstitutional a state law which provided that judges could not issue injunctions in labor disputes unless it was apparent that irreparable damage would be caused by their failure to act. The decision was based on a suit in equity brought by members of a local union affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World against members of another union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The plaintiffs alleged that the defendants had entered into a conspiracy to deprive them of their livelihood unless they joined the latter's organization.

On a hearing in the lower court a demurrer by the defendants, who contended that no injunction could be issued, was sustained, and the case was appealed. In ordering that it be remanded, the supreme court said: "If a laborer must stand helpless in a court while others there receive protection respecting the same general subject which is denied to him it cannot be said that he is afforded the equal protection of the laws. The right to make contracts to earn money by labor is at least as essential to the laborer as is any property to other members of society. If as much protection is not given by the laws to this property, which often may be the only substantial asset as is given to other kinds of property, the laborer stands on a plane inferior to that of other property owners. Absolute equality before the law is a fundamental principle of our own constitution."

EFFICIENCY

The Lowell Board of Trade witnessed an example of high grade telephone efficiency at its banquet held recently. Wires were laid and connection between Lowell and San Francisco, without the slightest hitch. Over five hundred men listened to the conversation and not one of the 575 receivers failed. A vast amount of preliminary work was necessary but the result was high grade service.

Our aim is to render the highest grade of efficient service to our customers. To obtain this high standard we have the co-operation of our force of clerks, who are anxious to serve you and do everything in their power to help you. Efficient clerks, efficient service, efficient management and then to have efficient store service.

WIRE TAPPING REVEALS FRENCH SECRETS STOLEN

Cablegrams to J. P. Morgan & Co. Regarding Buying of War Munitions Stolen and Sold to Munition Makers—Comm'r Woods Tells Why N. Y. Police Tapped Wires—Mayor Mitchell Accuses Senator Thompson "of Treachery to United States"

NEW YORK, May 19.—Mayor Mitchell in a statement issued from his office today accused Senator Geo. F. Thompson, chairman of the legislative committee which has been investigating wire-tapping activities of the police, of "treachery to the United States" because of his attempt to investigate the tapping of the telephones of the munitions dealing firm of Seymour & Seymour.

This statement followed Chairman Thompson's announcement that the inquiry would be continued today in executive session. Thompson, angrily banging his gavel, told Corporation Counsel Lamar Hardy, representing Mayor Mitchell, that "there is not now and never was a question of international interest involved in the case." Hardy protested before the committee against further inquiry into the Seymour case on the ground that national interests were at stake if publicity was given to the case.

Senator Thompson prior to this had said that there was no evidence that federal authorities were connected with the tapping of the law firm's wires, asserting that it was done by the Burns Detective agency representing J. P. Morgan & Co., with whom Seymour & Seymour had dealings in regard to a munitions contract.

"Insist," said Hardy to the chairman, "that there is national interest involved and I defy you to show to the contrary."

"I don't have to prove it and I won't," replied Chairman Thompson.

COMMISSIONER WOOD CALLED.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Police Commissioner Arthur Woods was ready today to tell the state legislative committee which has begun an inquiry into police tapping of telephone wires why the police listened on the wire leading to the offices of the law firm of Seymour & Seymour. Senator Thompson, chairman of the committee, promised Mr. Woods he should have an opportunity to disclose the facts in justification of the action of the police.

After a conference in which Senator Thompson, the police commissioner, the district attorney and Mayor Mitchell took part, District Attorney Swann gave out the information that the wire in question was tapped because J. P. Morgan & Co., had complained that confidential cablegrams from the French government to that firm regarding the buying of war munitions had been stolen from the firm's offices and sold to munition manufacturers in this country.

The district attorney was informed that copies of the French cablegrams had been received by men who had desk room in the offices of Seymour & Seymour but that this firm had nothing to do with the matter. These cablegrams, the district attorney said, gave directions as to the war munitions to be purchased for France and the prices to be paid for them.

"The men who received these copies, it appears," said the district attorney, "peddled them around to munition manufacturers. Then after the orders were placed these men would ask for a commission, very much as a tout on a race track."

Before testifying today the police commissioner said the theft of the information from the Morgan offices was only one reason why the police tapped the wire. "There was another reason which I am not at liberty to tell because it has to do with most important matters affecting the national government," said Mr. Woods.

It was reported that the police had been informed that a foreign agent posing as the representative of the Russian government had purchased war munitions, ostensibly for the entente allies and had smuggled them into Mexico.

Mayor Mitchell in a statement issued from his office today accused Senator Thompson, chairman of the legislative committee "of treachery to the United States" because of his attempt to investigate the tapping of the telephones of the munitions dealing firm of Seymour & Seymour.

THE PINDER CASE

Hearing Was Resumed Before Judge Enright This Afternoon

The hearing given in review of Mayor O'Donnell's finding in the John J. Pinder case was resumed in police court this afternoon before Judge Enright.

Supt. Edmund E. Welch was first called by Dennis J. Murphy, counsel for Mr. Pinder, and asked as to the duties of the warrant officer, wagon officer, liquor officers and captains. Supt. Welch explained the duties of each officer thoroughly and then Mr. Murphy asked:

"Were any of the duties you have mentioned performed by Mr. Pinder?"

"They were not."

"There were the same number of officers in 1914 as there were in 1915?"

"Yes."

"Are any of the superior officers not working at the present time?"

"Yes, Sergt. Clough."

"Do you know of any wages due any superior officer in 1915 that are to be paid out of your estimate of 1915?"

"No."

"Do you remember that you inserted the sum of $2,000 in your estimate for a new police patrol?"

"Yes."

"Why did you do this?"

"I felt that we needed a new patrol because of the condition of the old machine."

"Did you apply to the mayor for 10 extra men?"

"Yes."

"You did this because you wanted them to fill in on open beats, didn't you?"

"Yes."

City Solicitor Harold A. Varnum asked Mr. Welch various questions pertaining to department expenses in 1914 and 1915.

Auditor Paige

Auditor Paige was next called and questioned by Mr. Murphy and City Solicitor Varnum as to whether he knew that Lieut. Brosnan had filed a claim against the city for wages due him last year while he was sick. He said he had heard a report to this effect but didn't know whether it was true. Mr. Paige was also asked several questions as to whether the back pay, if awarded Capt. Brosnan, would be paid out of the claims department. He said it would not.

Deputy Downey

Deputy Downey was put on the stand by City Solicitor Varnum to show that he can perform the duties of finger printing and other tasks formerly done by Mr. Pinder.

"You have been deputy how long?"

"21 years."

"You have done finger printing?"

"Yes."

"How long have you done this."

AUSTRIANS ADVANCING ALONG ITALIAN FRONT

Germans Gain in Verdun Region—British Bombard El Arish, Egypt—Austrians Move on Avlona

Although the Austrian offensive on the Italian front is meeting with stiff resistance than at the outset, ground is still being wrested from Gen. Cadorna's forces which, according to unofficial reports have at points been pushed back as much as five miles.

The main line of attack is in the southern Tyrol, where the recent near approach of the Italians to Rovereto had threatened that place, a key position in the defense of Trent. The latest report from Vienna shows continued progress for the Austrians in the valleys southeast of Rovereto, their forces crossing the frontier by capturing the Maggio ridge and working their way to the Avogadro and Hill 304, Italian territory as far as Costabellia, which was captured.

Counter attacks by the Italians have not resulted in any territory being won back from the Austrians according to the Vienna war office, which also claims the capture of more than 900 additional prisoners, together with 18 cannon and machine guns. The Austrian losses are declared to have been small.

Fighting on Verdun Front

There has been notable fighting on the Verdun front, where the Germans have thrown fresh troops into the conflict. Two new divisions attacked the French lines west of the Meuse between the Avocourt wood and Hill 304 and succeeded in obtaining a footing.

ELECTROCUTED

Martin Delmore Killed While Working on a Pole in Wamesit

Martin Delmore, a resident of this city and an employee of the Dixon Electrical Co. of Boston, was electrocuted this morning while working on some high powered wires at the plant of the Avery Chemical Co. in Wamesit.

The unfortunate accident happened shortly after 10 o'clock. Delmore was working on a pole near a building in which sulphuric acid is manufactured. Other employees of the electrical company were also at work on the same job, but they left Delmore for a few minutes to attend to other duties and when they came back they found his body stretched across the wires. The body, which was badly charred, was removed from the wires by Delmore's fellow workers and the ambulance was called, but there was no need for it as life was extinct.

Delmore was married and has a wife and two children living in Cross st. He was born in Lowell and lived here most of his life, with the exception of short periods when his work took him to other points. He was 26 years of age.

He is survived by his parents, John and Catherine Delmore, a wife, Mary, two children, Martin and Dorothy, four brothers, John, Patrick, James and Thomas, and two sisters, Mrs. Emily Spillings and Mrs. Thomas Murphy. He was a popular member of the Eagles. The body was removed to the funeral chapel of Undertaker J. F. O'Donnell & Sons and later to his home in Cross street.

HELD ENJOYABLE DANCE

SENIORS OF HIGH SCHOOL CONDUCT SOCIAL EVENT AT SCHOOL HALL

The assembly hall of the local high school was last evening the scene of a delightful spring dance conducted by the members of the class of 1916, and the affair proved to be one of the most enjoyable on the school calendar this year. The hall was well filled with young couples and a program of dances comprising over 20 numbers provided plenty of pleasure for all from 8 until 11:30 o'clock. Broderick's orchestra furnished music for the dancing. The matrons of the party were the following teachers of the school: Mary G. Stevens, Miss Mabel Cassidy, Miss Ellen McQuade and Miss Violet Stocks.

The committee of the class responsible for the success of the affair was comprised of the following: George L. Conley, chairman; Edward S. Murphy, Arnold W. Rawlinson, Raymond S. Walker, Gertrude E. Bachman, Alice E. Bachman, Alice M. Dacey and Dorothy A. Mahoney.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"The Coward," a triangle Kay-Bee picture in six parts, was given its first presentation in Lowell at the B. F. Keith theatre, yesterday afternoon and evening, and it proved to be a very impressive. A story of the Civil war, staged by Thomas H. Ince, one of the greatest of present day producers, and with Frank Keenan and Charles Ray in the leading parts, it will stand with some of the very best pictures ever shown in this city. The story is unusual, and it holds a present-day application, in that the characters of the "Frank Winslow" holds a close approach to that of many men who are pacifists at heart and who abhor that which savors of bloodshed. The character is very cleverly outlined. At the opening the father, an elderly Virginia colonel, with much of pride in his heart, insists that his son enlist for the Confederate cause. The son holds back, but finally goes to the station, and is about to take oath to support the Confederacy when fear overcomes him and he runs back to his home. There his father threatens to shoot him unless he enlists, and after a stormy scene the son enters the army and goes to the front. His very first night on sentry duty sees him a deserter. He goes home, and then his father decides to take the place of his coward son in the ranks. The coward hides from everybody. The old homestead is suddenly taken possession of by Union officers, who use it as a headquarters. They discuss plans for an attack on the rebel army. The coward overhears the discussion, escapes from the house at night, mounts a horse and makes a break for the Confederate lines. He is discovered and is pursued. In crossing a bridge over a river, he is discovered by a Rebel sentry who fires on him. Both horse and rider plunge down into the river, but the coward gets to headquarters, gives the information to the staff and saves the army from a surprise attack. Then, of course, there is a reconciliation between father and son. Fred Mac Co. in "Crooked to the End," present one of the most thrilling of comedies, and there is another good picture, "Skirts and Cinders." On Sunday Bushman and Bayne will be seen in a five-part feature.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Do not miss the features which are now being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre for the remainder of this week. The ever-popular and winsome Blanche Sweet makes her first appearance in the five-act photo-creation, "The Ragamuffin," a play which will engage your attention throughout every scene. It is a story which appeals to every heart, and seeing it one cannot refrain from deeply sympathizing with the heroine, which part, Miss Sweet sweetly interprets. Sessue Bayakawa, the noted Japanese star who acted so effectively with Miss Fannie Ward in "The Cheat" appears during the remainder of this week in the five-act masterpiece, "Allen Souls." He plays opposite his wife, also of Japanese birth. The theme of the play centres upon the introduction of a Japanese girl into American society and the shabby manner in which she is treated. It's a play which every one should see. "A Night in the Show" is the title of the Burton Holmes pictures of travel which will also be shown as well as others of merit.

OWL THEATRE
"Fruits of Desire," a William Brady feature and a pictureization of a famous stage success will be the attraction at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow. Robert Warwick, the famous actor who appears in the role of a "fighter" who wins his way up the ladder of success by masterful force, considers this his greatest work, in spite of the fact that he has scored wonderful praise in other productions. "Fruits of Desire" tells a story of a young country youth who leaves his home and sweetheart and enters the employ of a steel concern in a distant city. He begins at the bottom and steadily forges his way upward. From the lowest position he soon rises to foreman and from there he fights his way unrelentingly. He soon afterwards becomes superintendent and then forms a new corporation with one of the younger members of the concern. He returns to his home and marries the girl of his boyhood days. Shortly afterwards his dreams come true when he sees the erection of his own great mills in the valleys in which he roamed as a boy. But he soon finds out that this world is not all money and even though he has everything that he could desire, there is something missing and it is the love which should be in every home. This is missing in his mansion as his wife and he become estranged and finally divorced. Then he discovers that after all, "The Fruits of Desire" are as bitter as wormwood, forms one of the most powerful dramas ever depicted. Other attractions will also be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

JEWEL THEATRE
Real circus acts and real circus folks appear weekly at the Jewel theatre, every Friday and Saturday, when Grace Curran and Francis Ford co-star in "Peg O' the Ring," the latest Universal serial. The biggest acts from the big tops are seen weekly just as you see them in the sawdust rings on circus days. Besides, the plot of this new serial is one of the most fascinating ever conceived.

ROYAL THEATRE
Tom Moore, who is co-starred with Anna Nilsson, in "Who's Guilty" series, is fond of walking over all other sports. Miss Nilsson likes swimming. Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, who has novelized these photoplays, enjoys rifle-shooting. Director Howell Hansel—being a true disciple of the twenty-four-hours-a-day-at-work type—thinks sleep is the greatest sport in the world, and Director Lawrence B. McGill, who is co-directing the "Who's Guilty?" series with Mr. Hansel, enjoys directing motion pictures above anything else. Just imagine what a terrible thing it would be if they all got working on their hobbies simultaneously! And think what a picture it would make! There will be fourteen episodes of this series, beginning today at the Royal. In "Puppets of Fate," the first of the "Who's Guilty?" series, Tom Moore plays the part of a clever young surgeon. And he had to learn how to perform a real operation in order to get "realism" into the scenes. Dr. Carr, head surgeon of St. John's hospital in Yonkers, N. Y., who gave Moore instructions along this line, decries that Moore really practiced on anybody in the hospital. So does the hospital—for there hasn't been a death there in four months. Besides this new series today and tomorrow at the Royal theatre, an episode of "The Mystery of Myra" and other new photo-plays will complete the performance. Sunday, Irene Fenwick in "The Sentimental Lady."

GIRL WINS LOVE SUIT

Jurors Find Rector Wilson Did Promise to Marry Miss Johnson and Awarded Her $3625 Verdict

BOSTON, May 19.—Miss Laura Louise Johnson, the attractive little brunette who sued the Rev. Charles Chase Wilson, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Roslindale, for breach of promise, was awarded $3625 damages by a jury in the United States district court yesterday.

The verdict was a big surprise, especially in view of the charge of Judge Morton, which was generally regarded as strongly favoring the rector.

The latter declined to discuss the verdict, but his counsel, Walter A. Dana, stated that he would file a motion to set aside the verdict within three days, as he regarded it against the weight of the evidence and the law.

As Miss Johnson had sued for $20,000, the award of $3625 was regarded about the courts as something in the nature of a compromise. The jury had been out nine hours and had asked for instructions twice, once for a definition of an implied contract to marry.

Tears in Women's Eyes

The rector showed considerable agitation on hearing the verdict. He appeared to be trying hard to control his emotion. His lips and cheeks blanched and then became suffused with color. An unusual number of his parishioners had remained in and about the court all day, and they crowded around him as he turned to leave, shaking hands with him and expressing their sympathy. Many of the women had tears in their eyes. He received them all very kindly and then hastened away.

When the suit was first brought, the rector offered his resignation to the vestry of his church, but the officers declined to accept it, pending the outcome of the suit, as they expressed it at the time. Since then several of the vestrymen have said that they would not accept his resignation unless something more was shown than was brought out in the evidence at the trial.

Postponed His Marriage
The rector was one of the most prominent young clergymen in the Episcopal church in Vermont before coming to Roslindale. He was born in Bethel, Vt., graduated from the University of Vermont in 1907, and was a Rhodes Scholar from that state at Trinity college, England. His name was voted among others for the rectorship of Trinity church, Burlington, the largest and most flourishing Episcopal parish in the state. He has been a little over a year at the church in Roslindale.

The suit resulted in a voluntary postponement of his marriage to Miss Mary de Forest Clark, an heiress of Burlington and New York.

The little woman whose story won the hearts of the middle-aged jurors is a native of Minneapolis, where her father is director of a school of music. She was not in court when the verdict came, but when seen later at the office of her counsel, Ralph H. Willard of Boston, she said:

"I feel very happy and especially grateful to the kindly, warm-hearted jurors, who have done all in their power to right the wrongs of a little woman who appealed to them for justice."

"In a way it was a great surprise to me, but I feel that it is one more instance where the truth has prevailed. It was not crushed to earth this time."

"I am going back home soon. I shall certainly go to Burlington some day, for I feel that I can go there now a vindicated woman."

"I lost all love for the Rev. Mr. Wilson when I heard of his engagement to another woman, but I felt sorry for him yesterday, when I heard him deny with his own lips the things so wonderful, so spiritual, so high that he knew existed between us. I could not believe my own ears."

"I do not feel vindictive. I do not feel vindictive. I feel sorry for him now, although he perhaps will not believe it."

"If he had only come to me and explained, I think I would have forgiven him, but he made no explanation, he did not come. I certainly did not want to force myself on him. Then I felt that the other girl ought to know his treatment of me, and I felt that perhaps other women ought to know. That was my reason for bringing the suit. Perhaps it may seem selfish. I simply gave in to the inevitable, as I told Bishop Bliss."

Her Faith in Men Shaken
"It has shaken my faith in the men in the church, but not in God. I would not want to believe all men are the same. Mr. Wilson should have acknowledged more than he did. If he did, perhaps the jurors might have had more sympathy with him."

"When I looked into the eyes of those jurors as I told them my story, they would take a faithful interest in what had occurred between us. I felt I could trust them with my story. They were all older than I, and so sympathetic that I felt they would be able to understand a woman's heart, for it is sympathy and not cold calculation that makes this world a pleasant place to live in."

"I know they sympathize with the rector, for I sympathize with him myself. They sympathize with me, too, but while he claimed to be like other men, he did not show it. I only claimed to be a woman, and I bared a woman's heart to them, and they were able to understand."

"It will seem good to get home. I will stay in Boston for a little while with my mother and father."

"I want to thank publicly those kind-hearted people who have expressed to me and to friends their sympathy in my trouble. I thought the newspapers were very sympathetic and desired to be fair between us, and I want to express my gratitude to them for their consideration, treatment of the things that every woman regards as sacred, but which had to be bared to the public gaze that the truth might be known."

STEPPLE JIM'S TUMBLE
James A. Parker of New York, better known throughout the country as "Steeple Jim" is with us again. He is no stranger in this city for he has performed many hair raising stunts on flagpoles and steeples here, his specialty being the painting and gilding of flagpoles, steeples and other lofty structures.

In conversation with a reporter he stated that since his last visit to Lowell he met with a slight (?) fall, just a mere 70 feet. This happened in New York City and resulted in a couple of broken elbows and a sprained ankle and numerous bruises and abrasions.

During his stay here he says he will paint the flag pole on the J. L. Chaffoux building, two on C. I. Hood's factory in Thorndike street and one on the county jail.

A VOLUNTEER CRUISE
LOCAL MEN INVITED TO TAKE CRUISE IN EARLY FALL THAT WILL LAST FOUR WEEKS

The local recruiting office of the navy department is in receipt of further information relative to the volunteer naval cruise to be held in the early fall in which local men are invited to participate. The cruise will last four weeks.

The first week will be devoted to the cruising of ships individually, the second to the participation of the squadron with the Atlantic fleet in the war game, the third to squadron maneuvers along the Atlantic coast and the fourth week to the return to port and cruise of motor boats.

Particular stress is placed on the motor boat feature. In the near future an officer of the navy, and a lieutenant will be designated where motor boats may be qualified and assigned to motor boat squadrons. The age limit does not apply to motor boat owners. All of the men of one college or association will, insofar as it is possible, be grouped on the same ship and in the same division aboard ship.

In case of an emergency at home, requiring the presence of a volunteer, he may be permitted to leave the ship and go home. Women cannot form any part of the crew of a motor boat on cruise, it is pointed out, in the latest instructions.

The following articles of clothing are to be drawn aboard ship: Four unlined jumpers, white; four trousers, white; two hats, white; one jersey; one mattress; kapok; two mattress covers; one watch cap, and two suits of dungaree for those doing duty in engine room or dynamo room. If needed a pair of bathing trunks, one blanket and a neckerchief may be drawn.

The next opportunity for examination and enrollment at the local station will take place Wednesday, May 21, at 10 a. m., at 7 Merrimack street. W. M. Holman of this city is the latest applicant who has been enrolled.

Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, has recently sent to the local station a notice to the effect that it is desirable to fill all positions in the canal zone with Americans, and at the present time the following positions are filled by aliens: Boatswain of tugs, foreman of docks, signal station keepers, operator of motor boats, oilers, firemen and seamen for tugs. Members of the naval reserve are eligible to take examinations for these positions. More information on the point may be obtained at the local navy recruiting station.

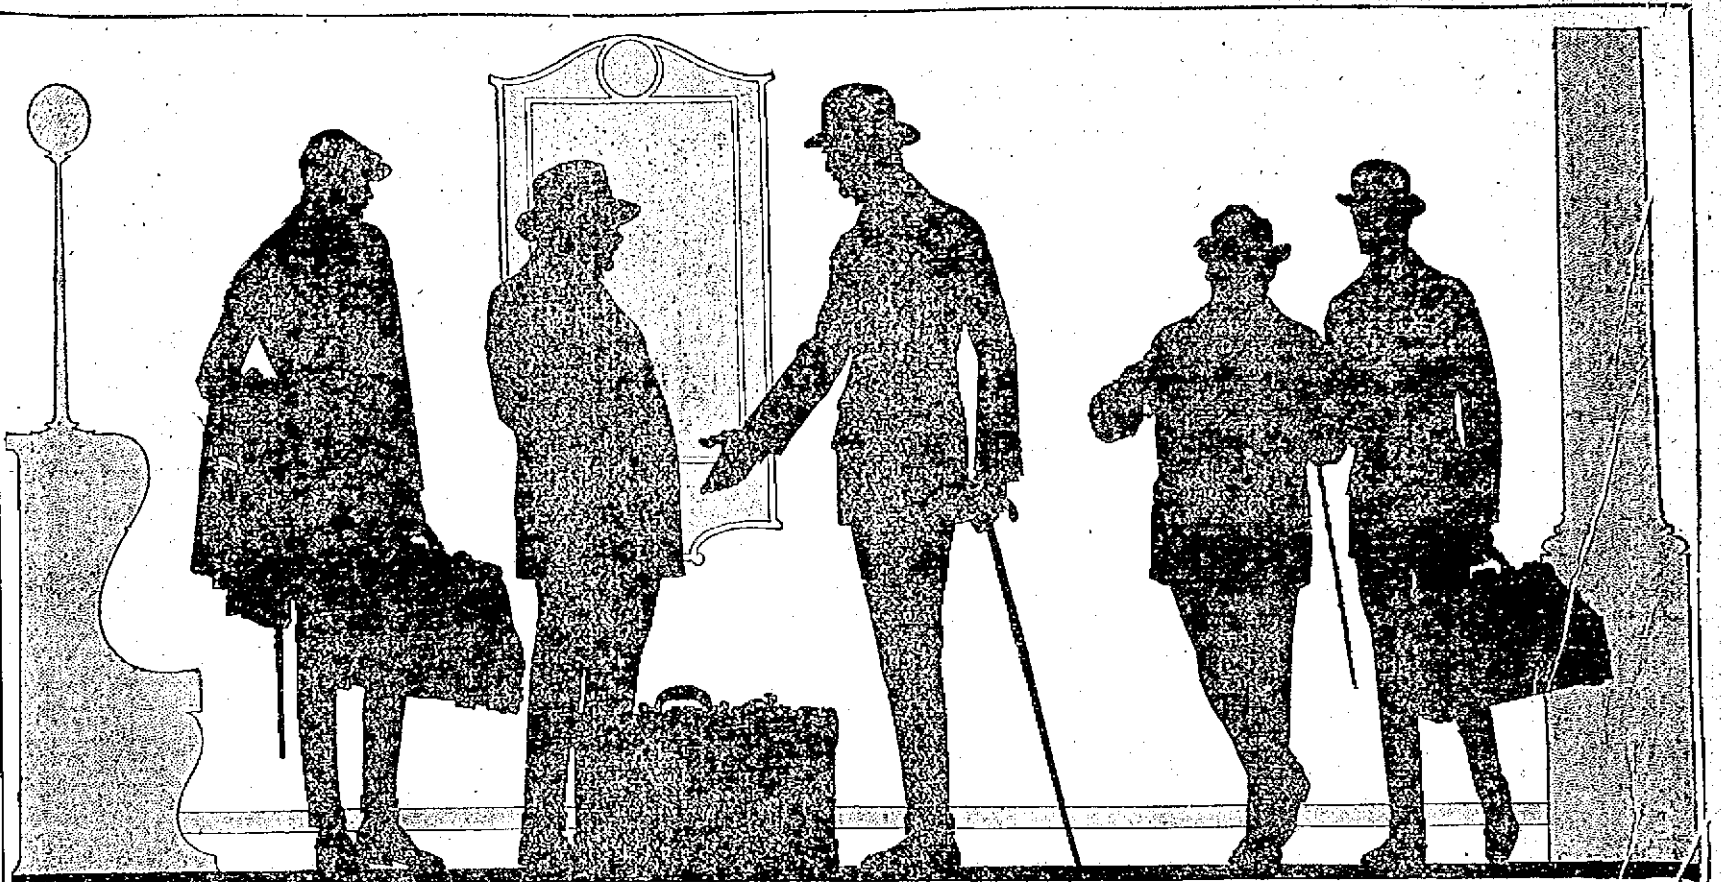

MANY PEACE MEETINGS
STOCKHOLM, May 18, via London, May 19.—Under the auspices of Henry Ford's "neutral conference" meetings were held today throughout Scandinavia, Switzerland and Holland in celebration in the 15th anniversary of the first Hague conference. In Denmark and Sweden the meetings will be continued over several days with a big demonstration in Stockholm on Sunday. At all of the meetings resolutions were adopted urging the neutral governments to call an official conference to arrange for mediation between the belligerents.

These peace meetings are being held in nine cities in Sweden, seven in Switzerland, six in Denmark and three in Holland. In Norway they have been combined with the national celebrations of Norway's independence, the anniversary of which is May 16.

CRUISE OF N. Y. YACHT CLUB
NEW YORK, May 19.—The annual cruise of the New York Yacht club, the great event of the yachting year will begin on August 1, according to an announcement today by Commodore George F. Baker. The rendezvous will be at Glen Cove and the cruise will extend eastward to Buzzards Bay. An earlier suggestion of a trip around Cape Cod to Massachusetts Bay has been abandoned.

AUSTRIANS ADVANCING

Continued
In small post near Hill 287, east of the wood. Elsewhere, according to the afternoon Paris bulletin, the attacks were repulsed as was a German attack on the fort on the northeast slope of Hill 304, which the French took the previous day.

Russia Takes Action
According to Berlin advice, Russia, believing that the treaties recently concluded between Rumania and the central powers go beyond the bounds of commercial agreements and have political significance, has taken measures to ascertain the circumstances which gave rise to the conclusion of the treaties.

Berlin Claims Successes
The Berlin report on the Verdun fighting points to a more serious inroad upon the French defenses in the neighborhood of Hill 304 than was indicated by the French official statement.
The German war office declares that French positions on both sides of the Haucourt-Esnes road were taken, the Germans pushing through to the southern corner of Duck wood. It also announces that the French again attacked the German positions on Hill 304 but failed to attain their object and sustained considerable losses.

British Bombardment
Indications that the Turkish move in Egypt may be more of an organized effort than was generally thought is contained in a British official statement today. It reports the bombardment by British warships and aircraft of the town of El Arish, in Egypt, near the Palestine border on the Turkish line of communications, from Syria to Egypt, indicating that the Turks fighting in Egyptian territory may not be mere isolated forces but that they are working with support from a home base.

Attempt to Capture Avlona
The possibility of a determined move by the Austrians in the near future to capture Avlona, Albania, held by the Italians is indicated by the report through Paris that a fleet of 150 transports has been assembled at Fiume to take troops, munitions and supplies to Durazzo on the Albanian coast north of Avlona.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY STEAMERS ASSEMBLED AT HUNGARIAN SEAPORT OF FIUME

PARIS, May 19, 3.45 p. m.—One hundred and fifty steamers have been assembled at the Hungarian seaport of Fiume to transport troops, munitions and supplies under protection of the Austro-Hungarian fleet of Durazzo, Albania. This information was received here today in advices from Innsbruck. It is supposed here that the Austrians intend to make a strong attack on the Albanian town of Avlona which is occupied by the Italians.

EVANGELISTIC ORGANIZATION

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 19.—By the adoption today of a recommendation offered by its permanent committee on evangelism, the 125th general assembly of the Presbyterian church took the first step in the establishment of a proposed interdenominational evangelistic organization which will put religious revivals the country over on an efficiency basis under the immediate direction of the church in America and an advisory non-denominational lay board.

The plan, when carried to its conclusion will make evangelists salaried members of an evangelistic committee of all the churches. The evangelists will be assigned to certain districts that need them. This arrangement will eliminate the much criticised thank offerings at the end of the revivals.

The pacemaker in business today finds the road of success a rough and difficult one, because he must find the way over it without the compass of experience to guide him. To myself I have the egotism to attach the claim that I am a pacemaker and I think my record in business bears me out. Travelling not upon the beaten path—following none of the precedents that most of my brother tailors follow—I am going about getting business in my own way—making my own pace and following it also. For this reason I have committed many business acts that my fellows cannot reconcile. To many of them the giving of a premium to procure business is a violation of the ethics of our trade. I claim it the act of a business man who places common sense above precedent; and so I will continue to offer premiums, for business so long as they may prove effective. The best business-getting premium ever offered by me was the one inaugurated in this city on two previous occasions.

A Pair of Heinisch Tailor's Shears, Value $3.50, Absolutely Free With Suit or Overcoat Order.

It was beyond doubt the most successful business-getter ever launched by any tailor in New England and brought me trade at a time when trade was at a standstill everywhere else. Although we are wading through the greatest reign of prosperity today Lowell has seen in my time, the weeks now figure more than the months did years ago. I am anxious to make this a record month for business.

I want every customer to enter into the spirit of this gift, to ask for it as something that belongs to him, to ask for it as something that, if it is worth taking it is worth asking for.

Ladies, Attention!

Your men folks are going to buy a spring or summer suit some place. I want to make these men folks Mitchell customers; the same as thousands of men throughout Middlesex County, with your help I can get them to try me once—after that I expect them to be regular, year in and year out customers.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Andrew Barbera Takes Full Charge of My Workshop

Mr. Barbera comes to me with a brilliant reputation and I expect to help him to sustain it. He has lived in your city for thirty-five years, a voter and tax payer and one of your moral citizens. For thirty years in the high priced tailoring trade, making garments in many orders that sold as high as fifty dollars. He worked on the bench as coat maker, away back in 1890 for BARNES, THE TAILOR, Central Street, left to accept a position with ALEXANDER, THE TAILOR, where he stayed seven years, resigned to take the position of foreman for MARKS, THE TAILOR, 34 Central Street, where he stayed for nine years, resigned to take a chance in the business world for himself, successful for a time, he had to do business on a small scale to the higher priced trade, and mostly charge—The Answer, There Are More Fords Than Packards—More fifteen dollar suit customers—than thirty-five.

MR. BARBERA closed out his business on Bridge Street to take full charge of my workshop on premises. He brings with him the same organization in help who have made you clothes as high as forty dollars. He will be pleased to meet his old customers and show them through my line, at popular prices. I am never satisfied. I am always trying to perfect my organization.

Under the supervision of my head designer, Mr. Atwood and his assistants, Mr. Campbell, Mr. McMahon, Mr. Daley and Mr. Healey, the garments you buy in my store today are draughted, cut and fitted by talent pre-eminent among designers of America. With Mr. Barbera in full charge in my workshop, leading a force of men who have spent a lifetime sewing garments, moulding them to the human shape, and I will say you seldom find two forms alike. If this combination can't fit and please you, cutters, fitters, tailors, all together working on the same floor, I don't know what chance you have to be fitted by men who do not profess to be, or cannot hope ever to be style creators.

TWENTY YEARS PASTOR

RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS. N. W. MATTHEWS BY FIRST PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Matthews, of 15 Ellsworth street, were tendered a reception by the members of the First Primitive Methodist church Wednesday evening on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of Rev. Mr. Matthews' pastorate at the church. In the receiving line with the couple were Mrs. Jacob Norris, president of the Ladies Aid association; Lee Ashton, delegate to the recent conference and Joseph Sutcliffe, representing the board of trustees. The attendance was large and a pleasing program was carried out. Parishioners and friends gathered in the vestry of the church and were given a warm reception. Those in the receiving line were seated on the platform, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Musical numbers were given by John Pooler, David Ingham, Albert Ingham, Lee Ashton and others. In the course of the evening Rev. and Mrs. Matthews were presented flowers as gifts from the Ladies Aid association, the Dorcas club, Mt. Zion lodge, Good Templars and the Matthews bible class. In responding to the presentations

Mr. Matthews spoke in part as follows: "I wish to thank the members of my Bible class and Old Mt. Zion lodge for these expressions of their esteem. I am one of the charter members of the latter organization, and it holds a tender place in my affections. I am proud indeed to be the teacher of such a bible class as mine and again permit me to express my hearty thanks. "Brother Ashton has beautifully described the work of our recent conference, at which the most beautiful spirit prevailed. A signal honor, that of presiding over the session, fell upon the oldest pastor present, Rev. T. M. Bateman, formerly of the First Primitive church in Lowell. At the conference, also, several things were taken up which I believe marks a new period in our history. For one thing, the president is now designated a year ahead, in order that he may make thorough preparation for the work, and we of the Lowell church

feel honored when we consider that it was your pastor who received unanimous election. Our ordination services were the greatest ever held, and I trust that we may continue to progress for another year. I tell you we should be proud of our work. We lead in home missionary contributions and in contributions to foreign missions. And I believe that the church that does not go abroad in God's kingdom is not alive at home. None of us is perfect, but we are going to do, this year, the best we can." The evening closed with the singing of hymns by the congregation.

SPLENDID BARGAINS ARE BEING OFFERED AT THE ANNIVERSARY SALE

This year marks the seventh anniversary of Macartney's Apparel shop in this city and the thirty-sixth anniversary of the Lawrence store. According to the custom of these two progressive stores each year at this time a big anniversary sale is conducted for a few days. Although this year's sale started last Thursday and a very large number have made purchases at the store during the first few days, there are still many desirable bargains to be secured, for this sale is being run on a very extensive plan. The men's furnishing department offers many attractions. In this line sweeping reductions have been made on all kinds of seasonable articles of furnishing which certainly ought to create a desire to buy on the part of all who inspect the offerings. It will pay one well to take in this sale and obtain some of these goods even though the use of the same is not immediate, for the low prices at which they are selling are unusual. It is by no means intimated that the splendid bargains are limited to the furnishings department. In the other departments of this store some exceptionally fine purchases can be made which would be difficult to duplicate at any other time. A trip through this store during the sale which will close one week from tomorrow, will carry with it the conviction that now is the time to buy.

MATRIMONIAL

nesday morning at the Sacred Heart church, when Philip J. McCarron and Miss Madeleine A. Kennedy, two prominent young people of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in white tulle and silk with overdress of tulle and mother of pearl trimmings. She wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Agnes Roarke, who wore blue tulle and carried Killarney roses. The best man was James McCarron. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 54 Andrew street, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. McCarron, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left in the evening on a wedding trip to New York and Philadelphia. After May 19 they will be at home to their friends at 69 Pleasant street.

LAKE MOHONK PLATFORM

Appreciating Conditions, Platform Confined to Approval of General Principal of Arbitration

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 19.—

The resolutions committee of the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today showed its appreciation of the unsettled conditions of international affairs by presenting a platform which avoided any radical recommendations and confined itself to carefully worded approval of the general principle of arbitration. The platform proved a disappointment to the members of the League to Enforce Peace, led by former President William H. Taft, the presiding officer of the conference, but it also offered no encouragement to the opponents of enforced peace, who under the lead of William J. Bryan had no opportunity to attack the recommendations of the league during the present conference. The platform follows:

"The world conditions of the past two years have confirmed the belief, often expressed in these conferences that arbitral and judicial methods should and must increasingly prevail in settling international disputes. During the 20th century the permanent court at The Hague has acted on cases involving questions relating to Europe, Asia, Africa, the islands of the Pacific, and the Americas. These questions involved financial and territorial claims and such fundamental matters as the right to fly the national flag and to exercise jurisdiction over national military forces. These facts are clear testimony to the development of arbitration. "The tendency of this court at The Hague to become in reality permanent is evident from the fact that there are eight judges who have sat in three or more of the fifteen cases and one judge sat in seven of the fifteen cases. "The conference desires again to affirm its belief in the desirability of such legislation by congress as will confer upon the courts of the United States jurisdiction over all cases arising under treaty provisions or affecting the rights of aliens. "The speakers this morning were Ignacio Calderon, Bolivian minister to the United States; William P. Borland, member of congress from Missouri; the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway tabernacle; Dr. Ernesto Nelson, formerly director-general of Secondary Industrial and commercial education of Argentina, and Walter S. Penfield, an attorney of Washington, D. C. The platform was presented was unanimously adopted.

VERDUN BATTLE

German Expert Denies Claim of Victory By English and French

BERLIN, May 19 (By wireless to Saville).—English and French assertions that the battle of Verdun has been won by the entente allies are disputed by Maj. Morant, military critic of the Tageblatt, who points to the recent successes won by the Germans and says the French and British are incapable of prosecuting a successful offensive. He says:

"Some days ago the Manchester Guardian announced that the battle had been ended and that the French had inflicted their third signal defeat on the Germans. The other two having been at the Marne and at Ypres. One day later the Germans reached the top of Hill 304. "Not only have the Germans held Hill 304 against desperate French counterattacks, but they have succeeded in extending their new positions. The present military situation is characterized most precisely by referring to the fact that the French, and still more the British are conscious of their inability to advance, that they are able to act efficiently only on the defensive and as long as they outnumber the Germans considerably. "French military critics state that the Germans began the battle of Verdun merely for political reasons. A typical instance of a military action undertaken for political reasons is the Gallipoli campaign in which many thousands of lives were sacrificed, with a retreat at the end as the only tangible consequence. "Twenty-one months ago the British, French and Russians announced their intention of marching on Berlin, occupying the German capital and placing the German people in the streets of this city and Potsdam. In view of this how ought the present military position of Germany's enemies to be characterized?"

Miss Kuhne Beveridge, the American sculptress in Munich, has been aptly termed the problem sculptress. Her conception of marriage, as illustrated by her work under that title, will hardly meet with the approval of her country women. It is a statue of a man and a woman joined together hand and foot, every action hampered, utter boredom and unhappiness depicted on their faces.

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

TODAY 15TH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS CONSECRATION AS BISHOP OF DIOCESE OF PORTLAND AT OME

Today marks the 15th anniversary of the consecration of Cardinal O'Connell as bishop of the diocese of Portland, which includes the entire state of Maine. Cardinal O'Connell was at that time rector of the North American college in Rome. The ceremony of his consecration as bishop took place in the Church of St. John Lateran, the cathedral of the world, the same church in which the cardinal was ordained to the priesthood about 17 years before. Cardinal Satolli, the first apostolic delegate to the United States, was the officiating prelate.

Cardinal O'Connell governed the church in Maine for nearly five years, during which time the diocese made much progress. In September, 1905, Pope Pius X. sent him as special envoy to the Mikado of Japan. Proceeding to Rome on the conclusion of his mission he was named coadjutor archbishop of Boston Feb. 5, 1906. On the death of Archbishop Williams August 30, 1907, Cardinal O'Connell took charge of the See of Boston, and in recognition of his splendid services to the church he was elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals Nov. 27, 1911.

EXCHANGING PRISONERS

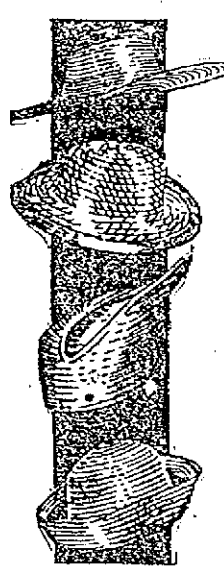

EVIDENCE OF HEAVY TOLL THAT TUBERCULOSIS IS EXACTING IN WORLD WAR

STOCKHOLM, via London, May 19.—Evidence of the heavy toll that tuberculosis is exacting in the world war is found in the exchange of disabled prisoners which is being conducted through Sweden by Russia and Austria. One train from the Russian camps had 80 cases of consumption among the 230 Austrian prisoners on board. Three of the victims died while the train was passing through this country. On another train from Russia there were 30 Austrians who had been rendered insane by their sufferings. Three trains are now running weekly in each direction exchanging prisoners who, from disease, loss of limbs or mental breakdown are unfit for further military service.

Over 200 women from different parts of the country are now in camp at Chevy Chase, near Washington, D. C., where they have a first-class service school, the main purpose of which is to train women to be of real national service along lines which they can best serve.

LOWELL'S HEALTH WEEK

Thousands of People Inspect the Health Exhibits—Valuable Lessons on Cleanliness and Health

If you have not yet seen the exhibits in connection with health week you have missed something and yet there is something good in store for you as the exhibits will not close until tomorrow night. The exhibition as a whole is one of the finest things that ever came to Lowell for it affords opportunity for free lessons on cleanliness and health.

The program today included a stereoscopic lecture at Middlesex hall by Dr. Marshall L. Alling on "How to Keep Well." The lecture was at 3 o'clock and at the same hour Dr. M. A. Tigue lectured on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building where various demonstrations were being given. Dr. Tigue's subject was "Cancer and the Wear and Tear Diseases of Adult Life."

At 3:30 o'clock there was a demonstration on the same floor of proper hospital treatment of patients, bed making, bathing, feeding, milk sterilization, etc., and in Middlesex hall the Boy Scouts are giving demonstrations of first aid and signal work.

The attendance at the exhibits thus far has been very encouraging and it is expected that tomorrow will be a canny day. It was estimated that more than 3000 people visited the exhibit locations yesterday. There were more than 300 people on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and there were fully that many present today at the same hour. The attendance at the exhibit, corner of John and Merrimack streets, has been very good from the start. The place is convenient and there is much to see there, including photographs and pictures of various kinds that tell stories plainer than they can be told in words. There is no discounting the great value of pictures in this crusade to help the cause of public health and cleanliness and it is wonderful to see how carefully the pictures are studied by young and old. It is a wonderful thing for the

See Nature at Her Very Best in Glacier National Park

The most talked-of place in America by out-of-doors people is Glacier National Park. It is located in Northwestern Montana, and has within its generous boundaries more of Nature's inspired masterpieces than any similar area in the world.

There are 60 living glaciers in the park. Blackfoot Glacier alone covering over five square miles. These glaciers feed 250 deep blue or emerald green lakes.

The big waters of the Park's glacier-fed lakes and streams furnish the angler with any amount of firm-fleshed, gamey rainbow trout. Trout, Flat Bull and Lake trout. The Park is a veritable garden, as over 50 varieties of wild flowers are found there, ranging from yellow adonis to gorgeous mountain lilies.

The quarters in the Park are delightful—you have your choice of hotels, chalets or tent camps. If you "hike" it, you can hike along on one dollar a day; other prices are in proportion.

Call at the office; we will talk it over, or if it is more convenient to send in your address on a postcard, do that and you will receive, free of charge, booklets telling of the Park, its accommodations, and the cost of going there, on the BURLINGTON the Daylight Route, and seeing all there is to see.

POLICE COURT

Judge Enright Gives Youthful Burglars Suspended Sentences

Joseph A. Barry, an 18-year-old youth who was arrested last week with a younger companion named Bertram E. Smith for breaking into a residence in Stedman street, Wigginville, and stealing $21 in money besides several articles of minor value, appeared in police court this morning before Judge Enright and pleaded guilty to the complaint against him. Smith was brought before the juvenile court earlier in the morning and given a suspended sentence to the Lyman school. As restitution has been made by relatives of Barry, the court was lenient with him and he was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

According to the testimony offered by Special Officer J. H. Clark and others, Smith was the worst of the two boys and it was he who planned the Wigginville break as well as several others in that vicinity. It was also brought out that Smith was desirous of getting possession of a revolver so that he could hold persons up on the street. The boys appeared to be sorry for their actions, however, and were let go after being warned by His Honor that a repetition of their work in Wigginville will end disastrously for them.

For Trespassing

George Underwood and Martin Hanon were fined $20 each for trespassing on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad near the Newton Manufacturing Co. 301 Thornton.

Officer James Considine who arrested the young men, testified that they were complained of to him by the watchman at the Newton Manufacturing Co. for throwing stones at the latter and other watchmen at the plant. He said the young men were in the habit of riding on freight cars every night between the Bleachery station and the Newton Manufacturing Co., and that when they got off at the latter place they threw stones at the officers. The defendants were arrested last night on the tracks by Officer Considine and another officer employed by the Newton Manufacturing Co. Judge Enright gave them one month each in which to pay their fines.

Violated City Ordinance

Charles H. Spurr of Melrose, who was arrested on May 12 for violating a city ordinance by driving his automobile on the wrong side of the street, was fined $2. The defendant was arrested by Traffic Officer Sheridan on the above date after he had crossed to the left hand side of Central street near the corner of Merrimack, holding up three automobiles that had just turned into Central street from the corner.

Non-Support Case

Peter Osgian made his second appearance within a year on a complaint charging him with failing to provide proper support for his wife and baby, and after His Honor had heard the evidence in the case he told the defendant that he wished he could punish him by giving him a sound horse-whipping.

Osgian, it seems, has a good position and makes good money but he drinks and gambles and his wife sees but little of his salary. Several times within the past year, it was alleged, he has abused his wife and on one occasion she had him brought before the court on a complaint of non-support and assault. Only a few months ago a child was born to Mrs. Osgian and since that time the husband, the police claim, has failed to give his wife money to live on.

Mrs. Osgian told His Honor that she was willing to give her husband another chance if he would turn over a new leaf and lead a better life and Osgian pleaded with the court for just one chance, promising that he would never take another drink and would go home and take care of his wife and baby. Judge Enright complied with his request and gave him a suspended sentence of six months to the house of correction.

The Drunken Offenders

One drunken offender was given a suspended sentence of one year to the house of correction and another was fined $6. There were eight releases.

BAR SECRET SOCIETIES

NEW YORK, May 15.—Secret societies have been definitely placed under the ban at Barnard college by an election held by the students, the result of which was made public today.

The secret societies which formerly existed in the college were suspended by the faculty three years ago, the suspension to expire on Oct. 1 of this year. The election was held to determine whether the organizations should be revived after that date. A revival was decided against by a vote of 214 to 30. At the same time it was voted that the college should have some form of social organizations, devoid of any national affiliation, or elements of secrecy.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

BOSTON, May 19.—The bill to extend the jurisdiction and functions of the civil service commission, which Gov. McCall deemed of sufficient importance to warrant sending a special message to the lower branch of the state legislature, was passed by the Massachusetts house of representatives late yesterday afternoon after nearly the entire day had been spent in discussing the measure.

Of more than a dozen amendments offered, only a few were accepted. As the bill stands the governor has achieved a partial victory. In his inaugural he pointed out the need of "increasing efficiency" and this provision has been retained. Generally speaking, four of the eleven sections which the bill originally possessed are all that remain, although a fifth section to provide that nothing in the bill shall apply to firemen and policemen has been added.

The civil service bill contains these new provisions:

Changes in Bill
"At least one commissioner shall be present during office hours except when all the commissioners are engaged elsewhere on business of the commission."

"The commission may, from time to time, investigate in whole or in part the classified civil service, and the work, duties and compensation of the officers and employees therein, and the number employed and the grades, titles, ratings and methods of promotion that have been established, and may report thereon."

"The commission may, at any time, and shall, upon the request of any appointing power, inquire into the efficiency and conduct of any officers or employees in the classified civil service and may recommend to the appointing power the removal of any such officers or employees, or may such other recommendations as shall seem fitting in the premises."

"The commission shall forthwith prepare and submit to the governor and council for approval a revision of the civil service rules, and the rules as revised, when approved by the governor and council, shall supersede all then existing rules."

"Persons holding offices or positions to which they have been elected by the people, or by the adoption of a city council, or the selection of a town, shall not at the same time be eligible to the office of representative of the civil service commission."

Several of the principal objections to the bill, as voiced by its opponents, have been removed. It does not now apply to "counties, cities and towns," and there will be no referendum on voters in "any city except Boston" as to whether the heads of principal departments shall be classified under civil service law and rules. Neither will there be a similar referendum in towns. Another provision which has been killed is that giving judges the right to have classified under civil service those whose appointment is subject to confirmation by them.

Governor's Appeal Effective

After the rejection of the bill Wednesday afternoon, the republican leaders began "lining up" the members of their party for reconsideration.

When the house came in yesterday morning, Gov. McCall's special message was read. It was virtually an appeal to the house to reconsider. The vote for reconsideration was 138 yeas to 79 nays.

On the question of ordering the amended bill to a third reading the roll-call vote was 136 to 83.

The bill to codify the militia laws was ordered to a third reading on the first call of the calendar.

The house rejected by a voice vote the senate bill to provide that a sentence to the Concord and Sherborn reformatories in case of a felony, when the term is not fixed by the court, shall be for five years.

The house concurred with the senate in the amendment to the Arlington street-subway station bill, extending the time for construction from three months to seven.

The bill to authorize the secretary of the state board of agriculture to appoint a director of markets and to provide for marketing agricultural products was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to codify and amend the laws relative to the manufacture and sale of foods and drugs was referred to the next legislature without opposition.

The house passed to be engrossed the senate bill appropriating $700,000 for the completion of the state house grounds by taking more property on Beacon street, west of the state house.

Orders were adopted for two legislative sessions a day, to provide that the last week of the session begin yesterday and further that the house sit Saturday at 10 o'clock.

"Ought to pass" was reported by the ways and means committee on the subject of pensioning the needy blind.

"Ought to pass" was reported by the committee on counties, with the dissent of Coffey of Salem and Quiry of Worcester, on the salary bill for the South Boston municipal court, amended by giving the justice $3200 instead of $3500; also on the salary bill for $4500 for the justice of the Roxbury municipal court and on the bill for $3000 and $2000 salaries respectively for the clerk and assistant clerk of the same court.

Pass Redistricting Bill

The state senate devoted nearly all of yesterday to the redistricting bill. The discussion was given over almost entirely to senatorial districts.

Of amendments offered, only that of Senator Gifford of the Cape, to take Abington, East Bridgewater and Whitman from the "Cape and Plymouth" district, and to include East Bridgewater in the "Plymouth" district and Whitman and Abington in the "Norfolk and Plymouth" district, was adopted.

The bill was passed to be engrossed by a roll-call vote of 27 to 10.

A bill to provide that cities and towns shall maintain portions of high-ways between street railway tracks and collect the cost from street railway companies was passed to be engrossed.

A bill to provide that the attorney general's department shall do the legal work for the public service commission, and appropriating $5000 to defray the cost of the extra work, was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to change the method of distribution of corporation taxes and to provide for reimbursement of cities and towns for taxes lost by soldiers' exemptions was passed to be engrossed.

The bill to authorize the transfer of the Southern New England from the Grand Trunk to the Central Vermont was passed to be engrossed, as was the bill to validate the existing mortgage of the New London Northern railroad by the Central Vermont railroad.

The bill to increase the salary of the secretary of the industrial accident board was taken from the table. Reference to the next general court, as recommended by the committee on public service, was negatived and the bill was referred to the ways and means committee.

Senator Fay of Medford invited the members to lunch with him at Medford Wednesday. After the lunch, he said, Gov. McCall desired to entertain the members at Winchester and the mayor of Medford wished to entertain the members in the Medford armory later in the day. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Fish and Game Board

Senate Chairman Martin Hays of the legislative special committee on consolidations will report "next general court" on petitions of Charles M. Rogers and James A. Thomas for legislation to establish a single-headed fish and game commission in place of the present commission of three members, and on the petition of the highway safety league for legislation to establish a motor vehicle commission to take over the powers now exercised by the highway commission with respect to the registration of automobiles and the licensing of operators.

Ought Not To Pass

The senate ways and means committee has voted, with two dissenters, to report "ought not to pass" on the "income tax" bill so-called. The dissenters are Senators Bazely of Worcester and Gordon of Hampden. Senator Benn of Middlesex reserves his right to dissent.

The committee voted to report favorably on the bill to provide for the abolition of the economy and efficiency commission, in an amended form, with Senators Bean of Middlesex and Sheehan of Hampden dissenting. This measure has been passed by the house.

THE PATER CHILDREN

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS GETS INFORMATION FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Hon. John Jacob Rogers has addressed the following letter from Secretary Robert Lansing to Mr. Hipolit Pater of 96 Lakeview avenue, this city, which concerns the whereabouts of his children who were living with relatives in Galicia when the European war broke out:

Department of State
Washington
May 12, 1916.

The Honorable John Jacob Rogers,
House of Representatives.
Sir:—The department has received your letter of May 5 inquiring whether any further information has been received in regard to Misses Olga and Helena Pater, who are now in Galicia.

As you were informed in the department's letter of March 14, 1916, a written instruction was sent on that date to the American consul general at Vienna, directing him to communicate with Mrs. Karolina Wisnolowski and advise her to take the children mentioned to the embassy at Vienna and apply in their behalf for passports to this government. It is presumed that, upon receipt of the department's instruction, the consul general proceeded without delay to carry out the directions contained therein. So far, no report on the matter has been received from the consul general. If Mr. Hipolit Pater, father of the children referred to, so desires, the department will telegraph to the consul general at Vienna instructing him to report the result of his efforts in this case. If such telegram is sent, it will be necessary for Mr. Pater to express in writing his willingness to bear the expense of any telegrams in the matter which the department may exchange with its representatives abroad.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) Robert Lansing.

Resinol Soap

improves poor complexions

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

If the skin is already in bad condition, a short treatment with Resinol Ointment may first be necessary to restore normal health. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists. For samples free, write to Dept. 28-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS

MAKING A CAMISOLE

"Marie, do you know what a camisole is?" asked Marjorie with a puzzled expression, as she walked abstractedly into her aunt's boudoir one morning. "Some of the girls were discussing Camisoles the other day but, aside from the fact that it is an article of lingerie of some kind, I haven't the remotest idea what it is—but I want one."

"Why," answered Marie, "a camisole is no more than a corset cover of a unique shape, just the thing to wear nowadays. It is simply a yard long strip of sheer linen or lawn, hand hemmed at the lower edge, embroidery or lace inserted across the upper edge, seamed at the middle of the back, and, of course, drawn over the head. It is kept in place by ribbon, streamers that bow-knot on the top of the shoulders, and if these ribbon loops or armcyes are of the washable kind, they may not be removed when the garment goes to the laundry."

Usually the camisole, while wide enough to be easily drawn on over the head and shoulders, fits smoothly over the bust and across the back, but if it is made of a very thin fabric like net, shadow lace or chiffon cloth, and so wide that its fullness across the bust must needs be drawn in run a ribbon through a heading around the top side. This is nearly always done when a narrow edging finishes the top, for when drawn up, it will form a scant little frilling prettily defining the lower limit of the low-cut neck.

"Another expression of the camisole is straight across the top, but gradually widening until it reaches the base of the hips, where it is shaped into a single wide and very deep scallop at front and back. As it fits closely over the bust, it can only be donned by undoing the placket which buttons half way down the back."

LOWELL BOY A CAPTAIN

CAMBRIDGE, May 19.—The appointment of 125 commissioned officers of the Harvard regiment, including captains of the eight companies, was announced last night. Archie Roosevelt, son of the former president, was named sergeant-major of the first battalion. The captains include George C. Wilkins, Lowell, Mass., and Stephen M. Foster, Derby, Vt.

George C. Wilkins, who is an exceptionally bright boy and one well versed in military training, is a son of Alfred W. Wilkins of the Adams Furniture Co.

PERPETUAL WAR

Two Republics Occupying Island of Haiti Are Forever Scrapping

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Elsewhere on the globe wars may be waged and wars may cease, but revolutions go on forever, seemingly, in the island of Haiti. Double trouble exists there at the present time. In the black republic on the western end of the island the president, supported by American forces under Rear Admiral Caperton, is at loggerheads with his parliament, while in the eastern republic of Santo Domingo, President Jimenez, impeached by his chamber of deputies, has resigned rather than brook armed intervention on the part of the United States.

"The National Geographic Society, from its headquarters in Washington, gives the following account of the revolution-ridden, Siamese twins of the family of nations: "Less than two months after Columbus first sighted land in the western hemisphere he had set foot on the northwest extremity of the island which he named Espanola (Little Spain), subsequently baptized into Hispaniola and now known as Haiti. Four years later Santo Domingo, on the southeastern coast of this, the second largest island of the Antilles, was founded, the first European settlement in the new world.

"For two hundred years Haiti, then called Santo Domingo, remained a Spanish colony, but by the treaty of Ryswick (1697) it came under the dominion of Louis XIV. of France, through a peculiar combination of circumstances, constituting one of the most picturesque pages of adventure in the history of the western world. Tortuga, lying off the northwestern coast of Santo Domingo, had been seized and held as the treasure island of a group of adventurous English and French seamen, led by bold and ruthless commanders. These privateers, as they were called, had been waging a bitter warfare against Spanish commerce, their animosity being actuated by Spain's repressive trade regulations. Santo Domingo had suffered greatly as a result of these restrictions, but one of the island's few remaining profitable industries was the butchering of wild cattle, the meat being sold to smugglers. The natives prepared this meat in huts which they called boucans, and the English and French seamen, learning the 'trick' of curing the meat, became butchers and 'buccaneers,' supplying passing vessels with preserved beef and afterward robbing these same ships.

"When the peace of Ryswick was concluded so many Frenchmen had settled on the west end of Santo Domingo that this portion of the island was ceded to France. A hundred years later Spain parted with the eastern end, also, but before the whole island came under her jurisdiction, France had begun to have her troubles with the slaves whose importation from Africa had begun under the Spanish regime as early as 1512. While the Europeans were divided among themselves over the problems of the French Revolution the negroes rose against their oppressors and under the leadership of Toussaint L'Ouverture, one of the most remarkable men ever produced by the black race, he gained his freedom. Toussaint, the grandson of an African chief, was a military genius who made the grave mistake of styling himself the Black Napoleon. His resentment being aroused against this self-proclaimed underdog, France's Man of Destiny sent his brother-in-law, Leclerc, to Haiti to subjugate the rebels. Through treachery, Toussaint was captured and sent to France where he died in 1803.

"Desirelles, Toussaint's follower, declared Haiti independent and assumed the title of emperor in 1804. After his assassination two years later by two of his officers, Christophe and Pétion, the northern section of the island came under the sway of the former, a negro, while Pétion established a mulatto republic to the south. Jean Pierre Boyer, a mulatto of exceptional ability, succeeded these two and gained complete control of the whole island, ruling with firmness for nearly a quarter of a century; the French having recognized the independence of Haiti in 1825.

"In 1841 the eastern two-thirds of the island set up the independent republic of Santo Domingo, with the city of the same name as its capital. On several occasions the latter country has made overtures to the United States, proposing annexation and at one time negotiations had progressed as far as the ratification of a treaty by the Dominican people, but, as in the case of the proposed purchase of the Danish West Indies two years previously, the United States senate, by a vote, rejected the proposal.

"For the last three-quarters of a century rulers in both Haiti and Santo Domingo have followed each other like birds of passage, flight, assassination and forcible removal from office being the rule rather than the exception.

"The republic of Haiti, which retains its French character in the language of its people and in the custom of sending the children of its wealthy class to Paris to be educated, occupies a territory somewhat larger than the combined area of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The capital, Port-au-Prince, is a city of about 75,000. Jérôme, one of the smaller cit-

EARLY MORNING FATIGUE

When you awaken in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with one of the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refreshes the tired brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition. Neurasthenia is the name given to this common form of nervous debility in which the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need. Many nervous disorders, sometimes chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worth a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

ies, is noted as the birthplace of the elder, Dumas.

"Santo Domingo, where Spanish is the prevailing language, has an area twice as great as Haiti, being about the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined, but with only one third the population of the smaller republic.

"While no accurate census of the two republics has been taken, the estimated population is 2,700,000, which is 700,000 more than the number of Indians supposed to have been living on the island at the time of its discovery by Columbus.

"The Caribs called this island Haiti, meaning 'high land,' and it well deserves the name, for it is exceedingly mountainous."

GUARDING OUR SOUTHERN BORDER AGAINST FURTHER RAIDS BY BANDITS A GRAVE MATTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—The decision of the war department to order out the militia organizations of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona to aid in guarding the southern border of the United States against further raids by Mexican bandits makes the boundary line between the two republics a topic of paramount interest. This boundary is the subject of today's war geography bulletin, issued by the National Geographic Society from its Washington headquarters, which says:

"All the territory of the four border states of California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas originally belonged to the Mexican republic, and if the United States were called upon to guard the lines which constituted the southern border before acquisition of Texas and the land purchased after the war of 1848, the boundary would extend for a distance of 2500 miles instead of 1,533 miles as now.

"The Rio Grande, which constitutes a natural boundary between the two countries for a distance of 1136 miles, rises in the mountains of southern Colorado and flows south into the Gulf of Mexico. It becomes a part of the boundary at El Paso, some 700 miles from its source. Owing to the extensive use of its waters for irrigation purposes and to rapid evaporation during the summer months, the river's volume frequently is so diminished that for many miles along its course the bed becomes dry. Its flow is by no means commensurate with its length or with the basin of 240,000 square miles which it drains.

"The Rio Grande is navigated by small boats for 500 miles above its mouth, but it is one of the most variable of rivers, the volume of water which it discharges some years being ten times as great as during others.

"To the Mexicans the upper river is known as the 'Rio Grande del Norte' (Great River of the North), but in the Big Bend region, where the latest border outrages have occurred, it is known as the 'Rio Bravo' (Rapid River).

"The whole boundary line as it now exists between the United States and Mexico has been established through the purchase of territory by the former republic, for, although the war of 1848 was fought to fix the Rio Grande as the Texas border, by the Guadalupe Hidalgo treaty Mexico received $15,000,000 and was relieved of $3,000,000 of debts in payment for her cessions in Texas and for the territory embraced in the state then known as New Mexico, from which California, Nevada, Utah, most of Arizona and portions of Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico have been carved. Six years after this treaty the Gadsden purchase was consummated, whereby for $10,000,000 the United States, in addition to other concessions, acquired more than 45,000 additional square miles lying between the Gila river on the north and the present boundary line between Arizona and New Mexico and the Mexican state of Sonora. This sale was unpopular in Mexico and was partly responsible for the banishment of President Santa Anna.

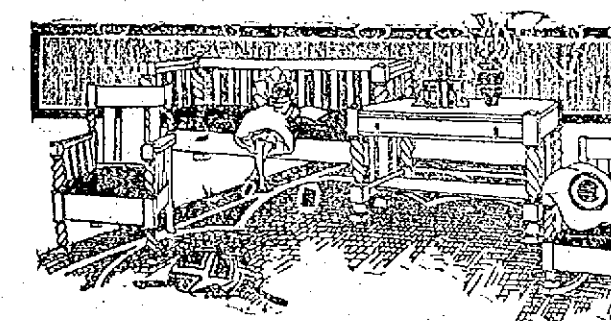

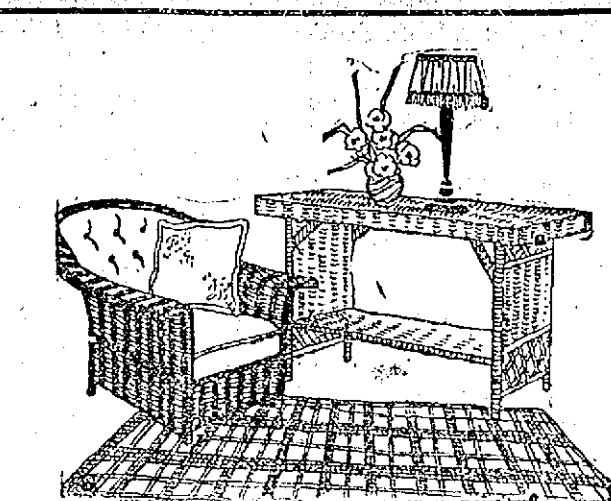

"One-fifth of the total area of the United States (Alaska and the insular possessions exclusive) is embraced in the four states on the Mexican border, while three-sevenths of Mexico's area is included in her six border states of Lower California, Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, and Tamaulipas.

"If all the militiamen of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas which the war department has called upon for patrol duty on the Mexican border were strung out as sentries they would form a thin khaki line, with each man, including officers, a third of a mile from his nearest neighbor to the right and left. If eight hour tours of duty were required our southern militia 'wall,' as ancient Sparta called her fighting men, would be composed of 'bricks' a mile apart."

COOKIN FURNITURE CO., Prescott St.

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Cook today gave me a couple of hints on removing stains which I am very glad to give you. Coffee stains, she says, can be removed from table linen and from the most delicate silks by brushing the spot with glycerine. Rinse with lukewarm water and press on the wrong side. If the material is very delicate, care should be taken not to wet more than is possible and to have the iron very cool. Peach stains can be removed from wash material by moistening the spot with glycerine. Let it stand for a while and then wash.

She also told me that lemons may be purchased when cheap and kept for months. Put a layer of fine, dry sand about an inch deep in an earthenware vessel. Place a row of lemons on this, with stalk ends downward, and be very careful that the lemons do not touch. Cover them with another layer of sand about three inches deep, and on this layer place another lot of lemons, and so on until the jar is full. Store in a cool, dry place.

Cook gave me some very good hints on laundry work this morning which I think will interest you. She said when washing fabrics of delicate colors do not rub soap on the articles themselves. Instead, make a suds first, and immerse the piece in it, rubbing gently between the hands. Gingham, whose color is likely to run on the first washing, should previously be soaked in cold water to which a tablespoonful of turpentine has been added.

If colored embroidery is to be washed, the colors can be kept from running, in some instances, by rubbing the piece in a mixture of bran and hot water. Boll half a pint of bran and the same quantity together slowly for 20 minutes, strain and add a pint of boiling water. Squeeze and rub delicate laces in this. Rinse in water to which salt has been added. Dry quickly and do not fold wet pieces as the color is liable to run into the white material.

There are many tricks to sweeping, says Cook, and here are some she told me. There are probably as many ways of sweeping a room as there are women in the world, she says. She heard recently of a woman who believes in dampening her broom with gasoline and sweeping with windows open. Another avers that her bright rugs are due to sprinkling them with coarse salt wet with gasoline before sweeping. Still another tears up strips of newspapers, wrings them out of water and pushes them before her broom. Of course, the carpet sweeper and the vacuum cleaner make it necessary to sweep thoroughly every day, but housewives cling to the theory that there are times when nothing but the broom will do.

To save window cleaning, says Cook, use a dry cloth on the windows once a week and rub them hard. It will keep them just as clean as a lot of time with soap and water. She also says she uses a small handful of sal soda to a pailful of warm water, for cleaning woodwork. Just wet the surface over with sal-soda water and wipe with a clean cloth and clear water.

Cook showed me how to clean enameled ware today. Enameled saucepans that have become discolored by constant use may be rendered perfectly white by treating them in the following manner: Boll them for half an hour in two pints of water to which has been added common soda and some chloride of lime. Afterward wash the articles thoroughly in clean water and they will look like new.

In our house there are many small pieces of toilet soap left which the Cook objects to throwing away. If put aside until there are a good many pieces, she makes out of this accumulation new cakes of soap. Shave the pieces thin and dissolve them in warm water, then to this add three tablespoonfuls of cologne and one of lemon juice. The liquid soap should then be poured into the tops of baking powder tins or some other improvised molds, and when the soap hardens there will be a collection of fat cakes of a good size for use for washing the hands.

Cook says soap can be made out of nothing and goes into something. She says never to throw food away, no matter how small the amount. Save it for soup. Save also all drippings and bones, all water in which vegetables have been boiled and put aside for soup. Add a little barley or tapioca balls soaked over night to the clear soup, a little celery seed, a dash of paprika, salt and pepper, and simmer for half an hour. Sometimes you will want a clear soup. Take broth from the pot roast, and for soup for the next day add noodles.

Cook says to clean brass, first wash it with strong ammonia soap and then with hot water. Dry thoroughly. Then, if it is not clean, rub it with vinegar and salt mixed to a paste. Then polish with tripoli and sweet oil. Household articles of brass cleaned in this way—jardnières, candlesticks, bowls, and the like—will stay clean for months. Wood ashes and lemon juice mixed to a paste and applied with a cloth also removes spots from brass, which should then be polished with a dry chamois or a dry flannel.

Cook tests eggs by filling a wide-bottomed glass tumbler half full of water and laying the egg in it. If the egg is fresh, it will lie flat on the bottom of the tumbler. If it is about three weeks old the big end will be raised slightly above the pointed end. If the egg is three months old, it will stand on the small end, and if older than three months, it will rise to the surface. These periods of time refer to eggs which have been kept in a cool place.

For removing soup stock from the kettle, the Cook bent a glass tube, making a siphon, the short arm reaching into the soup, the long arm, 11 inches, into the sink. This tube she fills with warm water, inserting a cork in the opening of the long arm; then inserts the short arm in the kettle of stock and simply

Has Been Prescribed by Well Known Physician for Many Years.

The infirmities of age are especially manifest in a tendency to constipation, and call for treatment that will afford relief in an easy, natural manner. The rapid action of cathartic remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

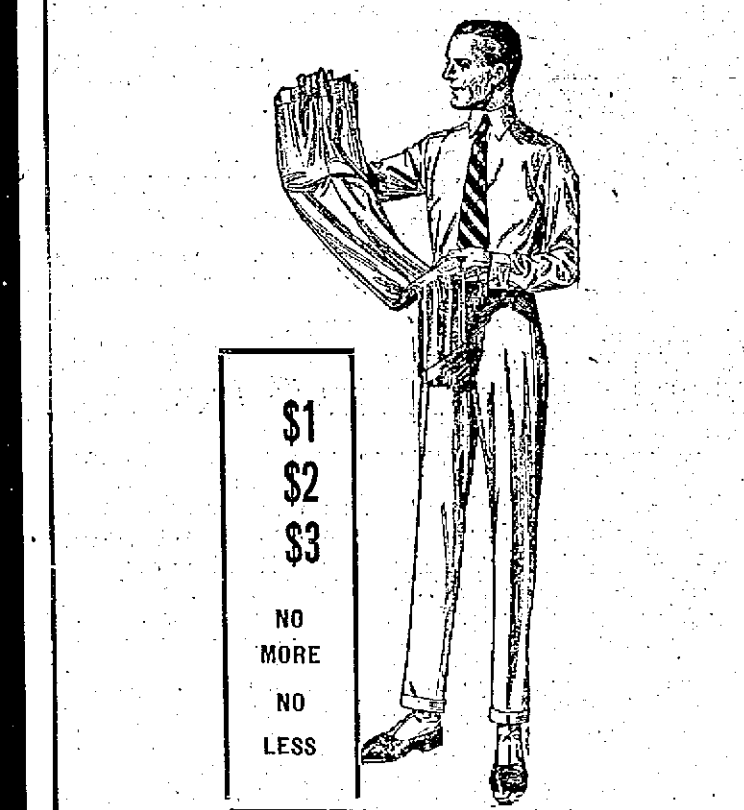

Nearly thirty years ago Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Monticello, Ill., prescribed a compound of simple laxative herbs that has since become in thousands of households a remedy in thousands of homes. It acts easily and gently, with positive effect, without griping or other pain or discomfort. Mrs. Rachel Allen, Galesburg, Kans., is seventy-one years old, and after using a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, wrote that it had done her a world of good and that she intends to keep it in the house always. Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

Favors Military Training and Abolition of the "Pork Barrel" Methods in National Defense

DETROIT, Mich., May 19.—Hundreds of school children waving American flags were among the throng which greeted Theodore Roosevelt at the railway station this forenoon, when he arrived here to be the guest of honor at the American day celebration.

Before Col. Roosevelt was escorted to the Detroit Athletic club at the head of an automobile parade he made a short address to the Boy Scouts, who were lined up in front of the station. He told them he believed in their organization because it taught them to fight for truth and not be "mollycoddles."

After luncheon at the club house Col. Roosevelt spent nearly two hours before going to a local opera house to deliver an address on "Americanism and Preparedness for Peace."

This afternoon Col. Roosevelt was to make a short address to a mass meeting in Grand Circus park, in the heart of the business district. Before he returns to New York late this afternoon, it was announced, he expects to visit Henry Ford.

Col. Roosevelt's Address

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in an address, reiterated his opposition "to all kinds of hyphenated Americanism," advocating universal military service based on universal training, and declared that we must abolish "pork-barrel" methods in our national defense, stop talking and get down to the actual business of thorough preparedness if we are "to make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong."

Colonel Roosevelt prefaced his speech by announcing that he had "come here to Michigan because in the primary for the selection of delegates to the republican national convention, Mr. Ford was victorious, and following on his victory here, he showed a marked popular strength in Nebraska and Pennsylvania. The effect of this showing has been immediately visible upon many of the politicians within and without congress."

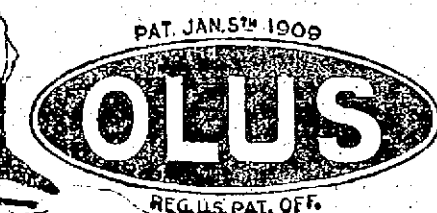

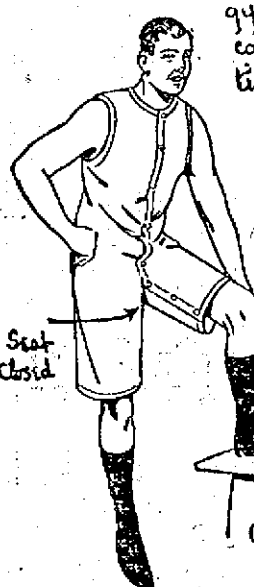

"We, through our representatives at Washington," said Colonel Roosevelt, "have absolutely refused in the smallest degree to prepare during these 22 months of world cataclysm. We have refused to learn the smallest part of the lesson being written on the scroll of torment in Europe. We have fatuously refused to take the smallest step, either to do our duty to ourselves or to do our duty to others. We have endeavored to deceive ourselves by an-announcing that in this policy of supine inaction and of failure to perform duty, we are actuated by the loftiest motives. I doubt whether we have really deceived ourselves, and most certainly we have not deceived others. There is not a nation in the world which believes that our course of conduct has been dictated by anything save timidity, unworthy shrinking from effort and responsibility, and cold and selfish love of money making and of soft ease.

"In any serious crisis there are always men who try to carry water on both shoulders. These men try to escape the hard necessity of choice between two necessarily opposite alternatives, by trying to work up some compromise. In actual practice, this compromise usually proves to combine with exquisite nicety all the defects and none of the advantages of both courses. It is true that in ordinary radical matters compromise is essential. It is true that in ordinary times it is essential. But there come great crises when compromise is either impossible or fatal. This is one of those crises. There is no use in saying that we will fit ourselves to defend ourselves a little, but not much. Such a position is equivalent to announcing that, if necessary, we shall hit, but that we shall only hit soft. The only right principle is to prepare thoroughly or not at all. The only right principle is to avoid hitting if it is possible to do so, but never under any circumstances to hit soft. To go to war a little, but not much, is the one absolutely certain way to ensure disaster. To prepare a little but not much, stands on a par with a city developing a fire department which, after a fire occurs, can put it out a little, but not much."

Colonel Roosevelt declared that the Wilson administration "has taken no step for preparedness, and has done nothing efficient to sustain our national rights." Because, he said, the administration had at intervals "ventured feebly to speak in contradiction of its non-action," the ultra-pacifists and their followers have refused it any whole-hearted support. They object,

Colonel Roosevelt added, "even to make-believe preparedness; they insist on even more thorough-going helplessness than that which we had so amply provided at Washington."

"We must make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong," declared Colonel Roosevelt. "It little matters what our ideals may be and what achievements we may hope for, if these ideals and achievements cannot be reduced to action. The events of the past, and the events of today show that national ideals amount to nothing if the nation lacks the power to maintain them against opposition."

"Therefore, if we are to win at home against those of our fellow citizens who believe in the policy of unpreparedness, that is, of national weakness and inefficiency, we must have strong and well reasoned convictions and express them with strength and sincerity. A considerable part of the strength of Mr. Ford in the primaries, and of the strength of the advocates of half-preparedness at Washington, comes from the fact that no real alternative of policy is offered with sincerity and fearlessness."

In urging "universal military service based on universal training," Colonel Roosevelt said he believed in it because it would be not only of incalculable benefit to the nation in the event of war, but of incalculable benefit to the individuals undergoing it, and therefore to the nation, as regards the work of peace." He continued:

"I believe that the dog-tent would prove a most effective agent for democratizing and nationalizing our life; quite as much so as the public school, and far more so than the American factory and the American city as they are today. Preparedness through universal service would turn out to be the best possible school of practical civics. In such a school all men who are Americans in spirit would get together and learn to work together, so as to insure co-operation among our people in social and industrial life. Such co-operation will secure not merely liberty and opportunity, but also the sense of obligation—which is just as important as the other two."

"We must abolish pork-barrel methods in the army—as regards army posts, navy yards, as regards everything else. Remember that after preparedness has been accepted by the country and the necessary funds voted, the real work will have only begun. England's navy represents over three centuries and Germany's army over two centuries of development along an unbroken line of tradition and progress to the present stage of efficiency. The first and all important essential is to divorce the army and navy organizations absolutely from politics."

Colonel Roosevelt asserted that "the extreme naval party in Germany has recently advocated war with the United States on the ground that in the end, as the result of such a war, we would have to pay all the war expenditures of the Germanic powers and their allies."

"These enormous sums would be raised by taxation on all our citizens," he said; "those of German descent would pay as heavily as those of any other descent; and all would share equally the shame and dishonor. A foreign foe is the foe of all of us alike. If in this land the citizens of one national origin successfully set the fashion of influencing this nation to its own detriment in the interest of the country from which they originally came, sooner or later it is absolutely certain that the citizens of some other national origin will repeat the experiment; and this country will be left degraded and helpless among the nations. If such an event befall us, the bitter bread of humiliation will be eaten by all of those who dwell in this land, no matter what their creed, no matter what their national origin. It will be eaten by your children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren just as much as by mine."

"Americanism is a matter of the spirit, not of birthplace or descent. Among the best Americans I have ever known, among the men closest to me in social and political life, are, and have been, men born in, or men whose fathers were born in, Germany, Ireland, Scandinavian kingdoms, and other European countries. They stand on an exact level with the other Americans, whose ancestors were here in colonial times. We are all part of the same people."

"We all stand together for our common flag and our common country. We must so prepare that this country will be a good place in which the children of all of us shall live, and to do this we must so prepare that we can repel all foreign foes and preserve the inestimable right of settling for ourselves the fate of this mighty democratic republic. But the essence of this policy of full preparedness, which I remember is not only military but is at least as much industrial and social, is that it is the best possible assurance of peace. No nation will ever attack a unified and prepared America."

LOWELL'S HEALTH WEEK

man or woman who can't read to be able to know just what the thing is all about and to reap an equal benefit with those who can read. The picture tells the story and that is why the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has spent so much money on pictures for use in their welfare literature.

The Family's Happiness

The happiness and health of every family, as we read in that very valuable little booklet, "First Aid in the Home," distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, depend upon the members working together for the common good. We all know how much a good mother means for happiness. But perhaps we do not always remember how important the mother is so far as the good health of the family is concerned. As a matter of fact, the condition of the home and its care rest on her shoulders. From the children's earliest days until they are big enough to look out for themselves, the mother looks after them with her tender care. Love cannot be learned, it is true, but love and knowledge do not always go together. The mother has the good will; she should have the necessary knowledge as well and that is just what she can gather and receive by attending these health week exhibits and carrying home with her some of the little booklets so kindly and generously distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The object of these booklets is to teach prevention of disease and injury, when to call the doctor, and the first thing to do when illness threatens or accidents occur in the home. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and the truth of this old adage is more important

so far as disease is concerned than in connection with anything else.

Some Interesting Data

Middlesex hall is replete with interesting data and the lectures scheduled for each afternoon at 3 and Saturday evening at 8 should find hundreds ready to take advantage of an unusual opportunity. The hall is occupied by the Y.M.C.A. exhibit of camp-pictures, gymnastic photographs, and health exercise paraphernalia under the direction of W. A. Bristol, assistant secretary of the association. The Boy Scouts have prepared an interesting corner. They got their tent in position today and if you would see Boy Scout life in all its glory and complete in every detail, just peep in at Middlesex hall. But while the exhibition in Middlesex hall is very interesting it is not as important, of course, as the exhibits and demonstrations on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building and people are urged not to miss these exhibits.

In the Chalfoux building yesterday the demonstrators, assisted by Miss H. Land of the Lowell Guild included a land in scientific bathing. Miss Holland was very much afraid that she would not find a boy who would volunteer as a bath subject. She made application at Boy Scouts headquarters during the forenoon, but the boys did not seem to take very kindly to the idea of being given a bath in public. But she finally found one little fellow who had the necessary courage and he was given the bath of his life.

Men and Microbes
Yesterday afternoon Dr. Joseph A. Mehan gave a lecture on "Men and Microbes," in connection with the health exhibit on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux store. A small, darkened stage was partitioned off, and a number of lanterns arranged for pictures. The audience, which was of encouraging size, included both men and women, and there was close attention paid to the speaker. Dr. Chas. E. Simpson lectured in Middlesex hall during the afternoon on "Insects and Disease."

The guild has hung several interesting placards at the different places in which the demonstrations are being held. One of these reads: "The only air to breathe at night is night air. Breathe it. The only night air not to breathe is last night's air. Open the windows and let it out."

The series of pictures shown by Dr. Mehan were accompanied by valuable suggestions and explanations by the doctor. They showed how diseases are carried by small organisms, and gave many valuable hints on avoiding such transmission of diseases. One picture showed a ordinary country condition, where a typhoid patient occupied one room of the house, near which was a cesspool from the sink, an outhouse, and, in the very worst place that it could be located, at the foot of a slope, the family well.

Dr. Mehan told his water is purified by storage, keeping it perfectly still. It is an erroneous idea, he said, that running water will purify itself. Still water will purify itself, but running water, never. The harmful bacilli must have time to live upon, and when it has devoured all the fifth there is in the water, the bacilli will die and water will become pure.

Charts were shown, indicating the spread of an epidemic down the Merrimack river from Concord to Lowell and Lawrence, when the river water was used for drinking purposes, unfettered.

A picture of an old barn was shown in connection with the doctor's instructions as to the importance of clean milk. A huge pile of manure provided an excellent breeding place for flies, and the flies contaminated the milk.

The Stagnant Pool
A picture of a stagnant pool suggested a good breeding place for mosquitoes, and the doctor said that the spreading of oil on a pool of that kind would result in destroying hundreds of thousands of mosquitoes.

Another picture showed the progress of a fly, from his hatching in the manure heap, through various places of filth, to his final destination, the dinner table.

The danger from public drinking cups was emphasized. It is not safe, he said, to drink from a cup that has been used by others, unless it has been positively sterilized. The very worst diseases that we know of can be contracted innocently. The common towel is also a great spreader of disease. The doctor recommended the use of paper towels in all public places.

Fruits and green vegetables from the market should be thoroughly washed before they are eaten, and a nurse, taking care of a typhoid patient, should not be allowed to carry food to others. She is a positive carrier of typhoid germs.

Closing, the doctor quoted the words of Dr. Pasteur: "It is within the power of men to banish from the world all infectious diseases."

Flies and Filth
Flies are disease carriers. They live and breed in all kinds of filth. Flies infect food and liquids by germs on their feet. Each female fly can lay 150 eggs. Flies should be kept out of dwellings and the following are a few "fly hints" contained on a circular distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in connection with the health exhibits:

The presence of flies is a direct evidence of careless housekeeping and the existence of filth in some form about the premises:

Remember that when and where absolute cleanliness prevails there will be no flies.

Look daily after the garbage cans. See that they are carefully sprinkled with a disinfectant.

Look carefully after the cuspidors; they require constant attention; they should always contain a disinfectant.

Flies feast on tuberculous sputum, and hover around cuspidors. The specks of flies contain live tubercle bacilli after they have eaten tuberculous sputum, showing that the bacilli pass through the digestive tract of the fly in an active, infective state.

Flies carry on their mouths and on their legs disease germs, on which they have recently fed, and then crawl over food, infecting it.

Keep flies from the sick, especially those ill with communicable or contagious diseases.

Do not forget that flies will carry the bacilli of typhoid fever to the food in the kitchen and dining-room. This is no conjecture.

The Spanish-American war proved this fact:

The great secret of how to get rid of flies is cleanliness; sweep all food. Keep receptacles for garbage carefully covered, and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil, lime, or some good disinfectant.

Cover food after a meal.

Screen all windows and doors, especially the kitchen and dining-room.

Don't forget, if you see flies, that their breeding place is near by.

They may be behind the door, under the table or in the cuspidor.

If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies.

If there is a nuisance in the neighborhood write at once to the health department.

SEE HEALTH EXHIBIT

Whether you live in the poorest section in a large tenement block or in a palatial residence in the suburbs, you will find much to interest you in the store at Merrimack and John streets, on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building and in Middlesex hall. In all probability you will find something that you may apply to your own home conditions and to your own family, but if not, you will be taught to take a more lively interest in the needs of others. We are all working for a better Lowell, and we would have a better Lowell if the lessons of the health exhibit were learned generally and as generally applied.

The exhibits in the vacant store near the corner of John street are particularly practical and timely. Here one may see by actual photographs ideal living and home conditions and the contrary; dangerous occupations and first aid; hygiene for the worker; the care of children and evils that must be eliminated; statistics of infant mortality; the result of greater care before birth, at birth and in early infancy, and so on. An electric bulb flashes on in ten seconds and each time it goes out we are told a baby dies, most of them through neglect or ignorance.

The two things emphasized in the Merrimack street exhibit are the need for fighting tuberculosis by modern sanitary methods and child welfare work. Even more impressive than the purely humanitarian appeals is the display of the Metropolitan Insurance company, which is a proof of the importance of health conservation in modern business life. The aid given movements of this kind by insurance companies and other companies is enabling those interested to reach more people than would be possible by a lone effort. The pamphlets given out are the work of experts after scientific investigation, and pictures tell plainly of what has been achieved already. One poster shows a horribly emaciated infant that resembled a skeleton, side by side with another picture of the same infant after he had been fed on mother's milk. The grotesque skeleton had become a plump and lovely child, full of health and smiles. Such examples will live in the memory long after the exhibit as a whole is forgotten.

The free lectures on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building have been a great factor for good, likewise the demonstration of food products and the modifying of milk. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a demonstration of the work of the district nurse, including the bathing of a patient in bed, and there will be practical applications of the truths shown in the child welfare exhibit. The nurses and members of committees in attendance are eager to explain the exhibits to the public, and the educational appeal of the movement is apparent to the most heedless.

The first aid demonstrations given by the boys of the Y.M.C.A. and the Boy Scouts in Middlesex hall do not meet such a general need as the others, but they are a commendable feature. Whether as proofs of the good that can be done by healthy boys who have been taught to reverence discipline, or as a lesson to be remembered, this phase of the campaign has its place in rounding out an impression of satisfaction.

OUR FLAG IN TRADE

For years, Americans who have toured the world have said on coming home that to their immense disappointment they have seen the flags of all nations except the United States in foreign ports. This was in spite of the fact that we were almost at the head of all commercial nations. Unless the unforeseen occurs we shall soon lead all trading powers, and it can never be said again that the American flag does not float on the seven seas.

We have not yet established our merchant marine, a bill for which is now in congress, but we have made a good beginning. According to the watchful and dependable department of commerce, 368 vessels, with a tonnage of more than 1,000,000 are now in process of construction or are under contract in American yards. Of these 221 are for salt water trade and 147 for lakes and rivers. The department says that these figures denote the greatest shipbuilding activity in our history, and that every shipbuilding plant is working to capacity. Since then announcement has been made that new plants are being established.

Some papers of a partisan brand try to argue from the above condition that a government owned merchant marine is unnecessary, but they willfully ignore the fact that the administration has from the first declared its belief in private enterprise and advocated the government ships only as a temporary measure. In spite of the fact that ships are being built as quickly as the shipyards can turn them out, business calls for more and more, and should it come to pass that private capital will supply a sufficient number, the government would instantly withdraw. We are to have a great many ships in the future, but we will yet have a shortage. This surely speaks well for business and denotes a measure of prosperity in the near future such as has not been anticipated by the most sanguine.

ATTRACTING SKILLED WORKERS

The Sun has been calling the attention of its readers to the crying necessity for desirable homes in this city, not so much to meet the needs of our population but to attract out-of-town workers. An item in a recent edition of a Bridgeport paper will illustrate our point of view:

In Chicopee Falls, Mass., lives a workman—a skilled mechanic—who earns $28 a week. He is married and has four children. He was attracted by an advertisement telling of the great opportunities for men in Bridgeport, Conn., and like many others he went to investigate. He soon found the kind of a job he wanted after which would pay him $40 a week. Before moving, he looked round for a home, but was unable to find one suitable. Being devoted to his family and anxious that they should have every possible advantage, he decided that he was better off in Chicopee Falls, and so he went back to his $28 job.

Now, this one individual is representative of a large class, and it is the class that Lowell should strive to attract. When a man from another city thinks of coming to Lowell to work, he considers more than the job and the salary. He tries to find out if it is a good place to live in and to bring up a family. Unless he can get a good home, at a reasonable rent, convenient to schools, etc., and with all the advantages of a live, progressive city, he may be contented to remain where he is. If we wish to have workers of the better kind—and we need them in many of our industries—we must make it worth their while to come here.

This fact should not be lost sight of by the committee of the board of trade which is now studying Lowell's housing problems. Herein is one of the strongest arguments for annexation which The Sun believes not only desirable but necessary if Lowell is to make the most of its opportunities. We claim that Lowell is a "city of opportunity"; let us put our belief into practice by making others see better living and working opportunities here than they have elsewhere.

WAR'S LASTING EFFECTS

This country knows only too well that war has brought many changes of a burdensome nature, but most of these changes will not prove permanent. The shortage of dyes, of leather, of paper and of many other materials; the increasing cost of much needed commodities; the substitution of inferior for the better, class of goods; the curtailment of imports, etc., all will pass, but other results will remain, and the world shall not again be what it was. In some ways, it may be worse, but in many ways it will be better.

Taxation burdens will have to be reckoned with, and the loss of men and money, but there will be compensation. In face of foes from without, all of the belligerents have recognized the need for social justice within and there shall be a growth of democracy such as has not hitherto been. France shall have seen the evils of irreligion; England shall have a greater sense of mass equality; Germany may rebel against military arrogance and domination; Russia may advance in civilization and remove the bars that make her subject races disloyal. The smaller peoples, Poland, Serbia, Ireland, and races such as the Jews and the Armenians have prospects of a brighter future, and the world that has been tried in the fires of war may face a brighter era than seemed possible a decade ago.

On the other hand, it is possible that the war may go on until all of the great powers are exhausted, and it is hard to see how anything but evil will all can come from such an exterminating conflict.

READ THE ADS.

The advertisements of a daily paper are something more than a commercial record published by merchants and manufacturers for selfish purposes. They are a record of the time, in every sense. We get to used to them that we do not realize it, but if we want proof we have only to look at an old newspaper. Occasionally a copy of a paper of half a century ago comes to this office. Its news columns tell of the movements of the age and its editorials show how public opinion was tending, but the real interest is in the advertisements. So shall it be in the future. Fifty years hence, men in Lowell will occasionally take copies of papers published in Lowell today and they will read of the enterprising merchants who now advertise their wares. They will find humor in much that will appear primitive, and they will comment on the changing fashions, for nowhere is there a commentary of change better than the changing advertisements. One who ponders on this can easily realize why Mark Twain protested against the cutting out of advertisements in magazines mailed to him. To be sure no argument is needed to show the public why they should read advertisements in order to get the best value for their money. Those who read them know their value and as for the others—well, where ignorance is costly, 'tis foolish to be stubborn.

AN AUTHORS' UNION

We have actors' unions and musicians', and now we may have authors'. We are told that the Authors' League of America, of which Winston Churchill is president and Theodore Roosevelt vice-president, is considering the advisability of joining the American Federation of Labor. Thus does progress go marching on—and why not?

Yet, one cannot accept the statement without at least one look back and another look forward, and then a wondering feeling as to what the Authors' union can do. The look back recalls Goldsmith, Thompson, Keats, Burns, Chatterton, Hawthorne, Mangham, and all that mighty host who wrote best when they were poorest and most abject, and who would scarcely have written at all were it not for the good of necessity. Wonder would they have done as well if they belonged to a union?

The look forward visualizes the literary world of the future with everything laid out by rule. No longer shall long-haired poets labor in barren garrets, and no longer shall fledgling editors fill yawning waste baskets with the first fruits of budding genius. Out shall come the union card with a proof of dues paid up to date and the article shall be accepted at union prices. It will be a good day for the

When Clarence Sutcliffe, aged 12, of Aurora, Ill., found he needed an auto, he made one. It works. It has a real gasoline engine of one quarter of a horsepower, electrical sparking device and other needed machinery all put together by Clarence in his own workshop in the back yard.

No great war of our time has ended during the winter months, nor, with the exception of the Russo-Japanese war, has any begun then. For a century all wars have begun in the union, but how about literature? There are many who think that just as the unions were good for the musician and bad for music, so should a union prove in another profession where genius does not apportion itself according to any law or rule.

BERNSTORFF'S ADVICE

Through her secretary here, Germany has asked all Germans in this country to observe American laws to the letter and to do nothing that might get Germany in wrong with the American people. It is excellent advice and it ought to be followed, but does it not come rather late? Had von Bernstorff said as much a year ago or sooner and repeated it at stated intervals, Germany might have spared much controversy that hurt her cause, and it is questionable if any single violation of American laws by German agents and sympathizers helped Germany in a military sense. If Germany is sincere in this latest appeal she shows a more sane attitude than at any time since the war started, and she may well wish to be saved from some of her friends who have hurt her more than her enemies—in this country.

People still plant ornamental trees and shrubs around their homes, but what is more ornamental than an apple tree at all times of the year? Just now the trees are the brides of the orchard, covered with pink-tipped blossoms; soon they will bear clusters of green fruit and then will come the fragrant richness of autumn. Even in winter, their gnarled trunks have a character that seems appropriate in this New England, the home of the best apples in the world.

A lecturer in Boston a few evenings ago talked on "The Modern Newspaper and What It Stands For." Among other things he said that Shakespeare was a poor reporter and would not last a week on a live paper of today. He did not state whether the reflection is on Shakespeare or the paper but, be that as it may, the modern newspaper has to "stand for" a great deal.

These strike riots here and there may be merely the prosperity pimples that indicate rich blood in the body politic.

SEEN AND HEARD

Mrs. Mary Woolsey of Omaha, Neb., claims the title of champion mother. At 22 she is the mother of seven children, six of whom are living, and the stepmother of seven. She is five feet tall and weighs 120 pounds. When she was 14 years old she married a widower with seven children.

When Clarence Sutcliffe, aged 12, of Aurora, Ill., found he needed an auto, he made one. It works. It has a real gasoline engine of one quarter of a horsepower, electrical sparking device and other needed machinery all put together by Clarence in his own workshop in the back yard.

No great war of our time has ended during the winter months, nor, with the exception of the Russo-Japanese war, has any begun then. For a century all wars have begun in the

TWO MOTHERS TELL

How Their Sickly Children Were Made Strong and Well

"For six years our little girl suffered from a bronchial trouble, she had no appetite, could not sleep and was so nervous we had to keep her in bed. The doctors said nothing but a change of climate would help her. We were discouraged, when one day a friend asked us to try Vinol, and after taking six bottles she does not look like the same child. She has a fine appetite, is lively, healthy and well, and Vinol did it all."—Mrs. E. E. Hufford, Iola, Kas.

tere, but suggested that the child pray for her feather friends. Presently noting that a serenity had succeeded the affair, he asked for late details of the affair.

"O, it's all right, mamma," came the prompt and smiling response. "I've fixed it three ways. First, I asked God to make Johnny a better boy, so he wouldn't want to be trapping the poor little birds, then I prayed that the poor little birds would get into that trap, and then I went out and kicked the darned old trap to pieces."

What the Fishes! When Auditor of State Vic Donahoy and six of his 10 children had returned from Sunday school he tried the children out on the lesson.

"Say, dad, inquired one of the youngsters, who is especially precocious, "did the fishes in the water die, too?"

"This was a puzzle for the auditor. He told the lad that he would answer the question later. Answering questions right off the bat is one of the auditor's attributes of the auditor, but the one the boy asked stumped him.—Columbus Dispatch.

PAY FOR SEIZED PROPERTY

Persons who owned property seized by the city for school purposes in Kirk and Anne streets were yesterday notified by the city solicitor tendering to them the amounts of money awarded some months ago by the municipal council. This form was carried out in all instances where payment has not been accepted. In addition to the awards, which in all instances were the assessed valuations of the property, there was tendered 6 per cent interest on the amount involved from Oct. 9 up to the present time, and costs of action, where action was taken, against the city.

HOME FOLKS! WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS SAY.

Boston, Mass.—"My husband took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery when he was convalescing after a serious operation. It helped build him up wonderfully and he has not had a sick day since. I feel that he owes his strength to this medicine and am glad to recommend it as a splendid tonic and strength builder."

—Mrs. Wm. Sloan, 504 E. 6th St., S. Boston, Mass.

(Note—If you write now, send only 3 dimes to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for this 1000-page cloth-bound book.)

Now is the time to bring to your aid Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (in tablet or liquid form). This wonderful remedy helps to restore the stomach to its natural health and strength and to secure proper flow of the digestive juices, a good appetite and full digestion of the food you eat. It invigorates the liver, regulates the bowels and purifies and enriches the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is absolutely free from alcohol and injurious drugs. You can take it and be certain you will find it a true blood-maker, tissue-builder, and restorative nerve tonic and that it will produce no end after-effect.

Thousands—probably many of your own neighbors—are willing to recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because it has made them stronger in body, brain and nerve.

You can get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form from dealers in medicines or send Dr. Pierce 10c for large trial package.

Constipation causes and seriously aggravates many diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pills. One a day; two or three a cathartic.

P. F. Sullivan, General Manager.

In those days, too, one could ride for less than five cents per fare by buying a $2 trip book which gave him 44 rides. Comparatively few of those who paid a quarter to go to Lakeview quarter of a century ago, took advantage of the ride on the lake, except to get over to Mountain Rock. Both Lakeview and Mountain Rock attracted great crowds. Lakeview had many attractions and a fine dining room, while Mountain Rock was the scene of many a big outing and ball game and boasted of a first class zoo. The town of Tyngsboro, put Mountain Rock out of commission, to get square with the street railway people, for not giving a five cent fare from Lowell to Tyngsboro, by refusing the company a license for the place. As a result, today there is no such place as Mountain Rock, outside of the name, while the people of Tyngsboro have the distinction of paying a nickel for the shortest street car ride for the money in the whole wide world. (From the Country club to the end of the line). Strange as it may seem Lakeview went down when the price of car fare thereto went down. When the company charged 25 cents to get there and back, Lakeview prospered and was a paying proposition. But since the fare was lowered to five cents each way, the grove has not been such a success as it was formerly, as is probably known to all, and if the company's expert is to be believed is a failure at the present time.

THE OLD TIMER.

LOWELL SOCIALIST CLUB

At a meeting of the Lowell Socialist club, held last evening at 36 Central street, resolutions were passed in which Hon. John Jacob Rogers was asked to use his influence to prevent a breach of the friendly relations between this country and Mexico.

There will be a public meeting at 36 Central street on May 25, with Miss Grace V. Silver as speaker. The usual street meeting will be held next Monday evening at Jackson and Central streets with William E. Sproule as speaker.

CHURCH SOCIABLES

The second annual play under the auspices of the S. C. club of the Highland Congregational church was given last evening in the church vestry, the title of the play being "Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," a three-act comedy from the pen of Evelyn Gray Whitney. Those who took part in the cast were Miss Elsie Bradt, Walter McLean, Elliott McLean, Miss Marion Yagerhorn, Miss Virginia Sargent, Irving Kimball, Donald Hanson, Gladys Dodge, Pearl Ealy, Miss Bessie Adams and Miss Harriet Smethurst.

Palmer Street Church

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society of the Palmer Street Baptist church was held last evening in the church parlors. At the close of the business meeting, supper was served by Mrs. Mun and Mrs. S. C. Pillsbury, and an entertainment program was given, those taking part being Master Wesley Boynton, Miss Marion McCord, Rodrick Gendreau and Vera Brooks Brown.

ELGIN LODGE MEETING

The regular meeting of Elgin lodge, No. 165, N.E.O.P., was held last night in Veritas hall in Branch street. There was a large attendance, and considerable routine business was transacted. Deputy Grand Warden Elizabeth Gahm of Cambridge made an official visit. She was accompanied by her suite which included: Deputy Grand Guide Mrs. Mayhew, Deputy Grand Chaplain Mr. Mayhew, Mrs. Clare Williams of Crystal lodge, Haverhill; Mr. Smith of Talbot lodge, Billerica, and Thomas Frost and Mrs. Porter of Echo lodge, this city. Other Echo lodge members were also present. All the visitors gave brief remarks and a social hour followed, during which refreshments were served.

Mr. Pearson seems to be the right man in the right place. And it only remains for the other members of the party to rally to his aid in leading the democracy to victory."

And they rallied, all right, and the following year with the help of a large number of democrats in different parts of the country, they elected Grover Cleveland president, and Hon. Moses T. Stevens, congressman, and subsequently the youthful chairman of the democratic city committee received the appointment as postmaster, and the democratic goose hung high.

And what now? Though another democrat is president and still another is postmaster, the boy, oh, where is he? Hitting the trail of terrible Teddy, with the city committee's treasurer of quarter of a century ago also gone from the fold. Sic transit!

Alpines Join Us

The Alpine club passes into the quarter of a century class at this writing as the following little announcement in the old Sun will show:

When Things Were Good

Says the old Sun:

"The Shaw Stocking company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 1 per cent, and has elected the following directors: F. J. Dutcher, president; Josiah Butler, treasurer; Earl A. Thissell, J. H. Sawyer, F. B. Shedd and Edward W. Thomas."

In those days the "Shawknit" stocking with the trademark of the seamless double heel was famous the country over. It was one of the pioneer seamless stockings, and made a big hit with a field all its own for a number of years.

Old Tyng's Island

The Sun, quarter of a century ago announced:

"The D. L. Page company has leased Tyng's island and is prepared to accommodate picnic parties. Mr. George Wiggin and wife have charge of the catering and this alone is a guarantee that it will be well conducted. The boat runs at 10 a. m., 2:30 and 7 p. m. Returning at 2:30, 5:30 and 9. Last boat on Sunday at 7."

The "Island" was the scene of many a lively and not a few wild events in days gone by, before the Vesper Country club took possession of it and quarter of a century ago it was just beginning to lose its popularity as a picnic grove.

Combined Street Railways

The statement made at the legislative hearings on the Bay State's petition for the privilege of raising the price of fares, to the effect that Lakeview, Mountain Rock and other groves owned by that company are in paying propositions, recalls the days when Lakeview and Mountain Rock were in the height of their prosperity, just quarter of a century ago. On June 1, 25 years ago the old Lowell and Dracut and Lowell Horse Railways combined and became the Lowell and Suburban, and here's the advertisement that appeared in the old Sun preceding the consolidation:

CONSOLIDATION

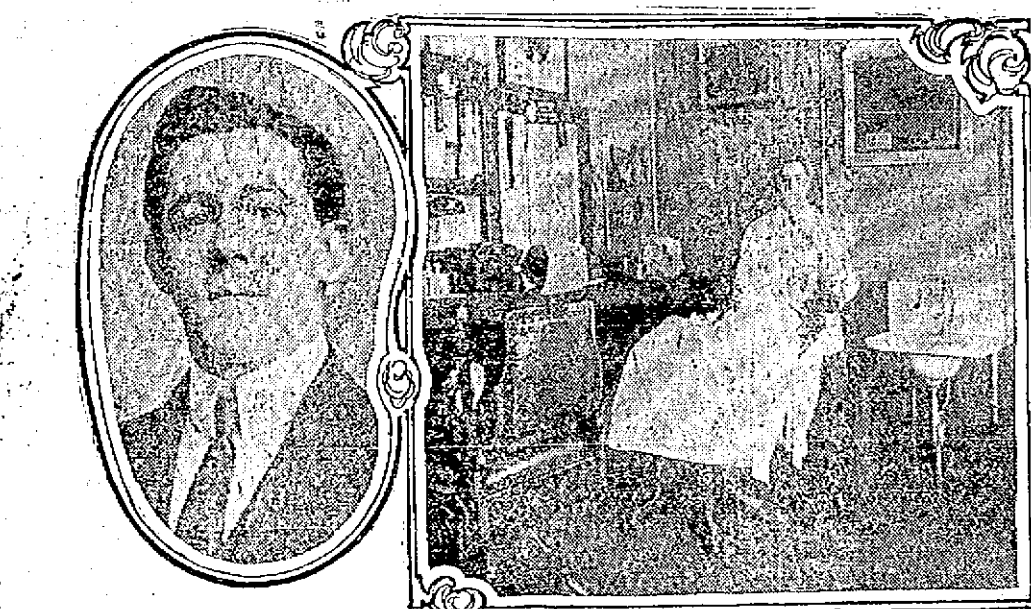

On and from June 1 next, the street cars now operated by the Lowell Horse Railway company and the Lowell and Dracut Street Railway company will be operated as the Lowell and Suburban Street Railway company. Until further notice the routes will be as follows:

From Broadway to Centralville and

Has Now Returned to Work After Two Years in Hospital, Declares
It's No Secret—Public Should Know Facts

MR. THOMAS B. BRENNAN

INTERIOR OF BARBER SHOP SHOWS MR. BRENNAN AT WORK

"What! A statement about my case? Well, it's no secret, and although I dislike publicity I think the public should know the facts: it may be the means of relieving others afflicted as I was," said Thomas B. Brennan, as he put the finishing touches to the close shave that the old gentleman requested.

"I have been working for more than a year and came direct from the hospital after spending two years in that institution. Don't look like a very sick man, do you? Don't look like a man that spent considerable time in a wheel chair, do you? In 1910 I contracted what the doctors called Arthritis Deformans, or rheumatism of the joints. The disease involved my toes, feet, knee, hip, neck, shoulders, arms, and fingers. Both arms were deformed and I could move them but very little on account of the stiffness and pain.

"Read this," he said, passing over a legal looking document, which proved to be the hospital physician's certificate describing Mr. Brennan's case, and read as follows:

PHYSICIAN'S AFFIDAVIT

Thomas B. Brennan has been in the hospital since March 2, 1911, and is suffering from Arthritis Deformans. Left arm is flexed at the elbow joint and is completely ankylosed, movements of left shoulder much limited. Right arm is flexed at elbow joint and motion much limited, movements of right shoulder are also much limited. Left hip is partly ankylosed. There is considerable thickening of the neck and marked limitation of all movements of the head. He is totally disabled from performing manual labor, and the disease has progressed during the time he has been in the hospital and does not respond to treatment.

Signed, _____ Dr. _____ Hospital, _____, Mass.

The doctor's certificate was made out by a government physician, in order for Mr. Brennan to secure a pension, as he was a member of Co. I, 42d Reg. Inf. Vol. It proves his case a severe one and entitles him to hospital treatment. This certificate may be seen by anyone calling at Mr. Brennan's house, 3 Cherry st., Medford, Mass.

"At the time I secured the doctor's certificate I was ready to apply for a pension, but hearing of the recovery of a number of people who suffered from this same disease, some of them just as helpless, I investigated and found the remedy to be Var-ne-sis," and he continued, "I thought if it would do as much for these people, why wouldn't it do the same for me?"

"I immediately started to take Var-ne-sis while in the hospital, in spite of the fact that other patients ridiculed me for taking a remedy that was advertised to the public. I wanted results and didn't care what was said as long as I regained my health. These karmic people soon saw an improvement and as I gradually recovered, became as enthusiastic about Var-ne-sis as myself. After taking the remedy nine months and finding myself strong enough, I suggested to my doctor that I was going to work. He said, 'Bosh; you'll be back in 30 days flat on your back.' However, I left the hospital in July and came directly to work here at my trade."

Investigate this case. Get the doctor's name and the name of the hospital where he spent two years, a great part of the time in a wheel chair.

It is the duty of every rheumatic sufferer to investigate the truth of this statement. If not true it is the duty of the authorities to investigate.

Send to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass., for the 16-page booklet—It's Free. Get Var-ne-sis Now—today—at all reliable druggists. Tell your druggist to get Var-ne-sis for you from his wholesaler or send to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.—Advertisement.

CUKE BROKE UP GAME

Home Run in Eighth Won Fast Game for Lowell By Score of 4 to 3

"Cuke" Barrows' home run clout high over the right field fence settled the Lowell-Hartford game at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon, giving Lowell the one run needed to put the game on "ice." "Cuke" came to the bat in the eighth inning with the score tie, no one on the bases and one man out. Gero, the Hartford twirler, hurled the first ball straight over the plate. Barrows swung from the left side hard and true and the ball went sailing, almost on a line, over the right field fence just a few yards to the right of the old $50 target which is now being rebuilt. Only 10 or a dozen cracks have been sent over the right field fence inside the foul line in the history of Spaulding park and very few, if any, were as long as the one yesterday.

Though the weather was cold, the game was fast throughout and before the home run came in the eighth inning fans were predicting an overtime game. Each pitcher was touched up for 10 hits and honors were about even. Lowell and Hartford each had one error, Torphy slipping up on a hard hit grounder and Gero dropping a throw while covering first base.

First Inning
The visitors showed signs of life right at the start and succeeded in scoring one run while the home team failed to send a man over the plate. Smith, the first man up for Hartford, hit to Lohman and died at first. Spires

Second Inning
Neither side scored in the second inning. Briggs opened with a fly to Stimpson. Wagner hit an easy grounder to Lohman who threw to first for the second out. Skiff struck out.

Third Inning
In the third session Lowell tied the score. Gero started out by fanning the breeze and Smith followed with a fly to Torphy. Spires made his second single to left field. Duggan hit to Torphy who threw to Downey forcing Spires at second.

Fourth Inning
Hartford scored again in the fourth inning. Gorman opened with a single to left field and went to second on Reed's sacrifice. Briggs walked. Wagner sent a grounder to Torphy and was retired at first. Skiff struck out and Gorman scored the second run for the visitors, but a little later Gero went out on a grounder which Downey gathered in and threw to first.

Fifth Inning
Lowell tied the score in the fifth inning when Kilhullen scored on Lord's single to left field.

Sixth Inning
Smith opened with a single to left field and Spires went out on a grounder to Lohman. Duggan died to Barrows in right. Gorman bunted to Downey and failed to reach first.

Seventh Inning
Torphy gathered in Snyder's grounder and threw the latter out at first. Gero followed with a single to right center. Smith hit to Torphy who threw to Downey forcing Gero at second. Smith then stole second. Spires doubled between Kane and Stimpson scoring Smith. This was the former Lowell man's third hit in the game. Torphy fumbled Duggan's drive. Duggan reaching first, Spires going to third. Spires and Duggan then attempted a double steal and Spires was nailed at the plate. Torphy to Kilhullen.

Eighth Inning
Gorman died at first on his grounder to Downey. Reed hit to Munn who tagged first for a put out. Briggs hit a hot one to Downey and the Lowell second baseman threw him out at first.

Ninth Inning

A perusal of the mass welding records bring out a peculiarity. It uncovers the fact that the majority of the greatest sluggers the game has produced have been right-handed hitters, yet the bulk of high percentage hitters are left-handers.

The left-handed batting stars for the most part are speedy afoot, the right handers are clumsy to an extreme, most of the right-handers have been big men; the left-handers run to the diminutive on the average.

Old Cap. Anson was a right-hander. So was Ed Delahanty, who could drive a ball as far as any man in the game. Lajoie and Wagner, the veterans, are starboard clouters. "Cactus" Crandall, who lammed the fences over and over last summer, is a right-hander. Fred Merkle, the long distance banger of the Giants, is a right-hander. "Piano Legs" Hickman, famous slugger of a few years ago, was a right-handed swinger.

On the other hand, Cobb is a south-paw clouter. So are Collins, Baker, Kauff, Speaker, Daubert, Luderus and Doyle. With the exception of Baker and Luderus all are fast men. Excepting those two, none can be classed as a terrific slugger, at least none is an all-around star.

They hit the ball hard and far—but it is their speed that enables them to take into themselves each year a husky average. Once upon a time Wilbert Robinson, the brainy Dodger leader, was asked: "If a youngster, aspiring to become a big leaguer, asked you from which side he should swing at a ball, what would you tell him?"

Robinson, who has been in baseball since 1882, answered: "My first advice to him would be to swing from the side in which he packed the most shoulder power. That's the main essential in hitting. In cases where a youngster has almost equal power in his shoulders I would advise that he bat left handed, especially if he were somewhat speedy."

great advantage there is in hitting left handed.

As to Lajoie and Wagner.

And then the subject was shifted to Lajoie and Wagner.

"How much better do you think those two men would have batted if they had been left-handed hitters—and fast afoot?"

"From 29 to 40 points each season during their prime," answered Robby.

"Both men rank among the greatest sluggers the game has produced. They never scored fluke hits. When they made safeties they earned them by terrible walloping."

"At least 25 times each season Lajoie and Wagner have been beaten out of hits to the infield because they arrived at first just a fraction of a second behind the ball. That means the stride. Batting from the left side would have put that stride in their favor and those outs would have been hits."

"But both these men are normal right-handers. They have the real swinging power in their shoulders. Had they shifted to the port side they would have sacrificed their

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

Barrows' circuit clout which decided yesterday's game was certainly a beauty. "Coke" has sent the sphere over the right field fence at Spaulding park more than any other one player, but none of his clouts was hit any harder than the one yesterday. It is remarked that if Barrows had got his batting eye there would be nothing to it for Lowell.

Heinie Wagner played a fast fielding game, but didn't get a hit. Kane robbed him of what looked like a triple by running almost to the fence in deep centre.

George Spikes, who went from Lowell to Hartford about a week ago, played a fine game. Besides collecting two singles and a double he made a couple of nice plays at second.

First Baseman Smith made quite a record. He made all of the put-outs in the first two innings, the first five being made unassisted.

Downey hit the ball hard yesterday, getting two singles. He also accepted 10 chances without an error.

Weaver who was traded to New Haven by Connie Mack, had one bad inning in the game against Lynn yesterday and lost, 9 to 4.

All of the six runs scored in the Springfield-Lawrence game were the result of home runs, each team getting two.

Worcester defeated Bridgeport and jumped from 10th to seventh place.

Every day the Lowell team is idle on account of the weather. It costs the owners about 200 men-days, $100 as a guarantee to the visitors and about $100 in salaries.

Danny Murphy, the New Haven manager who appeared here last week with seven or eight pitchers, has released Wilson and Cook. Both of these hurlers worked for a short time in one of the games against Lowell. Donovan, who held the locals to four hits Saturday, will be retained.

Although authorities in New Haven have refused to permit Sunday baseball, Owner Collins of the club will receive $100 for every game played by the semi-professional Colonials against clubs from organized baseball. This is the fee the New Haven owner is to receive for the invasion of his property.

Clinton fans are planning to give Manager Billy Hamilton of the Worcester club a hearty send-off. The manager of the Boosters made his baseball start in Clinton and brought fame to the town by his long and successful career on the diamond. The project, as it is being planned, will include a street parade in Clinton and excursion to Worcester. An effort will be made to have the Clinton mills shut down for the afternoon.

Word comes from Bridgeport that Manager Ball will protect the action of Umpire Doherty in forfeiting the Lawrence-Bridgeport game to Jesse Burdett's boys Monday because the latter were an hour late on account of other day when 57 runs were scored. 52 hits lined out and 31 errors committed. There's certainly no comparison between such baseball and the kind given the fans in the old New England league days.—Manchester Union.

The Lawrence-Sun American apologized for not having any opening day exercises in that city by explaining that the management had a band at the park on Saturday "so that the real fans could take a hand." While this would indicate that real fans only attend games on Saturday, how are the 30 or more who turned out in the cold rain last Monday to be classed?

WITH THE PADDED MITTS
Benny Leonard and Johnny Kilbane have been offered a tempting purse to appear before the Philadelphia club, but it is not likely that the offer will be accepted, as the managers of both men will wait and see what the Gotham promoters are willing to give for this match. Leonard's share of the purse is reported to be $5000 if he accepts. These two boxers dashed over in New York some time ago with Leonard getting the verdict in the majority of newspapers after a tame ten-round scrap.

George "Kid" Cotton, who put up a miserable showing against John Lester Johnson at Lawrence a few months ago, is scheduled to fight against Rough House Wares of Memphis, Tenn., in an all-star show at the Vanderbilt A. C. of Brooklyn tonight. Both men have felt the impact of Sam Langford's bats and have been knocked out by "Ho-Ho" in short order.

Young Labore, the hard hitting Manchester boxer, is matched to meet Paul Demers the kayo king of New Bedford at the Whaling City on May 21st, in a 12-round contest. Demers is reported to be a terrific hitter, but he will find that Labore won't back away from his punches and it seems likely that Demers will know that he has been in a quarrel after the Manchester scrapper gets through with him.

Walter Butler of Revere opposes Geo. Alger of Cambridge tonight in the feature bout before the Commercial A. C. of Boston. Both boxers are well known in this city, having appeared here in bouts and each created a favorable impression. Alger met Gilbert Gallant a few years ago at the Dulton street arena and gave the rugged Gallant an unpleasant evening only to have a draw verdict hung up. Butler has shown three times, twice as a preliminary boy and once in a main event, against Harry Condon. Alger is now handled by Alce McLean, who formerly looked after Gallant's business.

Andy Cortez appointed Willie Houck in their 15 round bout last Monday night at Ardmore, Md. It was one of the hardest fought battles ever staged in Ardmore and the fans clamored for the match-maker to rematch the pair for another bout.

The bout between Battling Reddy and Al Shubert did not materialize last evening as Manager Crilly called off his show when he heard Reddy was injured in his bout with Pal Moore the night before at Thornton, R. I. These boys will box at the Unity club in two weeks and a hard rugged bout is looked for by the fans. They met a short time ago and Shubert was awarded a verdict not entirely to his credit as Reddy beat him practically all the way. A draw would have robbed the little New Yorker, who fought like a champion against the New Bedford slugger.

PHILLIES ANSWER SUIT
PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—The Philadelphia Baseball club of the National league filed its answer in the United States district court here to the suit brought by the Baltimore club of the Federal league to recover $300,000 damages for the alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The answer of the Philadelphia club denies generally and specifically some of the charges in the plaintiff's bill, denies knowledge of the others and demands that the Baltimore club submit proper proof.

The other defendants, including all the clubs of the National and American leagues, members of the National Baseball commission, and James A. Gilmore, Charles Weeghman and Harry Sinclair of the Federal league, are also expected to file answers shortly.

GIBBONS BEATS LEWIS

NEW YORK, May 19.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul outboxed Ted ("Kid") Lewis of England in a 10-round contest last night. Lewis weighed 143 pounds and Gibbons 152½. It was a hard fight, but invariably Gibbons was the aggressor. His left jab and hooks went home with telling effect.

Lewis put up a splendid defense. In the first and third rounds he boxed him even terms, and in the eighth round had the better of long range. However, he could not overcome Gibbons' cleverness.

BIG TRACK MEET

N. E. Intercollegiate Athletic Asso. Holds 29th Annual Meeting

SPRINGFIELD, May 19.—The athletic strength of the New England colleges, except Harvard and Yale, was represented today on Pratt field, where the New England Intercollegiate Athletic association began its 29th annual track and field championship meeting. Weather conditions were favorable.

Four hundred undergraduates were in the 1000 entries for individual honors. The initial tests of strength, speed and skill, however, were expected to reduce this number to a group of proven athletes in most of the events who tomorrow will extend their rivalry to a determination of the actual point winners.

Whether a majority of those points will go to Dartmouth college as they have in all but one of the meetings in the past ten years to the University of Maine, or to Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was expected to be indicated by the success of these three teams in qualifying athletes today. Followers of the games generally were agreed that Dartmouth and Maine were most likely to figure in the anticipated close battle for the championship, but the Institute team was thought to be a contender. The list of events for the day included the two dash events, the hurdles, the 440 and the 800-yard runs, and tests of elimination in all six field events. The performances in the latter group will stand for consideration in the final reckoning and the winner of a championship today may be determined by a jump, a throw or a leap.

Several new championship records were considered probable. Athletes in the field events in other meets this season have surpassed the present marks, and the track was in condition to reward fleet athletes with new records in the running events. Seventeen colleges were included in the entries for the meet but it was understood that the Bates college athletes had withdrawn. Besides the principal contenders for the title, Holy Cross, Bowdoin and Brown had particularly strong teams. Colby, Williams, Amherst, Tufts, Trinity, Wesleyan, University of Vermont, Middlebury, Massachusetts Agricultural college and Worcester Polytechnic institute also sent representatives.

BALL GROUNDS SOLD

Charlie Keyes, the popular auctioneer, was very much in evidence as a baseball manager, this week when he was selected to close the history of the battle grounds of the Brockton baseball club. Charlie was the manager and the last to preside over the grounds. When he got through with the property was sold to John O'Donnell, the old ball player, to make a complete job Charlie will return soon and sell the park in house lots.

NEBES BEAT McLEAN

Albert Nebes, the speedy roller skater, won his three mile race against "Spider" McLean of Bath, Me., at the "Rolling" last evening by about three laps. The time was 11 minutes, 44 seconds. As McLean defeated Nebes on the same track a few years ago, the result of the race was a surprise to the skating fans.

Nebes and McLean will meet tonight in their second race, a distance of five miles. As McLean claims to be an endurance specialist, he counts on squaring accounts with Nebes in the longer distance.

If Nebes wins from McLean, he says he is going after the world's championship title.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

The Giants met it eight straight yesterday and climbed to sixth place.

The Cleveland leaders battled Walter Johnson hard and won, 4 to 2.

Alexander brought the Phillies within dangerous distance of first place by whitewashing the Pirates.

Myers, Connie Mack's young find, pitched the Athletics to victory once again.

Shotton, the Browns' left fielder, was the heavy hitter in the majors yesterday, securing four singles and George Foster in five trips to the plate.

Cleveland fans believe the Speaker-Grandy-Smith combination to be the greatest both on attack and defense, in the major leagues. The trio has certainly been the biggest kind of a factor in the regeneration of the Indians.

For the first time in his career, Hans Wagner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was sent to the minors for being too hot. Chiefly Manager Callahan has no favorites.

The Cardinals in the first division, and the Braves in the cellar, are being scribbled on panning fingers for all they are worth. Owner Phil Ball of the Browns is also receiving his share of the journalistic fire. The Cardinals and the Browns are glad they didn't sell out.

"Marty" O'Toole has been shipped to Omaha in the Western league. "Marty" is certainly giving a peek at the country at any rate.

Max Carey of the Pirates holds the season's record for hits in a placeless game against an opposing pitcher. In a recent game between the Pirates and Cubs Carey fanned four times. Geo. McConnell was in the box for Tinkler's team.

The vice president of the Cleveland American club announced recently that the club would make every cent that it paid for Tripp Speaker before the eastern trip was over. Last Saturday more people paid admissions to the game at the Polo grounds than ever have before for an American league contest in New York.

The lamentable weakness of Lee Magee of the Yankees with the bat has been one of the surprises of the season. The former Federal league luminary is hovering around the 200 mark and there's no alibi for the weak showing. He hit nearly 300 while with the Cardinals but he jumped to outlaws, but American league pitching has baffled him. The only 300 sticker with Donovan's club is Summacker, who is hitting about 233. Baker has 265, Geedon, 267; Gilhoolie, 225; Miasel, 211; Peckinpah, 210 and Pipp, 194.

STRIKE LEADER KILLED

One of the Five Men Shot in Riot at Ansonia, Conn., Died Today—Guards on Duty

ANSONIA, Conn., May 19.—Quiet prevailed in the strike district here today following the riot of yesterday when five strikers were shot by armed guards during an attack on the plant of the Ansonia Manufacturing Co. Charles Laepo, one of the men shot, died early today. The other four are not seriously wounded. The authorities were on the alert for any further outbreak and a large force of deputy sheriffs and special officers patrolled the plant and its vicinity. Laepo, the dead man, was said to have been one of the strike leaders and had a large following among the foreign laborers here. The police reported considerable uneasiness among the laborers when they learned of Laepo's death, but there was no demonstration. Most of the 150 to 200 men on strike are foreign born and are employed in the fuse rooms of the company which is engaged in making war munitions. A large number of them came here recently. The plant, employs about 500 and the other departments are still in operation. Today, it was understood, as a measure of safety, the girls and women, a large number of whom are employed by the concern, were advised to stay at home.

of street department water bill was again discussed, but no further action was taken. Prof. Buel of New York, who drew the plans of the Pawtucket bridge as submitted by the Connors Bros. Co. was present and he spoke at length on his plans. The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell with all members present. Haven G. Hill was introduced by Mayor O'Donnell as the representative of the Connors Bros. Co. in relation to the bids for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. Mr. Hill said his purpose of attending the meeting, was to introduce Prof. A. W. Buel of New York, an engineer of high standing, who has had considerable experience in bridge construction.

Prof. Hill spoke in favor of the plans he drew for Connors Bros. Co. in relation to bids for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. He said his plan is an excellent one and he hopes if the council has a better plan that it will take it. "You are liable to have high water in the river, and to avoid all trouble I have planned a steel bridge which is self supporting and which will avoid a great deal of danger. The arch is divided into six ribs, and each one of the reinforced concrete ribs is reinforced by two steel ribs. This will cost a little more money, but some people will take over the steel and throw it away and that is not my bridge would stand up irrespective of the concrete."

"I am confident that my bridge can be built quicker than any other bridge, would be very glad if you sent your plans to Engineer Worcester, for I feel they would be approved," Prof. Buel is a graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic of New York.

The New England Telephone Co. filed three bonds with the council for pole locations, one for Wentworth avenue, one for Osgood street and the third for the corner of Westford and Osgood streets. The bonds were accepted and placed on file.

A contract for the heating, lighting and ventilating of the new high school between the R. D. Kimball Co. and the city of Lowell was submitted by the city collector. The mayor said the contract is on a 5 per cent basis, but did not force the city to put in a power plant. The contract was accepted. The far question was then taken up by Mr. Morse, who said the contract for the supply of tar to the city by the American Tar Co. will be ready in a few minutes.

Mr. Morse also spoke on the stone matter, saying he has paid five cents a ton more this year than last year. He said last year he paid 70 cents a ton for stone and $1.15 a ton for freight. He says five cents a ton means a lot. To a question from the mayor, Mr. Morse said he had reference to trap rock. He referred to another rock and said with a binding of tar it is as good as trap rock. He said he would like the council to authorize him to call for bids for trap rock. He stated he had no specifications but would prepare some. It was voted to authorize Mr. Morse to call for bids for crushed stone, through the purchasing agent, according to specifications to be filed later.

Mr. Putnam again brought up the question of the water bill against the street department for water used in paving during the year 1915. Mr. Morse said he does not know how much water will be used this year and he fails to see how he can pay for what he has not yet used.

Mayor O'Donnell said last year's water bill has not been paid. He said the bills are dragged along from year to year with the result that the bills are lost. Mr. Morse said in 1914 he did not use but two cars and a bill for $1800 was presented. Mr. Morse said the only thing to do is to pay on a basis of three watering carts and two cars. The 1915 bill was not paid, said Mr. Morse, because we could not come to some understanding. I have nothing to say against the water department or how it is conducted, but I think it should be asked to pay at when Col. Carmichael was commissioner.

Mr. Morse said if Mr. Putnam is willing to present a fair bill he will pay in advance. Mr. Putnam said the council voted a week ago to have Mr. Putnam present his bill, and he did. I want to know, continued Mr. Putnam, if the 1915 bill will be paid for.

"Did you ever pay for the water used in mixing concrete?" asked Mr. Morse.

"No," replied Mr. Putnam. "But you want me to pay?"

Mr. Putnam: "That is not the question; I was authorized by the council to present a bill for $1000 for 1915 and a similar bill for this year."

The Genoa Club

A ten-minute recess was taken and when the council resumed, the mayor read a recommendation from the city solicitor asking the council to settle with the Genoa club for the property taken in June street for a high school site, and fixing the amount to be advanced to the club as $34,000. The city solicitor said if a settlement was not reached the case would go to trial before the superior court right away. He said he was ready with his evidence to go to trial, but he believed it would be better for all concerned to reach an agreeable settlement. Mr. Varnum told of expert builders who have stated that the value of the building and the land is more than the amount named, even without interest. He said he has had a conference with J. Joseph O'Connor and Benjamin J. Molony, counsel for the club, and they are willing to settle for the sum of $34,000. "A trial will cost money," continued the solicitor, "for experts will be needed and they charge for their services, and I believe the safest way would be for the city to settle and I am ready to advise a settlement."

Mayor O'Donnell said inasmuch as he is a member of the Knights of Columbus he will not vote for or against a settlement; and this action will be taken in order to prevent criticism. Commissioner Duncan said he has gone over the matter thoroughly with the city solicitor and after due consideration of the matter he thought it best for the city to settle. "I do not favor the Knights of Columbus," continued Mr. Duncan, "but I am endeavoring to do what is right for the city, and any other claimant who can show that we are wrong in the assessment will receive the same consideration."

Commissioner Donnelly said he is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, and he will vote in favor of a settlement upon the recommendation of the city solicitor. The city solicitor also suggested that the taxes for 1915 be abated. A vote was then taken on a motion to pay $34,000 to the Genoa club for damages to their property, presented by Commissioner Duncan and all but Mayor O'Donnell voting in the affirmative; the mayor not voting. It was also voted, the mayor not voting, to recommend to the board of assessors that the taxes for 1915 be abated. When the building and land of the Genoa club was seized by the city, the club wanted $40,000 damages, while the council voted to give the organization the sum of $17,125, or the assessed valuation of the property.

The meeting adjourned at 12:20 o'clock until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

SUPERIOR COURT

Case Having to Do With Sale of Awning and Sign Business

The case of George W. Morrison against Lina M. Palmer, an action of contract, was opened before Justice Bell in the civil session of the superior court this morning. Jackson Palmer appeared for the plaintiff while the defendant was represented by Bennett Silverblatt. The ad damnum named is $125 with interest.

Mr. Morrison in his declaration states that he conducted a business at 215 Dutton street, known as the Cross Awning & Sign Co., and that on or about May 20, 1914 he sold the business to Mrs. Lina M. Palmer. She was to pay him the sum of $2000, $1500 at the time of the sale and the remaining $500 from the first receipts after deducting running expenses and $25 for living expenses. He says she made the payment of $1500 but since then has paid him nothing. He further claims that she also owes him $500 for merchandise and stock in trade, $25 for counsel fees and $3 which he paid for express on goods.

Mrs. Lina M. Palmer, the defendant, was the first witness called. She said that in 1914 she purchased the business of the Cross Awning & Sign Co. from Mr. Morrison. The purchase was made on May 16th and she took possession on June 1. She said Mr. Morrison the sum of $1800 on the day the sale was made. In answer to a question put by Mr. Palmer, witness said she mortgaged the business to a Mr. Batzkoff for $1600 about the time of the sale. She said that she had paid $200 on that mortgage up to April 15th, the money coming from the salaries of her husband and two sons and what she was able to save herself. Questioned as to whether she kept accurate books she answered in the affirmative, stating that all money received and disbursed has been entered in the books. "How much if anything have you paid Mr. Morrison since May 16th?" was asked.

"I could not tell you but Mr. Silverblatt could," answered witness.

George W. Morrison, the plaintiff, was then called. He said that in May, 1914, he was the owner of the Cross Awning & Sign Co. and on the 16th sold the business to the defendant for the sum of $2000. He said in addition to the stock in trade he turned over considerable cloth to Mrs. Palmer which was not included in the bill of sale. Mrs. Palmer agreeing to pay him for it. Witness said that he remained at the store until about the middle of June in order to instruct Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and their two sons, various things about the business. Mr. Morrison said that while he remained there he gave his services and the use of his automobile to the defendant free of charge.

HELD ENJOYABLE DANCE

SENIORS OF HIGH SCHOOL CONDUCT SOCIAL EVENT AT SCHOOL HALL

The assembly hall of the local high school was last evening, the scene of a delightful spring dance conducted by the members of the class of 1916, and the affair proved to be one of the most enjoyable on the school calendar this year. The hall was well filled with young couples and a program of dances comprising over 29 numbers provided plenty of pleasure for all from 8 until 11:30 o'clock. Broderick's orchestra furnished music for the dancing. The matrons of the party were the following teachers of the school: Mary G. Stevens, Miss Mahoney, Miss Ellen McQuade and Miss Violet Stocks.

The committee of the class responsible for the success of the affair was comprised of the following: George L. Conkey, chairman; Edward S. Murphy, Arnold W. Rawlison, Raymond S. Walker, Gertrude E. Bachman, Alice E. Bachman, Alice M. Lacey and Dorothy A. Mahoney.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"The Coward," a triangle Ray-Bee picture in six parts, was given its first presentation in Lowell at the B. F. Keith theatre, yesterday afternoon and evening, and it proved immensely impressive. A story of the Civil war, staged by Thomas H. Ince, one of the greatest of present day producers, and with Frank Keenan and Charles Ray in the leading parts, it will stand with some of the very best pictures ever shown in this city. The story is unusual, and it holds a present-day application. In that the characters of the "Frank Winslow" holds a close approach to that of many men who are patriots at heart and who abhor that which savors of bloodshed. The character is very cleverly outlined. At the opening the father, an elderly Virginia colonel, with much of pride in his lineage, insists that his son enlist for the Confederate cause. The son holds back, but finally goes to the station, and is about to take oath to support the Confederacy when fear overcomes him and he runs back to his home. There his father threatens to shoot him unless he enlists, and after a stormy scene the son enters the army and goes to the front. His very first night on sentry duty sees him a deserter. He goes home, and then his father decides to take the place of his coward son in the ranks. The coward hides from everybody. The old homestead is suddenly taken possession of by Union officers, who use it as a headquarters. They discuss plans for an attack on the rebel army. The coward overhears the discussion, escapes from the house at night, mounts a horse and makes a break for the Confederate lines. He is discovered and is pursued in crossing a bridge over a river, he is discovered by a Rebel sentry who fires on him. Both horse and rider plunge down into the river, but the coward gets to headquarters, gives the information to the staff and saves the army from a surprise attack. Then, of course, there is a reconciliation between father and son. Fred Maca & Co. in "Crooked to the End," present one of the most thrilling of comedies, and there is another good picture, "Kings and Queens," on Sunday Bus-

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Do not miss the features which are now being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre for the remainder of this week. The ever-popular and winsome Blanche Sweet makes her first appearance in the five-act photo-creation, "The Assassinin," a play which will engage your attention throughout every scene. It is a story which appeals to every heart, and seeing it one cannot refrain from deeply sympathizing with the heroine, which part, Miss Sweet sweetly interprets. Sessue Bayakawa, the noted Japanese star who acted so effectively with Miss Fannie Ward in "The Cheat" appears during the remainder of this week in the five-act masterpiece, "Alien Souls." He plays opposite his wife, also of Japanese birth. The theme of the play centres upon the introduction of a Japanese girl into American society and the shame in which she is treated. It is a play which every one should see. "Night in the Show" is the title of the bottom-bustling Charlie Chaplin comedy on the screen for the rest of this week. The Burton Holmes pictures travel will also be shown as well as others of merit.

OWL THEATRE
"Fruits of Desire," a William Brady feature and a popularization of a famous stage success will be the attraction at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow. Robert Warwick, the famous actor who appears in the role of a "fighter" who wins his way on the ladder of success by material force, considers this his greatest work, in spite of the fact that he has scored wonderful praise in other productions.

"Fruits of Desire" tells a story of a young country youth who leaves his home and sweetheart and enters the employ of a steel concern in a distant city. He begins at the bottom and steadily forges his way upward. From the lowest position he soon rises to foreman and from there he fights his way unrelentingly. He soon afterwards becomes superintendent and then forms a new corporation with one of the younger members of the concern. He returns to his home and marries the girl of his boyhood days. Shortly afterwards his dreams come true when he sees the erection of his own great mills in the valleys in which he roamed as a boy. But he soon finds out that this world is not all money mad and even though he has everything that he could desire, there is something missing and it is the love which should be in every home. This is missing in his mansion as his wife and he become estranged and finally divorced. How he discovers that after all, "The Fruits of Desire" are as bitter as wormwood, forms one of the most powerful dramas ever depicted. Other attractions will also be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

JEWEL THEATRE
Real circus acts and real circus folk appear weekly at the Jewel theatre, every Friday and Saturday, when Grace Cunard and Francis Ford co-star in "Peg O' the Ring," the latest Universal serial. The blindest acts from the big tops are seen weekly just as you see them in the sawdust rings, on circus days. Besides, the plot of this new serial is one of the most fascinating ever conceived.

ROYAL THEATRE
Tom Moore, who is co-starred with Anna Nilsson, in "Who's Guilty" series, is fond of walking over all other sports. Miss Nilsson likes swimming. Mrs. Wilson Woodrow, who has novelized these photoplays, enjoys ride-shooting. Director Howell joys ride-shooting. Director Howell twenty-four hours a day-at-work type—thinks sleep is the greatest sport in the world, and Director Lawrence B. McGill, who is co-directing the "Who's Guilty?" series with Mr. Hansel, enjoys directing motion pictures above anything else. Just imagine what a terrible thing it would be if they all got working on their hobbies simultaneously! And think what a picture it would make! There will be fourteen episodes of this series, beginning today at the Royal.

In "Puppets of Fate," the first of the fourteen photo-novels in the "Who's Guilty?" series, Tom Moore plays the part of a clever young surgeon. And he had to learn how to perform a real operation in order to carry out "realism" into the scenes. Dr. Carr, head surgeon of St. John's hospital in Yonkers, N. Y., who gave Moore instructions along this line, says that Moore really practiced on anybody in the hospital. So does the hospital—for there hasn't been a death there in four months. Besides this new series today and tomorrow at the Royal theatre, an episode of "The Mysteries of Myra" and other new photo-plays will complete the performance. Sunday, Irene Fenwick in "The Sentimental Lady."

THE ESCAPE FROM FALSE HAIR

No woman is truly beautiful without good hair. Nowadays few women wear false locks, so it is necessary to depend entirely on nature's endowment for crowns of glory. In the first place the hair should be kept scrupulously clean and well brushed. The next step is to massage the scalp with pure olive oil or yellow vaseline. Of course, this makes the hair oily, but scalp massage is the secret of keeping the hair healthy and making it grow. It is not necessary to go to a beauty parlor—you can do it yourself each night in your room, and if you persist in a very short time you will find gratifying results.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than a ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

GIRL WINS LOVE SUIT

Jurors Find Rector Wilson Did Promise to Marry Miss Johnson and Awarded Her $3625 Verdict

BOSTON, May 19.—Miss Laura Louise Johnson, the attractive little brunette who sued the Rev. Charles Chase Wilson, rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Roslindale, for breach of promise, was awarded $3625 damages by a jury in the United States district court yesterday.

The verdict was a big surprise, especially in view of the charge of Judge Morton, which was generally regarded as strongly favoring the rector.

The latter declined to discuss the verdict, but his counsel, Walter A. Dane, stated that he would file a motion to set aside the verdict within three days, as he regarded it against the weight of the evidence and the law.

As Miss Johnson had sued for $25,000, the award of $3625 was regarded about the courts as something in the nature of a compromise. The jury had been out nine hours and had asked for instructions twice, once for a definition of an implied contract to marry.

Tears in Women's Eyes

The rector showed considerable agitation on hearing the verdict. He appeared to be trying hard to control his emotion. His lips and cheeks blanched and then became suffused with color. An unusual number of his parishioners had remained in and about the court all day, and they crowded around him as he turned to leave, shaking hands with him and expressing their sympathy. Many of the women had tears in their eyes. He received them all very kindly and then hastened away.

When the suit was first brought, the rector offered his resignation to the vestry of his church, but the officers declined to accept it, pending the outcome of the suit, as they expressed it at the time. Since then several of the vestrymen have said that they would not accept his resignation unless something more was shown than was brought out in the evidence at the trial.

Postponed His Marriage

The rector was one of the most prominent young clergymen in the Episcopal church in Vermont before coming to Roslindale. He was born in Bethel, Vt., graduated from the University of Vermont in 1907, and was a Rhodes Scholar from that state at Trinity college, England. His name was voted among others for the rectorship of Trinity church, Burlington, the largest and most flourishing Episcopal parish in the state. He has been a little over a year at the church in Roslindale.

The suit resulted in a voluntary postponement of his marriage to Miss Mary de Forest Clark, an heiress of Burlington and New York.

The little woman whose story won the hearts of the middle-aged jurors is a native of Minneapolis, where her father is director of a school of music. She was not in court when the verdict came, but when seen later at the office of her counsel, Ralph H. Willard of Boston, she said:

"I feel very happy and especially grateful to the kindly, warm-hearted jurors, who have done all in their power to right the wrongs of a little woman who appealed to them for justice."

"In a way it was a great surprise to me, but I feel that it is one more instance where the truth has prevailed. It was not crushed to earth this time."

"I am going back home soon. I shall certainly go to Burlington some day, for I feel that I can go there now a vindicated woman."

"I lost all love for the Rev. Mr. Wilson when I heard of his engagement to another woman, but I felt sorry for him yesterday, when I heard him deny with his own lips the things so wonderful, so spiritual, so high that he knew existed between us. I could not believe my own ears."

"I do not feel revengeful, I do not feel vindictive. I feel sorry for him now, although he perhaps will not believe it."

"It is hard for me to say why I brought that suit. I felt it was my duty to vindicate my character in a city 1500 miles from home, where I was a stranger and where the understanding between us was not confirmed by marriage."

"If he had only come to me and explained, I think I would have forgiven him, but he made no explanation, he did not come. I certainly did not want to force myself on him. Then I felt that the other girl ought to know his treatment of me. I felt that perhaps other women ought to know. That was my reason for bringing the suit. Perhaps it may seem selfish. I simply gave in to the inevitable, as I told Bishop Bliss."

Her Faith in Men Shaken

"It has shaken my faith in the men in the church, but not in God. I would not want to believe all men are the same. Mr. Wilson should have acknowledged more than he did. If he did, perhaps the jurors might have had more sympathy with him."

"When I looked into the eyes of those jurors as I told them my story, I knew they would take a fatherly interest in what had occurred between us. I felt I could trust them with my story. They were all older than I, and so sympathetic that I felt they would be able to understand a woman's heart, for it is sympathy and not cold calculation that makes this world a pleasant place to live in."

"I know they sympathize with the rector, for I sympathize with him myself. They sympathize with me, too, but while he claimed to be like other men, he did not show it. I only claimed to be a woman, and I bared a woman's heart to them, and they were able to understand."

"I want to thank publicly these kind-hearted people who have expressed to me and to friends their sympathy in my trouble. I thought the newspapers were very sympathetic and desired to be fair between us, and I want to express my gratitude to them for their considerate treatment of the things that every woman regards as sacred, but which had to be bared to the public gaze that the truth might be known."

STEEPLE JIM'S TUMBLE

James A. Parker of New York, better known throughout the country as "Steeple Jim" is with us again. He is no stranger in this city for he has performed many hair raising stunts on flagpoles and steeples here, his specialty being the painting and gilding of flagpoles, steeples and other lofty structures.

In conversation with a reporter he stated that since his last visit to Lowell he met with a slight (?) fall, just a mere 70 feet. This happened in New York City and resulted in a couple of broken elbows and a sprained ankle and numerous bruises and abrasions.

During his stay here he says he will paint the flag pole on the J. L. Chaffoux building, two on C. I. Hood's factory in Thorndike street and one on the county jail.

A VOLUNTEER CRUISE

LOCAL MEN INVITED TO TAKE CRUISE IN EARLY FALL THAT WILL LAST FOUR WEEKS

The local recruiting office of the navy department is in receipt of further information relative to the volunteer naval cruise to be held in the early fall in which local men are invited to participate. The cruise will last four weeks.

The first week will be devoted to the cruising of ships individually, the second to the participation of the squadron with the Atlantic fleet in the war game, the third to squadron maneuvers along the Atlantic coast and the fourth to the return to port and cruise of motor boats.

Particular stress is placed on the motor boat feature. In the near future an officer of the navy and a location will be designated where motor boats may be qualified and assigned to motor boat squadrons. The age limit does not apply to motor boat owners. All of the men of one college or association will, insofar as it is possible, be grouped on the same ship and in the same division aboard ship.

In case of an emergency at home, requiring the presence of a volunteer, he may be permitted to leave the ship and go home. Women cannot form any part of the crew of a motor boat on cruise, it is pointed out, in the latest instructions.

The following articles of clothing are to be drawn aboard ship: Four undress jumpers, white; four trousers, white; two hats, white; one jersey, one mattress; kapok; two mat-dress covers; one watch cap, and two suits of dungaree, for those doing duty in engine room or dynamo room. If needed a pair of bathing trunks, one blanket and a neckerchief may be drawn.

The next opportunity for examination and enrollment at the local station will take place Wednesday, May

Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, has recently sent to the local station a notice to the effect that it is desirable to all positions in the canal zone with Americans, and at the present time the following positions are filled by aliens: Boatwain of tugs, foreman of docks, signal station keepers, operator of motor boats, oilers, firemen and seamen for tugs. Members of the naval reserve are eligible to take examinations for these positions. More information on the point may be obtained at the local navy recruiting station.

MANY PEACE MEETINGS

STOCKHOLM, May 18, via London, May 19.—Under the auspices of Henry Ford's "neutral conference" meetings were held today throughout Scandinavia, Switzerland and Holland in celebration in the 17th anniversary of the first Hague conference. In Denmark and Sweden the meetings will be continued over several days with a big demonstration in Stockholm on Sunday. At all of the meetings resolutions are adopted urging the neutral governments to call an official conference to arrange for mediation between the belligerents.

These peace meetings are being held in nine cities in Sweden, seven in Switzerland, six in Denmark and three in Holland. In Norway they have been combined with the national celebrations of Norway's independence, the anniversary of which is May 16.

The pacemaker in business today finds the road of success a rough and difficult one, because he must find the way over it without the compass of experience to guide him. To myself I have the egotism to attach the claim that I am a pacemaker and I think my record in business bears me out. Travelling not upon the beaten path—following none of the precedents that most of my brother tailors follow—I am going about getting business in my own way—making my own pace and following it also. For this reason I have committed many business acts that my fellows cannot reconcile. To many of them the giving of a premium to procure business is a violation of the ethics of our trade. I claim it the act of a business man who places common sense above precedent; and so I will continue to offer premiums, for business so long as they may prove effective. The best business-getting premium ever offered by me was the one inaugurated in this city on two previous occasions.

A Pair of Heinisch Tailor's Shears, Value $3.50, Absolutely Free With Suit or Overcoat Order.

It was beyond doubt the most successful business-getter ever launched by any tailor in New England and brought me trade at a time when trade was at a standstill everywhere else. Although we are wading through the greatest reign of prosperity today Lowell has seen in my time, the weeks now figure more than the months did years ago. I am anxious to make this a record month for business.

I want every customer to enter into the spirit of this gift, to ask for it as something that belongs to him, to ask for it as something that, if it is worth taking it is worth asking for.

Ladies, Attention!

Your men folks are going to buy a spring or summer suit some place. I want to make these men folks Mitchell customers, the same as thousands of men throughout Middlesex County, with your help I can get them to try me once—after that I expect them to be regular, year in and year out customers.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Andrew Barbera Takes Full Charge of My Workshop

Mr. Barbera comes to me with a brilliant reputation and I expect to help him to sustain it. He has lived in your city for thirty-five years, a voter and tax payer and one of your moral citizens. For thirty years in the high priced tailoring trade, making garments in many orders that sold as high as fifty dollars. He worked on the bench as coat maker, away back in 1890 for BARNES, THE TAILOR, Central Street, left to accept a position with ALEXANDER, THE TAILOR, where he stayed seven years, resigned to take the position of foreman for MARKS, THE TAILOR, 34 Central Street, where he stayed for nine years, resigned to take a chance in the business world for himself, successful for a time, he had to do business on a small scale to the higher priced trade, and mostly charge—The Answer, There Are More Fords Than Packards—More fifteen dollar suit customers—than thirty-five.

MR. BARBERA closed out his business on Bridge Street to take full charge of my workshop on premises. He brings with him the same organization in help who have made you clothes as high as forty dollars. He will be pleased to meet his old customers and show them through my line, at popular prices. I am never satisfied. I am always trying to perfect my organization.

Under the supervision of my head designer, Mr. Atwood and his assistants, Mr. Campbell, Mr. McMahon, Mr. Daley and Mr. Henley, the garments you buy in my store today are draughted, cut and fitted by talent pre-eminent among designers of America. With Mr. Barbera in full charge in my workshop, leading a force of men who have spent a lifetime sewing garments, moulding them to the human shape, and I will say you seldom find two forms alike. If this combination can't fit and please you, cutters, fitters, tailors, all together working on the same floor, I don't know what chance you have to be fitted by men who do not profess to be, or cannot hope ever to be style creators.

TWENTY YEARS PASTOR

RECEPTION TO REV. AND MRS.
N. W. MATTHEWS BY FIRST
PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Matthews, of 15 Ellsworth street, were tendered a reception by the members of the First Primitive Methodist church Wednesday evening on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of Rev. Mr. Matthews' pastorate at the church. In the receiving line with the couple were Mrs. Jacob Norris, president of the Ladies' Aid association; Lee Ashton, delegate to the recent conference and Joseph Sutcliffe, representing the board of trustees. The attendance was large and a pleasing program was carried out. Parishioners and friends gathered in the vestry of the church and were given a warm reception. Those in the receiving line were seated on the platform, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Musical numbers were given by John Pooler, David Ingham, Albert Ingham, Lee Ashton and others. In the course of the evening Rev. and Mrs. Matthews were presented flowers as gifts from the Ladies Aid association, the Dorcas club, Mt. Zion lodge, Good Templars and the Matthews bible class. In responding to the presentations feel honored when we consider that it was your pastor who received unanimous election. Our ordination services were the greatest ever held, and I trust that we may continue to progress for another year. I tell you we should be proud of our work. We lead in home missionary contributions and in contributions to foreign missions. And I believe that the church that does not go abroad in God's kingdom is not alive at home. None of us is perfect, but we are going to do this year, the best we can." The evening closed with the singing of hymns by the congregation. If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

Mr. Matthews spoke in part as follows: "I wish to thank the members of my Bible class and Old Mt. Zion lodge for these expressions of their esteem. I am one of the charter members of the latter organization, and it holds a tender place in my affections. I am proud indeed to be the teacher of such a bible class as mine and again permit me to express my hearty thanks. Brother Ashton has beautifully described the work of our recent conference, at which the most beautiful spirit prevailed. A signal honor, that of presiding over the session, fell upon the oldest pastor present, Rev. T. M. Bateman, formerly of the First Primitive church in Lowell. At the conference, also, several things were taken up which I believe marks a new period in our history. For one thing, the president is now designated a year ahead, in order that he may make thorough preparation for the work, and we of the Lowell church

MACARTNEY'S BIG SALE

OFFERED AT THE ANNIVERSARY
SALE

This year marks the seventh anniversary of Macartney's Apparel shop in this city and the thirty-sixth anniversary of the Lawrence store. According to the custom of these two progressive stores each year at this time a big anniversary sale is conducted for a few days. Although this year's sale started last Thursday and a very large number have made purchases at the store during the first few days, there are still many desirable bargains to be secured, for this sale is being run on a very extensive plan. The men's furnishing department offers many attractions. In this line sweeping reductions have been made on all kinds of seasonable articles of furnishing which certainly ought to create a desire to buy on the part of all who inspect the offerings. It will pay one well to take in this sale and obtain some of these goods even though the use of the same is not immediate, for the low prices at which they are selling are unusual. It is by no means intimated that the splendid bargains are limited to the furnishings department. In the other departments of this store some exceptionally fine purchases can be made which would be difficult to duplicate at any other time. A trip through this store during the sale which will close one week from tomorrow, will carry with it the conviction that now is the time to buy.

MATRIMONIAL

nesday morning at the Sacred Heart church, when Philip J. McCarron and Miss Madeleine A. Kennedy, two prominent young people of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The bride was handsomely attired in white tulle, silk with overdress of tulle and mother of pearl trimmings. She wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley and carried bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Agnes Roarke, who wore blue tulle and carried Killarney roses. The best man was James McCarron. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, 64 Andrew street, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. McCarron, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left in the evening on a wedding trip to New York and Philadelphia. After May 30 they will be at home to their friends at 69 Pleasant street.

LAKE MOHONK PLATFORM

Appreciating Conditions, Platform Confined to Approval of General Principal of Arbitration

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., May 19.—The resolutions committee of the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today showed its appreciation of the unsettled conditions of international affairs by presenting a platform which avoided any radical recommendations and confined itself to carefully worded approval of the general principle of arbitration. The platform proved a disappointment to the members of the League to Enforce Peace, led by former President William H. Taft, the presiding officer of the conference, but it also offered no encouragement to the opponents of enforced peace, who under the lead of William J. Bryan lost no opportunity to attack the recommendations of the league during the present conference. The platform follows:

"The world conditions of the past two years have confirmed the belief, often expressed in these conferences that arbitral and judicial methods should and must increasingly prevail in settling international disputes."

"During the 20th century the permanent court at The Hague has acted on cases involving questions relating to Europe, Asia, Africa, the islands of the Pacific, and the Americas. These questions involved financial and territorial claims and such fundamental matters as the right to fly the national flag and to exercise jurisdiction over national military forces. These facts are clear testimony to the development of arbitration."

"The tendency of this court at The Hague to become in reality permanent is evident from the fact that there are eight judges who have sat in three or more of the fifteen cases and one judge sat in seven of the fifteen cases."

"The conference desires again to affirm its belief in the desirability of such legislation by congress as will confer upon the courts of the United States jurisdiction over all cases arising under treaty provisions or affecting the rights of aliens."

The speakers this morning were Ignacio Calderon, Bolivian minister to the United States; William P. Borland, member of congress from Missouri; the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway tabernacle; Dr. Ernesto Nelson, formerly director-general of Secondary Industrial and commercial education of Argentina, and

Walter S. Penfield, an attorney of Washington, D. C.

The platform as presented was unanimously adopted.

VERDUN BATTLE

German Expert Denies Claim of Victory By English and French

BERLIN, May 19 (By wireless to Sayville).—English and French assertions that the battle of Verdun has been won by the entente allies are disputed by Maj. Morant, military critic of the Tageblatt, who points to the recent successes won by the Germans and says the French and British are incapable of prosecuting a successful offensive. He says:

"Some days ago the Manchester Guardian announced that the battle had been ended and that the French had inflicted their third signal defeat on the Germans, the other two having been at the Marne and at Ypres. One day later the Germans reached the top of Hill 304."

"Not only have the Germans held Hill 304 against desperate French counterattacks, but they have succeeded in extending their new positions. The present military situation is characterized most precisely by referring to the fact that the French, and still more the British are conscious of their inability to advance, that they are able to act efficiently only on the defensive and as long as they outnumber the Germans considerably."

"French military critics state that the Germans began the battle of Verdun merely for political reasons. A typical instance of a military action undertaken for political reasons is the Gallipoli campaign in which many thousands of lives were sacrificed, with a retreat at the end as the only tangible consequence."

"Twenty-one months ago the British, French and Russians announced their intention of marching on Berlin, occupying the German capital and placing guards of Senegalese in the streets of this city and Potsdam. In view of this how ought the present military position of Germany's enemies to be characterized?"

Miss Kuhne Beveridge, the American sculptress in Munich, has been aptly termed the problem sculptress. Her conception of marriage, as illustrated by her work under that title, will hardly meet with the approval of her country women. It is a statue of a man and a woman bound together hand and foot, every action hampered, utter boredom and unhappiness depicted on their faces.

WM. CARDINAL O'CONNELL

TODAY 15TH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS CONSECRATION AS BISHOP OF DIOCESE OF PORTLAND AT ROME

Today marks the 15th anniversary of the consecration of Cardinal O'Connell as bishop of the diocese of Portland, which includes the entire state of Maine. Cardinal O'Connell was at that time rector of the North American college in Rome. The ceremony of his consecration as bishop took place in the church of St. John Lateran, the cathedral of the world, the same church in which the cardinal was ordained to the priesthood about 17 years before. Cardinal Satolli, the first apostolic delegate to the United States, was the officiating prelate.

Cardinal O'Connell governed the church in Maine for nearly five years, during which time the diocese made much progress. In September, 1905, Pope Pius X. sent him as special envoy to the Mikado of Japan. Proceeding to Rome on the conclusion of his mission he was named coadjutor archbishop of Boston Feb. 8, 1906. On the death of Archbishop Williams August 30, 1907, Cardinal O'Connell took charge of the See of Boston, and in recognition of his splendid services to the church he was elevated to the Sacred College of Cardinals Nov. 27, 1911.

EXCHANGING PRISONERS

EVIDENCE OF HEAVY TOLL THAT TUBERCULOSIS IS EXACTING IN WORLD WAR

STOCKHOLM, via London, May 19.—Evidence of the heavy toll that tuberculosis is exacting in the world war is found in the exchange of disabled prisoners which is being conducted through Sweden by Russia and Austria. One train from the Russian camps had 30 cases of consumption among the 230 Austrian prisoners on board. Three of the victims died while the train was passing through this country.

On another train from Russia there were 30 Austrians who had been rendered insane by their sufferings. Three trains are now running weekly in each direction exchanging prisoners who, from disease, loss of limbs or mental breakdown are unfit for further military service.

Over 200 women from different parts of the country are now in camp at Chery Chase, near Washington, D. C., where they have a first-class service school, the main purpose of which is to train women to be of real national service along lines which they can best serve.

LOWELL'S HEALTH WEEK

Thousands of People Inspect the Health Exhibits—Valuable Lessons on Cleanliness and Health

If you have not yet seen the exhibits in connection with health week you have missed something and yet there is something good in store for you as the exhibits will not close until tomorrow night. The exhibition as a whole is one of the finest things that ever came to Lowell for it affords opportunity for free lessons on cleanliness and health.

The program today included a stereopticon lecture at Middlesex hall by Dr. Marshall L. Alling on "How to Keep Well." The lecture was at 3 o'clock and at the same hour Dr. M. A. Tighe lectured on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building where various demonstrations were being given. Dr. Tighe's subject was "Cancer and the Wear and Tear Diseases of Adult Life."

At 5:30 o'clock there was a demonstration in the same hall of proper hospital treatment of patients, bed making, bathing, feeding, milk sterilization etc., and in Middlesex hall the Boy Scouts are giving demonstrations of first aid and signal work.

The attendance at the exhibits thus far has been very encouraging and it is expected that tomorrow will be a banner day. It was estimated that more than 2000 people visited the exhibit locations yesterday. There were more than 300 people on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and there were fully that many present today at the same hour. The attendance at the exhibit, corner of John and Merrimack streets, has been very good from the start. The place is convenient and there is much to see there, including photographs and pictures of various kinds that tell stories plainer than they can be told in words. There is no discounting the great value of pictures in this crusade to help the cause of public health and cleanliness and it is wonderful to see how carefully the pictures are studied by young and old. It is a wonderful thing for the

The most talked-of place in America by out-of-doors people is Glacier National Park. It is located in North-western Montana, and has within its generous boundaries more of Nature's inspired masterpieces than any similar area in the world.

There are 50 living glaciers in the Park. Blackfoot Glacier alone covers over five square miles. These glaciers feed 250 deep blue or emerald green lakes.

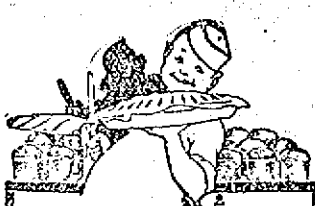

The icy waters of the Park's glacier-fed lakes and streams furnish the anger with any amount of brush-pushed, gamey, rainbow, cut-throat, flat, bull and lake trout.

The Park is a veritable garden, as over 50 varieties of wild flowers are found there, ranging from yellow adonis to gorgeous mountain lilies.

The quarters in the Park are delightful—you have your choice of huts, chalets or tepee camps. If you "hike" it, you can get along on one dollar a day; other prices are in proportion.

Call at the office: we will talk it over, or if it is more convenient to send in your address on a postcard, do that and you will receive free of charge, booklets telling of the Park, its accommodations, and the cost of going there, on the BURLINGTON, the Daylight Route, and seeing all there is to see.

POLICE COURT

Judge Enright Gives Youthful Burglars Suspended Sentences

Joseph A. Barry, an 18-year-old youth who was arrested last week with a younger companion named Bertram E. Smith for breaking into a residence in Stedman street, Wiggville, and stealing $21 in money besides several articles of minor value, appeared in police court this morning before Judge Enright and pleaded guilty to the complaint against him. Smith was brought before the juvenile court earlier in the morning and given a suspended sentence to the Lyman school. As restitution has been made by relatives of Barry, the court was lenient with him and he was given a suspended sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory.

According to the testimony offered by Special Officer J. H. Clark and others, Smith was the worst of the two boys and it was he who planned the Wiggville break as well as several others in that vicinity. It was also brought out that Smith was desirous of getting possession of a revolver so that he could hold persons up on the street. The boys appeared to be sorry for their actions, however, and were let go after being warned by His Honor that a repetition of their work in Wiggville will end disastrously for them.

For Trespassing

George Underwood and Martin Hannon were fined $20 each for trespassing on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad near the Newton Manufacturing Co. in Atherton.

Officer James Considine who arrested the young men, testified that they were complaining to him by the watchman at the Newton Manufacturing Co. for throwing stones at the latter and other watchmen at the plant. He said the young men were in the habit of riding on freight cars every night between the Bleachery station and the Newton Manufacturing Co., and that when they got off at the latter place they threw stones at the officers. The defendants were arrested last night on the tracks by Officer Considine and another officer employed by the Newton Manufacturing Co. Judge Enright gave them one month each in which to pay their fines.

Violated City Ordinance

Charles H. Spurr of Melrose, who was arrested on May 12 for violating a city ordinance by driving his automobile on the wrong side of the street, was fined $2. The defendant was arrested by Traffic Officer Sheridan on the above date after he had crossed to the left hand side of Central street near the corner of Merrimack, holding up three automobiles that had just turned into Central street from the corner.

Non-Support Case

Peter Osgian made his second appearance within a year on a complaint charging him with failing to provide proper support for his wife and baby, and after His Honor had heard the evidence in the case he told the defendant that he wished he could punish him by giving him a sound horse-whipping.

Osgian, it seems, has a good position and makes good money but he drinks and gambles and his wife sees but little of his salary. Several times within the past year, it was alleged, he has abused his wife and on one occasion she had him brought before the court on a complaint of non-support and assault. Only a few months ago a child was born to Mrs. Osgian and since that time the husband, the police claim, has failed to give his wife money to live on.

Mrs. Osgian told His Honor that she was willing to give her husband another chance if he would turn over a new leaf and lead a better life and Osgian pleaded with the court for just one chance, promising that he would never take another drink and would go home and take care of his wife and baby. Judge Enright complied with his request and gave him a suspended sentence of six months to the house of correction.

The Drunken Offenders

One drunken offender was given a suspended sentence of one year to the house of correction and another was fined $6. There were eight releases.

AIRSHIP BROUGHT DOWN

MEMBER OF AMERICAN FLYING SQUADRON ATTACKED GERMAN AEROPLANE

PARIS, May 19.—Corporal Kiffin Rockwell of Atlanta, Ga., a member of the American flying squadron yesterday attacked a German aeroplane operating near Hartmann's-Weilerkopf. The German machine was brought down in flames.

BAR SECRET SOCIETIES NEW YORK, May 19.—Secret societies have been definitely placed under the ban at Barnard college by an election held by the students, the result of which was made public today. The secret societies which formerly existed in the college were suspended by the faculty three years ago, suspensions to expire on Oct. 1 of this year. The election was held to determine whether the organizations should be revived after that date. A revival was decided against by a vote of 214 to 33. At the same time it was voted that the college should have some form of social organizations, devoid of any national affiliation, or elements of secrecy.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

BOSTON, May 19.—The bill to extend the jurisdiction and functions of the civil service commission, which Gov. McCall deemed of sufficient importance to warrant sending a special message to the lower branch of the state legislature urging its passage, was ordered to a third reading in the Massachusetts house of representatives late yesterday afternoon after nearly the entire day had been spent in discussing the measure.

Of more than a dozen amendments offered, only a few were accepted. As the bill stands the governor has achieved a partial victory. In his inaugural he pointed out the need of increasing efficiency and his provision has been retained. Generally speaking, four of the eleven sections which the bill originally possessed are all that remain, although a fifth section to provide that nothing in the bill shall apply to firemen and policemen has been added.

The civil service bill contains these new provisions:

Changes in Bill

"At least one commissioner shall be present during office hours except when all the commissioners are engaged elsewhere on business of the commission."

"The commission may, from time to time, investigate in whole or in part the classified civil service, and the work, duties and compensation of the officers and employees therein, and the number employed and the grades, titles, ratings and methods of promotion that have been established, and may report thereon."

"The commission may, at any time, and shall, upon the request of any appointing power, inquire into the efficiency and conduct of any officers or employees in the classified civil service and may recommend to the appointing power the removal of any such officers or employees, or may suggest other recommendations as shall seem fitting in the premises."

"The commission shall forthwith prepare and submit to the governor and council for approval a revision of the civil service rules, and the rules as revised, when approved by the governor and council, shall supersede all then existing rules holding offices or positions to which they have been elected by the people, or by the aldermen or city council, or the selectmen of a town, shall not at the same time be eligible to the office of representative of the civil service commission."

"Several of the principal objections to the bill, as voiced by its opponents, have been removed. It does not now

South Boston municipal court, amended by giving the justice $3200 instead of $3500; also on the salary bill for $4500 for the justice of the Roxbury municipal court and on the bill for $3000 and $2000 salaries respectively for the clerk and assistant clerk of the same court.

Pass Redistricting Bill

The state senate devoted nearly all of yesterday to the redistricting bill. The discussion was given over almost entirely to senatorial districts.

Of amendments offered, only that of Senator Gifford of the Cape, to take Abington, East Bridgewater and Whitman from the "Cape and Plymouth" district, and to include East Bridgewater in the "Plymouth" district and Whitman and Abington in the "Norfolk and Plymouth" district, was adopted.

The bill was passed to be engrossed by a rollcall vote of 27 to 10.

A bill to provide that cities and towns shall maintain portions of highways between street railway tracks and collect the cost from street railway companies was passed to be engrossed.

A bill to provide that the attorney general's department shall do the legal work for the public service commission, and appropriating $5000 to defray the cost of the extra work, was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to change the method of distribution of corporation taxes and to provide for reimbursement of cities and towns for taxes lost by soldiers' exemptions was passed to be engrossed.

The bill to authorize the transfer of the Southern New England from the Grand Trunk to the Central Vermont was passed to be engrossed, as was the bill to validate the existing mortgage of the New London Northern railroad by the Central Vermont railroad.

The bill to increase the salary of the secretary of the industrial accident board was taken from the table. Reference to the next general court, as recommended by the committee on public service, was negatived and the bill was referred to the ways and means committee.

Senator Fay of Medford invited the members to lunch with him at Medford Wednesday. After the lunch, he said, Gov. McCall desired to entertain the members at Winchester and the mayor of Medford wished to entertain the members in the Medford armory later in the day. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Fish and Game Board

Senate Chairman Martin Hays, of the legislative special committee on conservation, will report next general court on petitions of Charles M. Rogers and James A. Thomas for legislation to establish a single-headed fish and game commission in place of the present commission of three members, and on the petition of the highway safety league for legislation to establish a motor vehicle commission to take over the powers now exercised by the highway commission with respect to the registration of automobiles and the licensing of operators.

Ought Not to Pass

The senate ways and means committee has voted, with two dissenters, to report "ought not to pass" on the "income tax" bill, so-called. The house has passed the measure. The dissenters are Senators Buzley of Worcester and Gordon of Hampden. Senator Bean of Middlesex reserves his right to dissent.

The committee voted to report favorably on the bill to provide for the abolition of the economy and efficiency commission, in an amended form, with Senators Bean of Middlesex and Sheehan of Hampden dissenting. This measure has been passed by the house.

THE PATER CHILDREN

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS GETS INFORMATION FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Hon. John Jacob Rogers has addressed the following letter from Secretary Robert Lansing to Mr. Hipolit Pater of 96 Lakeview avenue, this city, which concerns the whereabouts of his children who were living with relatives in Galicia when the European war broke out:

Department of State
Washington
May 12, 1916.

The Honorable John Jacob Rogers, House of Representatives.

Sir:—The department has received your letter of May 5 inquiring whether any further information has been received in regard to Misses Olga and Helena Pater, who are now in Galicia.

As you were informed in the department's letter of March 14, 1916, a written instruction was sent on that date to the American consul general at Vienna, directing him to communicate with Mrs. Karolina Wisnolosi and advise her to take the children mentioned to the embassy at Vienna and apply in the behalf of passports of this government. It is presumed that, upon receipt of the department's instruction, the consul general proceeded without delay to carry out the directions contained therein. So far, no report on the matter has been received from the consul general. If Mr. Hipolit Pater, father of the children referred to, so desires, the department will telegraph to the consul general at Vienna instructing him to report the result of his efforts in this case. If such telegram is sent, it will be necessary for Mr. Pater to express in writing his willingness to bear the expense of any telegrams in the matter which the department may exchange with its representatives abroad.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) Robert Lansing.

Losing Team to Church Membership Campaign Banquets the Winslow Team

As a result of a membership campaign conducted recently by the Men's fraternity of the First Congregational church, the losing team gave a banquet to the winning team last night in the vestry of the church, with about 60 in attendance. The campaign for new members opened in March and continued for one month. During that time 90 new members were added to the fraternity, which now has 124 names on its list. The team, headed by Arthur

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS

MAKING A CAMISOLE

"Marie, do you know what a camisole is?" asked Marjorie, with a puzzled expression, as she walked abstractedly into her aunt's boudoir one morning. "Some of the girls were discussing camisoles the other day but, aside from the fact that it is an article of lingerie of some kind, I haven't the remotest idea what it is—but I won't one."

"Why?" answered Marie. "A camisole is no more than a corset cover of a unique shape, just the thing to wear nowadays. It is simply a yard long strip of sheer linen or lawn, hand hemmed at the lower edge, embroidery or lace inserted across the upper edge, seamed at the middle of the back, and, of course, drawn over the head. It is kept in place by ribbon streamers that bow-knot on the top of the shoulders, and if these ribbon loops or armholes are of the washable kind, they may not be removed when the garment goes to the laundry."

"Usually the camisole, while wide enough to be easily drawn on over the head and shoulders, fits smoothly over the bust and across the back, but if it is made of a very thin fabric like net, shadow lace or chiffon

cloth, and so wide that its fullness across the bust must needs be drawn in run a ribbon through a heading around the top side. This is nearly always done when a narrow edging finishes the top, for when drawn up, it will form a scant little frilling prettily defining the lower limit of the low cut neck.

"Another expression of the camisole is straight across the top, but gradually widening until it reaches the base of the hips, where it is shaped into a single wide and very deep scallop at front and back. As it fits closely over the bust, it can

LOWELL BOY A CAPTAIN

CAMBRIDGE, May 12.—The appointment of 125 commissioned officers of the Harvard regiment, including captains of the eight companies, was announced last night. Archie Roosevelt, son of the former president, was named sergeant-major of the first battalion. The captains include George C. Wilkins, Lowell, Mass., and Stephen M. Foster, Derby Line, Vt.

George C. Wilkins, who is an exceptionally bright boy and one well versed in military training, is a son of Alfred W. Wilkins of the Adams Furniture Co.

Resinol Soap

improves poor complexions

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

If the skin is already in bad condition, a short treatment with Resinol Ointment may first be necessary to restore its normal health. Resinol Soap and Ointment are sold by all druggists.

For samples free, write to: Dept. 238, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Men like the way Resinol Shaving Stick soothes the face and prevents irritation after shaving. Resinol Shaving Stick is a real satisfaction.

Bartlett, turned in a total of 47 new applicants, and the representation, captained by John Chalmers, presented 43 candidates for admission. Owing to a wager made before the contest, it devolved upon the losing team to furnish a supper to the winning aggregation, and the losers went through in fine style.

Following the banquet a business meeting of the fraternity was held at which the officers of the past year were re-elected as follows: John A. Osgood, president; Charles L. Randall, vice president; Frank C. Lawrence, secretary; Orville Robinson, treasurer; Otis Butler, Charles M. Bixby, Horace Hanson, R. Wood and Rev. E. H. Newcomb, advisory committee.

The entertainment program included a number of virolietta selections on a machine operated by Will Rounds; a harmonica solo by John Chalmers; a piano selection by Robert Wood; a violin solo by Albert Mertrude; and a Welsh song by William Ellis. The program was brought to a fitting close with a "fraternity sing."

PERPETUAL WAR

Two Republics Occupying Island of Haiti Are Forever Scrapping

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Elsewhere on the globe wars may be waged and wars may cease, but revolutions go on forever, seemingly, in the two republics occupying the island of Haiti. Double trouble exists there at the present time. In the black republic on the western end of the island the president, supported by American forces under the Admiral Caperton, is at loggerheads with his parliament, while in the eastern republic of Santo Domingo, President Jimenez, impeached by his chamber of deputies, has resigned rather than brook armed intervention on the part of the United States.

"The National Geographic Society," from its headquarters in Washington, gives the following account of the revolution-ridden, Siamese twins of the family of nations:

"Less than two months after Columbus first sighted land in the western hemisphere he had set foot on the northwest extremity of the island which he named Española (Little Spain), subsequently baptized into Hispaniola and now known as Haiti. Four years later Santo Domingo, on the southeastern coast of this, the second largest island of the Antilles, was founded, the first European settlement in the new world.

"For two hundred years Haiti, then called Santo Domingo, remained a Spanish colony, but by the treaty of Baylen (1808) it came under the domination of Louis XIV of France, through a peculiar combination of circumstances, constituting one of the most picturesque pages of adventure in the history of the western world. Tortuga, lying off the northwestern coast of Santo Domingo, had been seized and held as the treasure island of a group of adventurous English and French seamen, led by bold and ruthless commanders. These privateers, as they were called, had been waging a bitter warfare against Spanish commerce, their animosity being actuated by Spain's repressive trade regulations. Santo Domingo had suffered greatly as a result of these restrictions, but one of the island's few remaining profitable industries was the butchering of wild cattle, the meat being sold to smugglers. The natives prepared this meat in huts which they called boucan, and the English and French seamen, learning the 'trick' of curing the meat, became butchers and 'boucaniers,' supplying passing vessels with preserved beef and afterward robbing these same ships.

"When the peace of Ryswick was concluded so many Frenchmen had settled on the west end of Santo Domingo that this portion of the island was ceded to France. A hundred years later Spain parted with the eastern end, also, but before the whole island came under her jurisdiction, France had begun to have her troubles with the slaves whose importation from Africa had begun under the Spanish regime as early as 1512. While the Europeans were divided among themselves over the problems of the French Revolution the negroes rose against their oppressors and under the leadership of Toussaint L'Ouverture, one of the most remarkable men ever produced by the black race, attained their freedom. Toussaint, the grandson of an African chief, was a military genius who made the grave mistake of styling himself the Black Napoleon. His resentment being aroused against this self-proclaimed understudy, France's Man of Destiny sent his brother-in-law, Leclerc, to Haiti to subjugate the rebels. Through treachery, Toussaint was captured and sent to France where he died in 1803.

"Desalines, Toussaint's follower, declared Haiti independent and assumed the title of emperor in 1804. After his assassination two years later by two of his officers, Christophe and Pétion, the northern section of the island came under the sway of the former, a negro, while Pétion established a mulatto republic to the south. Jean Pierre Boyer, a mulatto of exceptional ability, succeeded these two and gained complete control of the whole island, ruling with firmness for nearly a quarter of a century. The French, having recognized the independence of Haiti in 1825, in 1844 the eastern two-thirds of the island set up the independent republic of Santo Domingo, with the city of the same name as its capital. On several occasions the latter country has made overtures to the United States, proposing annexation and at one time negotiations had progressed as far as the ratification of a treaty by the Dominican people, but, as in the case of the proposed purchase of the Danish West Indies two years previously, the United States senate, by a tie vote, rejected the proposal.

"For the last three-quarters of a century rulers in both Haiti and Santo Domingo have followed each other like hinds of passage, flight, assassination and forcible removal from office being the rule rather than the exception.

"The republic of Haiti, which reflects its French character in the language of its people and in the custom of sending the children of its wealthy class to Paris to be educated, occupies a territory somewhat larger than the combined area of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The capital, Port-au-Prince, is a city of about 75,000. Jeremie, one of the smaller cit-

EARLY MORNING FATIGUE

When you awake in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with one of the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refresh the tired brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition. Neurasthenia is the name given to this common form of nervous debility in which the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need. Many nervous disorders, sometimes chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worth a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

is, is noted as the birthplace of the elder, Dumas.

"Santo Domingo, where Spanish is the prevailing language, has an area twice as great as Haiti, being about the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined, but with only one third the population of the smaller republic.

"While no accurate census of the two republics has ever been taken, the estimated population is 2,700,000, which is 700,000 more than the number of Indians supposed to have been living on the island at the time of its discovery by Columbus.

"The Caribs called this island Haiti, meaning 'high land,' and it well deserves the name, for it is exceedingly mountainous."

GUARDING OUR SOUTHERN BORDER AGAINST FURTHER RAIDS BY BANDITS A GRAVE MATTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—The decision of the war department to order out the militia organizations of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona to aid in guarding the southern border of the United States against further raids by Mexican bandits, makes the boundary line between the two republics a topic of paramount interest. This boundary is the subject of today's war geography bulletin, issued by the National Geographic Society from its Washington headquarters, which says:

"All the territory of the four border states of California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas originally belonged to the Mexican republic, and if the United States were called upon to guard the lines which constituted the southern border before acquisition of Texas and the land purchased after the war of 1848, the boundary would extend for a distance of 2500 miles instead of 1,833 miles as now.

"The Rio Grande, which constitutes a natural boundary between the two countries for a distance of 1135 miles, rises in the mountains of southern Colorado and flows southeast into the Gulf of Mexico. It becomes a part of the boundary at El Paso, some 700 miles from its source. Owing to the extensive use of its waters for irrigation purposes and to rapid evaporation during the summer months, the river's volume frequently is so diminished that for many miles along its course the bed becomes dry. Its flow is by no means commensurate with its length or with the basin of 240,000 square miles which it drains.

"The Rio Grande is navigated by small boats for 500 miles above its mouth, but it is one of the most variable of rivers, the volume of water which it discharges some years being ten times as great as during others.

"To the Mexicans the upper river is known as the 'Rio Grande del Norte' (Great River of the North), but in the Big Bend region, where the latest border outrages have occurred, it is known as the 'Rio Bravo' (Rapids River).

"The whole boundary line as it now exists between the United States and Mexico has been established through the purchase of territory by the former republic, for, although the war of 1848 was fought to fix the Rio Grande as the Texas border, by the Guadalupe Hidalgo treaty Mexico received $15,000,000 and was relieved of $3,000,000 of debts in payment for her concessions in Texas and for the territory embraced in the state then known as New Mexico, from which California, Nevada, Utah, most of Arizona and portions of Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico have been carved. Six years after this treaty the Gadsden purchase was consummated, whereby for $10,000,000 the United States, in addition to other concessions, acquired more than 45,000 additional square miles lying between the Gila river on the north and the present boundary line between Arizona and New Mexico and the Mexican state of Sonora. This sale was unpopular in Mexico and was partly responsible for the banishment of President Santa Anna.

"One-fifth of the total area of the United States (Alaska and the insular possessions exclusive) is embraced in the four states on the Mexican border, while three-sevenths of Mexico's area is included in her six border states of Lower California, Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, and Tamaulipas.

"If all the militiamen of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas which the war department has called upon for patrol duty on the Mexican border were strung out as sentries they would form a thin khaki line with each man, including officers, a third of a mile from his nearest neighbor to the right and left. If eight hour tours of duty were required our southern militia 'wall,' as ancient Sparta called her fighting men, would be composed of 'bricks' a mile apart."

"Cook today gave me a couple of hints on removing stains which I am very glad to give you. Coffee stains, she says, can be removed from table linen and from the most delicate silks by brushing the spot with glycerine. Rinse with lukewarm water and press on the wrong side. If the material is very delicate, care should be taken not to wet more than is possible and to have the iron very cool. Peach stains can be removed from wash materials by moistening the spot with glycerine. Let it stand for a while and then wash. She also told me that lemons may be purchased when cheap and kept for months. Put a layer of fine, dry sand about an inch deep in an earthenware vessel. Place a row of lemons on this, with stalk ends downward, and be very careful that the lemons do not touch. Cover them with another layer of sand about three inches deep and on this layer place another lot of lemons, and so on until the jar is full. Store in a cool, dry place.

"Cook gave me some very good hints on laundry work this morning which I think will interest you. She said when washing fabrics of delicate colors do not rub soap on the articles themselves. Instead, make a suds first, and immerse the piece in it, rubbing gently between the hands. Gingham, whose color is likely to run on the first washing, should previously be soaked in cold water to which a tablespoonful of turpentine has been added.

"If colored embroidery is to be washed, the colors can be kept from running, in some instances, by rubbing the piece in a mixture of bran and hot water. Boil half a pint of bran and the same quantity together slowly for 20 minutes, strain and add a pint of boiling water. Squeeze and rub delicate laces in this. Rinse in water to which salt has been added. Dry quickly and do not fold wet pieces as the color is liable to run into the white material.

There are many tricks to sweeping, says Cook, and here are some she told me. There are probably as many ways of sweeping a room as there are women in the world, she says. She heard recently of a woman who believes in sweeping her broom with gasoline and sweeping with windows open. Another avers that her bright rugs are due to sprinkling them with coarse salt wet with gasoline before sweeping. Still another tears up strips of newspapers, wrings them out of water and pushes them before her broom. Of course, the carpet sweeper and the vacuum cleaner make it necessary to sweep thoroughly every day, but housewives cling to the theory that there are times when nothing but the broom will do.

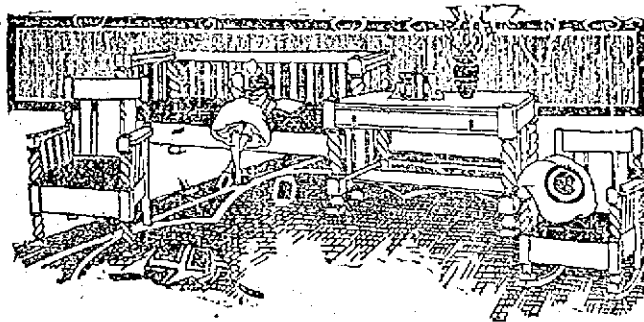

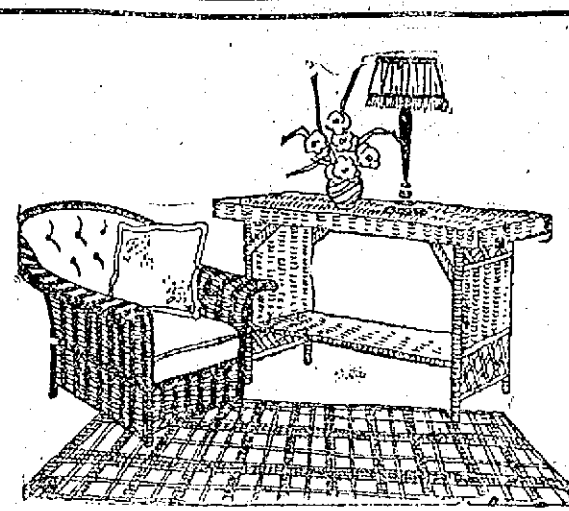

To save window cleaning, says Cook, use a dry cloth on the windows once a week and rub them hard. It will keep them just as clean as a lot of time with soap and water. She also says she adds a small handful of sal soda to a pailful of warm water for cleaning woodwork. Just wet the surface over-

Cook says soap can be made out of nothing and get a nice something. She says never to throw food away, no matter how small the amount. Save it for soup. Save also all drippings and bones, all water in which vegetables have been boiled and put aside for soup. Add a little barley or tapioca balls soaked over night to the clear stock, a little celery seed, a dash of paprika, salt and pepper and flavor. Never boil soup. Sometimes you will want a clear soup. Take broth from the pot roast, and for soup for the next day add noodles.

Cook says to clean brass, first wash it with strong ammonia soapuds and rinse with hot water. Dry thoroughly. Then, if it is not clean, rub it with vinegar and salt mixed to a paste. Then polish with tripoli and sweet oil. Troublesome articles of brass cleaned in this way—fireirons, candlesticks, bowls and the like—will stay clean for months. Wood ashes and lemon juice mixed to a paste and applied with a cloth also removes spots from brass, which should then be polished with a dry chambray or a dry flannel.

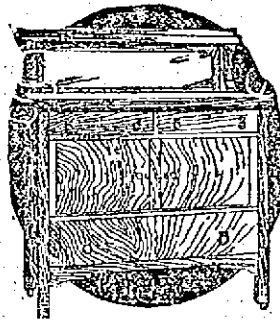

Cook tests eggs by filling a wide-bottomed glass tumbler half full of water and laying the egg in it. If the egg is fresh it will lie flat on the bottom of the tumbler. If it is about three weeks old the big end will be raised slightly above the pointed end. If the egg is three months old, the long arm will stand out the small end, and if older than three months it will rise to the surface. These periods of time refer to eggs which have been kept in a cool place.

For removing soup stock from the kettle, the Cook bent a glass tube, making a siphon, the short arm measuring seven inches, the long arm 12 inches. This tube she fills with warm water, inserts a cork in the opening of the long arm, then inserts the short arm in the kettle of stock and simply

The infirmities of age are especially manifest in a tendency to constipation, and call for treatment that will afford relief in an easy, natural manner. The rapid action of cathartic remedies and purgatives that shock the system should be avoided, more especially as the relief they offer is only temporary and is usually more than offset by disturbance to the vital organs caused by their violent action.

T. R. ON PREPAREDNESS

Favors Military Training and
Methods in National Defense

DETROIT, Mich., May 19.—Hundred of school children waving American flags were among the throng which greeted Theodore Roosevelt at the railway station this forenoon, when he arrived here to be the guest of honor at the American day celebration.

Before Col. Roosevelt was escorted to the Detroit Athletic club at the head of an automobile parade he made a short address to the Boy Scouts, who were lined up in front of the station. He told them he believed in their organization because it taught them to fight for truth and not be "mollycoddlers."

After luncheon at the club house Col. Roosevelt spent nearly two hours before going to a local opera house to deliver an address on "Americanism and Preparedness for Peace."

This afternoon Col. Roosevelt was to make a short address to a mass meeting in Grand Circus park, in the heart of the business district. Before he returns to New York late this afternoon, it was announced, he expects to visit Henry Ford.

Col. Roosevelt's Address
Col. Theodore Roosevelt, in an address, reiterated his opposition "to all kinds of hyphenated Americanism," advocated universal military service based on universal training, and declared that we must abolish "pork-barrel" methods in our national defense, stop talking and get down to the actual business of thorough preparedness if we are "to make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong."

Colonel Roosevelt prefaced his speech by announcing that he had "come here to Michigan because in the primary for the selection of delegates to the republican national convention, Mr. Ford was victorious, and following on his victory here, he showed a marked popular strength in Nebraska and Pennsylvania. The effect of this showing has been immediately visible upon many of the politicians within and without Congress."

"We, through our representatives at Washington," said Colonel Roosevelt, "have absolutely refused in the smallest degree to prepare during these 22 months of world cataclysm. We have refused to learn the smallest part of the lesson being written on the scroll of torment in Europe. We have scornfully refused to take the smallest step either to do our duty to ourselves or to do our duty to others. We have endeavored to deceive ourselves by announcing that in this policy of supine inaction and of failure to perform duty, we are actuated by the loftiest motives. I doubt whether we have really deceived ourselves, and most certainly we have not deceived others. There is not a nation in the world which believes that our course of conduct has been dictated by anything save timidity, unworthy shrinking from effort and responsibility, and cold and selfish love of money making and of soft ease.

"In any serious crisis there are always men who try to carry water on both shoulders. These men try to escape the hard necessity of choice between two necessarily opposite alternatives, by trying to work up some compromise. In actual practice, this compromise usually proves to combine with exquisite nicety all the defects and none of the advantages of both courses. It is true that in ordinary political matters compromise is essential. It is true that in ordinary times it is essential. But there come great crises when compromise is either impossible or fatal. This is one of those crises. There is no use in saying that we will sit ourselves to defend ourselves a little, but not much. Such a position is equivalent to announcing that, if necessary, we shall hit, but that we shall only hit soft. The only right principle is to prepare thoroughly or not at all. The only right principle is to avoid hitting if it is possible to do so, but never under any circumstances to hit soft. To go to war a little, but not much, is the one absolutely certain way to ensure disaster. To prepare a little but not much, stands on a par with a city developing a fire department which, after a fire occurs, can put it out a little, but not much."

Colonel Roosevelt declared that the Wilson administration "has taken no step for preparedness, and has done nothing efficient to sustain our national rights." Because, he said, the administration had at intervals "ventured feebly to speak in contradiction of its non-action," the ultra-pacifists and their followers have refused it any whole-hearted support. They object,

Colonel Roosevelt added, "even to make-believe preparedness; they insist on even more thorough-going helplessness than that which we had so amply provided at Washington."

"We must make this nation as strong as are its convictions in reference to right and wrong," declared Colonel Roosevelt. "It little matters what our ideals may be and what achievements we may hope for, if these ideals and achievements are not reduced to action. The events of the past, and the events of today show that national ideals amount to nothing if the nation lacks the power to maintain them against opposition."

"Therefore, if we are to win at home against those of our fellow citizens who believe in the policy of unpreparedness, that is, of national weakness and inefficiency, we must have strong and well reasoned convictions and express them with strength and sincerity. A considerable part of the strength of Mr. Ford in the primaries, and of the strength of the advocates of half-preparedness at Washington, comes from the fact that no real alternative of policy is offered with simplicity and fearlessness."

In urging "universal military service based on universal training," Colonel Roosevelt said he believed in it because it would be not only of incalculable benefit to the nation in the event of war, but of incalculable benefit to the individuals undergoing it, and therefore to the nation, as regards the work of peace. He continued:

"I believe that the dog-tent would prove a most effective agent for democratizing and nationalizing our life; quite as much so as the public school, and far more so than the American factory and the American city as they are today. Preparedness through universal service would turn out to be the best possible school of practical civics. In such a school all men who are Americans in spirit would get together and learn to work together, so as to insure co-operation among our people in social and industrial life. Such co-operation will secure not merely liberty and opportunity, but also the sense of obligation—which is just as important as the other two."

"We must abolish pork-barrel methods in the army—as regards army posts, navy yards, as regards everything else. Remember that after preparedness has been accepted by the country and the necessary funds voted, the real work will have only begun. England's navy represents over three centuries and Germany's army over two centuries of development along an unbroken line of tradition and progress to the present stage of efficiency. This first and all important essential is to divorce the army and navy organizations absolutely from politics."

Colonel Roosevelt asserted that "the extreme naval party in Germany has recently advocated war with the United States on the ground that in the end, as the result of such a war, we would have to pay all the war expenditures of the Germanic powers and their allies."

"These enormous sums would be raised by taxation on all our citizens," he said; "those of German descent would pay as heavily as those of any other descent; and all would share equally the shame and dishonor. A foreign foe is the foe of all of us alike. If in this land the citizens of one national origin successfully set the fashion of influencing this nation to its own detriment in the interest of the country from which they originally came, sooner or later it is absolutely certain that the citizens of some other national origin will repeat the experiment; and this country will be left degraded and helpless among the nations. If such an event befall us, the bitter bread of humiliation will be eaten by all of those who dwell in this land, no matter what their creed, no matter what their national origin. It will be eaten by your children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren just as much as by mine."

"Americanism is a matter of the spirit, not of birthplace or descent. Among the best Americans I have ever known, among the men closest to me in social and political life, are, and have been, men born in, or men whose fathers were born in Germany, Ireland, the Scandinavian kingdoms, and other European countries. They stand on an exact level with the other Americans, whose ancestors were here in colonial times. We are all part of the same people."

man or woman who can't read to be able to know just what the thing is all about and to reap an equal benefit with those who can read. The picture tells the story and that is why the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has spent so much money on pictures for use in their welfare literature.

The Family's Happiness

The happiness and health of every family, as we read in that very valuable little booklet, "First Aid in the Home," distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, depend upon the members working together for the common good. We all know how much a good mother means for happiness. But perhaps we do not always remember how important the mother is so far as the good health of the family is concerned. As a matter of fact, the condition of the home and the care rest on her shoulders. From the children's earliest days until they are big enough to look out for themselves, the mother looks after them with her tender care. Love cannot be learned, it is true, but love and knowledge do not always go together. The mother has the good will; she should have the necessary knowledge as well and that is just what she can gather and receive by attending these health week exhibits and carrying home with her some of the little booklets so kindly and generously distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The object of these booklets is to teach prevention of disease and injury, when to call the doctor, and the first thing to do when illness threatens or accidents occur in the home. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and the truth of this old adage is more important so far as disease is concerned than in connection with anything else. Some Interesting Data Middlesex hall is replete with interesting data and the lectures scheduled for each afternoon at 3 and Saturday evening at 8 should find hundreds ready to take advantage of an unusual opportunity. The hall is occupied by the Y.M.C.A. exhibit of camp pictures, gymnastic photographs, and health exercise paraphernalia under the direction of W. A. Bristol, assistant secretary of the association. The Boy Scouts have prepared an interesting corner. They got their tent in position today and if you would see Boy Scout life in all its glory and complete in every detail, just peep in at Middlesex hall. But while the exhibition in Middlesex hall is very interesting it is not so important, of course, as the exhibits and demonstrations on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building and people are urged not to miss these exhibits.

In the Chalfoux building yesterday the demonstrations given by Miss Holland of the Lowell Guild included, a feat in scientific bathing. Miss Holland, a very attractive woman, who would not find a boy who would volunteer as a bath subject. She made application at Boy Scouts headquarters during the forenoon, but the boys didn't seem to take very kindly to the idea of being given a bath in public. But she finally found one little fellow who had the necessary courage and he was given the bath of his life.

Men and Microbes Yesterday afternoon Dr. Joseph A. Mehan gave a health lecture on "Men and Microbes," in connection with the health exhibit on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux store. A small, darkened stage was partitioned off, and a small screen and lantern arranged for pictures. The audience, which was of encouraging size, included both men and women, and there was close attention paid to the speaker. Dr. Chas. B. Simons lectured in Middlesex hall during the afternoon on "Insects and Disease."

The guild has hung several interesting placards at the different places in which the demonstrations are being held. One of these reads: "Only one air to breathe at night is right air. Breathe it. The only night air not to breathe is last night's air. Open the windows and let it out."

The series of pictures shown by Dr. Mehan were accompanied by valuable suggestions and explanations by the doctor. They showed how diseases are carried by small organisms, and gave many valuable hints on avoiding such transmission of diseases. One picture showed an ordinary country condition, where a typhoid patient occupied one room of the house, near which was a cesspool from the sink, an outhouse, and, in the very worst place that it could be located, at the foot of a slope, the family well.

Dr. Mehan told how water is purified by storage, keeping it perfectly still. It is an erroneous idea, he said, that running water will purify itself. Still water will purify itself, but running water, never. The harmful bacilli must have time to live upon, and when it has consumed all the fifth there is in the water, the bacilli will die and water will become pure.

Charts were shown, indicating the spread of an epidemic down the Merrimack river from Concord to Lowell and Lawrence, when the river water was used for drinking purposes, unfettered.

A picture of an old barn was shown in connection with the doctor's instructions as to the importance of clean milk. A huge pile of manure provided an excellent breeding place for flies, and the flies contaminated the milk.

The Stagnant Pool A picture of a stagnant pool suggested a good breeding place for mosquitoes, and the doctor said that the spreading of oil on a pool of that kind would result in destroying hundreds of thousands of mosquitoes. It was demonstrated at Panama, he said, that you cannot get malaria or yellow fever unless you have been bitten by a mosquito that has previously bitten a patient having one of those diseases.

Yet the mosquito, he said, is not so great a menace as the fly. It should not be called the "house fly." It should be called the "typhoid fly." A fly may walk over a piece of food today; that is, he can enter tomorrow and enough germs will develop in that piece of food to poison a regiment. A single pair of flies will develop something like two hundred million millions of flies, in a season. A greatly magnified picture of a fly's foot showed thousands of germs carried upon it. Another picture showed the progress of a fly from his hatching in the manure heap, through various places of filth, to his final destination, the dinner table.

The danger from public drinking cups was emphasized. It is not safe, he said, to drink from a cup that has been used by others, unless it has been positively sterilized. The very worst diseases that we know of can be contracted innocently. The common towel is also a great spreader of disease. The doctor recommended the use of paper towels in all public places.

Fruits and green vegetables from the market should be thoroughly washed before they are eaten, and, of course, taking care of a typhoid patient, should not be allowed to carry food to others. She is a positive carrier of typhoid germs.

Closing, the doctor quoted the words of Dr. Pasteur: "It is within the power of men to banish from the world all infectious diseases."

Files and Filth Files are disease carriers. They live and breed in all kinds of filth. Files infect food and liquids by germination. Each female fly can lay 150 eggs. Files should be kept out of dwellings and the following are a few of the places in which they are distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in connection with the health exhibits:

The presence of flies is a direct evidence of careless housekeeping and the existence of filth in some form about the premises:

Remember that when and where absolute cleanliness prevails there will be no flies:

Look daily after the garbage cans. See that they are carefully sprinkled with a disinfectant.

Look carefully after the cuspidors; they require constant attention; they should always contain a disinfectant.

Files feast on tuberculous sputum, and lower around and around. The specks of flies contain live tubercle bacilli after they have eaten tuberculous sputum, showing that the bacilli will pass through the digestive tract of the fly in an active, infective state.

Files carry on their mouths and on their legs disease germs, on which they have recently fed, and then crawl over food infecting it.

Keep flies from the sick, especially those ill with communicable or contagious diseases.

Don't forget that flies will carry the bacilli of typhoid fever to the food in the kitchen and dining-room. This is no conjecture.

The Spanish-American war proved this fact:

The great secret of how to get rid of flies is cleanliness; screen all food. Keep receptacles for garbage carefully covered, and the cans cleaned or sprinkled with oil, lime, or some good disinfectant.

Cover food after a meal. Screen all windows and doors, especially the kitchen and dining-room. Don't forget if you see flies, that their breeding place is near by.

It may be behind the door, under the table or in the cuspidor.

If there is no dirt and filth there will be no flies.

If there is a nuisance in the neighborhood write at once to the health department.

SEE HEALTH EXHIBIT

Whether you live in the poorest section in a large tenement block or in a palatial residence in the suburbs, you will find much to interest you in the store at Merrimack and John streets, on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building and in Middlesex hall. In all probability you will find something that you may apply to your own home conditions and to your own family, but if not, you will be taught to take a more lively interest in the needs of others. We are all working for a better Lowell, and we would have a better Lowell if the lessons of the health exhibit were learned generally and as generally applied.

The exhibits in the vacant store near the corner of John street are particularly practical and timely. Here one may see by actual photographs ideal living and home conditions and the contrary; dangerous occupations and their aid; hygiene for the worker; the care of children and evils that must be eliminated; statistics of infant mortality; the result of greater care before birth, at birth and in early infancy, and so on. An electric bulb flashes once in ten seconds and each time it goes out we are told a baby dies, most of them through neglect or ignorance.

The two things emphasized in the Merrimack street exhibit are the need for fighting tuberculosis by modern sanitary methods and child welfare work. Even more impressive than the purely humanitarian appeals is the display of the Metropolitan Insurance company, which is a proof of the importance of health conservation in modern business life. The aid given movements of this kind by insurance companies and other companies is enabling those interested to reach more people than would be possible by a lone effort. The pamphlets given out are the work of experts after scientific investigation, and pictures tell plainly of what has been achieved already. One poster shows a horribly emaciated infant that resembled a skeleton, side by side with another picture of the same infant after he had been fed on mother's milk. The grotesque skeleton had become a plump and lovely child, full of health and smiles. Such examples will live in the memory long after the exhibit as a whole is forgotten.

The free lectures on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building have been a great factor for good, likewise the demonstration of food products and the modifying of milk. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a demonstration of the work of the district nurse, including the bathing of a patient in bed, and there will be practical applications of the truths shown in the child welfare exhibit. The nurses and members of committees in attendance are eager to explain the exhibits to the public, and the educational appeal of the movement is apparent to the most heedless.

The first aid demonstrations given by the boys of the Y.M.C.A. and the Boy Scouts in Middlesex hall do not meet such a general need as the others, but they are a commendable feature. Whether as proofs of the good that can be done by healthy boys who have been taught to reverse discipline, or as a lesson to be remembered, this phase of the campaign has its place in rounding out an impression of satisfaction.

OUR FLAG IN TRADE

For years, Americans who have toured the world have said on coming home that to their immense disappointment they have seen the flags of all nations except the United States in foreign ports. This was in spite of the fact that we were almost at the head of all commercial nations. Unless the unforeseen occurs we shall soon lead all trading powers, and it can never be said again that the American flag does not float on the seven seas.

We have not yet established our merchant marine, a bill for which is now in congress, but we have made a good beginning. According to the watchful and dependable department of commerce, 368 vessels, with a tonnage of more than 1,000,000 are now in process of construction or are under contract in American yards. Of these 221 are for salt water trade and 147 for lakes and rivers. The department says that these figures denote the greatest shipbuilding activity in our history, and that every shipbuilding plant is working to capacity. Since then announcement has been made that new plants are being established.

Some papers of a partisan brand try to argue from the above condition that a government owned merchant marine is unnecessary, but they willfully ignore the fact that the administration has from the first declared its belief in private enterprise and advocated the government ships only as a temporary measure. In spite of the fact that ships are being built as quickly as the shipyards can turn them out, business calls for more and more, and should it come to pass that private capital will supply a sufficient number, the government would instantly withdraw. We are to have a great many ships in the future, but we will yet have a shortage. This surely speaks well for business and denotes a measure of prosperity in the near future such as has not been anticipated by the most sanguine.

ATTRACTING SKILLED WORKERS

The Sun has been calling the attention of its readers to the crying necessity for desirable homes in this city, not so much to meet the needs of our population but to attract out-of-town workers. An item in a recent edition of a Bridgeport paper will illustrate our point of view:

In Chicopee Falls, Mass., lives a workman—a skilled mechanic—who earns $25 a week. He is married and has four children. He was attracted by an advertisement telling of the great opportunities for men in Bridgeport, Conn., and like many others he went to investigate. He soon found the kind of a job he was after which would pay him $40 a week. Before moving, he looked round for a home, but was unable to find one suitable. Being devoted to his family and anxious that they should have every possible advantage, he decided that he was better off in Chicopee Falls, and so he went back to his $25 job.

Now, this one individual is representative of a large class, and it is the class that Lowell should strive to attract. When a man from another city thinks of coming to Lowell to work, he considers more than the job and the salary. He tries to find out if it is a good place to live in and to bring up a family. Unless he can get a good home, at a reasonable rent, convenient to schools, etc., and with all the advantages of a live, progressive city, he may be contented to remain where he is. If we wish to have workers of the better kind—and we need them in many of our industries—we must make it worth their while to come here.

This fact should not be lost sight of by the committee of the board of trade which is now studying Lowell's housing problems. Herein is one of the strongest arguments for annexation which The Sun believes not only desirable but necessary if Lowell is to make the most of its opportunities. We claim that Lowell is a "city of opportunity"; let us put our belief into practice by making others see better living and working opportunities here than they have elsewhere.

WAR'S LASTING EFFECTS

This country knows only too well that war has brought many changes of a burdensome nature, but most of these changes will not prove permanent. The shortage of dyes, of leather, of paper and of many other materials; the increasing cost of much needed commodities; the substitution of inferior for the better class of goods; the curtailment of imports, etc., all will pass, but other results will remain, and the world shall not again be what it was. In some ways, it may be worse, but in many ways it will be better.

Taxation burdens will have to be reckoned with, and the loss of men and money, but there will be compensation. In face of foes from without, all of the belligerents have recognized the need for social justice within and there shall be a growth of democracy such as has not hitherto been. France shall have seen the evils of irreligion; England shall have a greater sense of mass equality; Germany may rebel against military arrogance and domination; Russia may advance in civilization and remove the bars that make her subject races disloyal. The smaller peoples, Poland, Serbia, Ireland, and races such as the Jews and the Armenians have prospects of a brighter future, and the world that has been tried in the fires of war may face a brighter era than seemed possible a decade ago.

DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Young—Apply Q-Ban—Harmless—No Dye.

Not a trace of gray shows in your hair after a few applications of Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer to hair and scalp. Q-Ban is no dye but a harmless ready-to-use liquid. If your hair is gray, streaked with gray, prematurely gray, faded, thin or falling, simply shampoo hair and scalp with Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer. All your gray hair and entire head of hair then quickly turns to an even, beautiful dark shade, leaving all your hair healthy, fluffy, soft, radiant, full of life, fascinating, so evenly dark and handsome no one will suspect you used Q-Ban. Also stops dandruff and falling hair. Sold on a money-back guarantee. Only 50c for a big bottle at Riker-Jaynes Drug Store, 121 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass. Out-of-town people supplied by parcel post.—Advertisement.

decade ago. On the other hand, it is possible that the war may go on until all of the great powers are exhausted, and it is hard to see how anything but evil to all can come from such an exterminating conflict.

READ THE ADS.

The advertisements of a daily paper are something more than a commercial record published by merchants and manufacturers for selfish purposes. They are a record of the time, in every sense. We get so used to them that we do not realize it, but if we want proof we have only to look at an old newspaper. Occasionally a copy of a paper of half a century ago comes to this office. Its news columns tell of the movements of the age and its editorials show how public opinion was tending, but the real interest is in the advertisements. So shall it be in the future. Fifty years hence, men in Lowell will occasionally take copies of papers published in Lowell today and they will read of the enterprising merchants who now advertise their wares. They will find humor in much that will appear primitive, and they will comment on the changing fashions, for nowhere is there a commentary of change better than the changing advertisements. One who ponders on this can easily realize why Mark Twain protested against the cutting out of advertisements in magazines mailed to him. To be sure no argument is needed to show the public why they should read advertisements in order to get the best value for their money. Those who read them know their value and as for the others—well, where ignorance is costly, 'tis foolish to be stubborn.

AN AUTHORS' UNION

We have actors' unions and musicians', and now we may have authors' unions. We are told that the Authors' League of America, of which Winston Churchill is president and Theodore Roosevelt vice-president, is considering the advisability of joining the American Federation of Labor. Thus does progress go marching on—and why not?

Yet, one cannot accept the statement without at least one look back and another look forward, and then a wondering feeling as to what the Authors' union can do. The look back recalls Goldsmith, Thompson, Keats, Burns, Chatterton, Hawthorne, Mangin, and all that mighty host who wrote best when they were poorest and most abject, and who would scarcely have written at all were it not for the need of necessity. Wonder would they have done as well if they belonged to a union?

The look forward visualizes the literary world of the future with everything laid out by rule. No longer shall long-haired poets labor in barren garrets, and no longer shall fledgling editors fill yawning waste baskets with the first fruits of budding genius. Out shall come the union card with a proof of dues paid up to date and the article shall be accepted at union prices. It will be a good day for the union, but how about literature? There are many who think that just as the unions were good for the musician and bad for music, so should a union prove in another profession where genius does not apportion itself according to any law or rule.

BERNSTORFF'S ADVICE

Through her secretary here, Germany has asked all Germans in this country to observe American laws to the letter and to do nothing that might get Germany in wrong with the American people. It is excellent advice and it ought to be followed, but does it not come rather late? Had von Bernstorff said as much a year ago or sooner and repeated it at stated intervals, Germany might have been spared much controversy that hurt her cause, and it is questionable if any single violation of American laws by German agents and sympathizers helped Germany in a military sense. If Germany is sincere in this latest appeal she shows a more sane attitude than at any time since the war started, and she may well wish to be saved from some of her friends who have hurt her more than her enemies—in this country.

People still plant ornamental trees and shrubs around their homes, but what is more ornamental than an apple tree at all times of the year? Just now the trees are the brides of the orchard, covered with pink-tipped blossoms; soon they will bear clusters of green fruit and then will come the fragrant richness of autumn. Even in winter their gnarled trunks have a character that seems appropriate in this New England, the home of the best apples in the world.

A lecturer in Boston a few evenings ago talked on "The Modern Newspaper and What It Stands For." Among other things he said that Shakespeare was a poor reporter and would not last a week on a live paper of today. He did not state whether the reflection is on Shakespeare or the paper but, be that as it may, the modern newspaper has to "stand for" a great deal.

SEEN AND HEARD

These strike riots here and there may be merely the prosperity pimples that indicate rich blood in the body politic.

Mrs. Mary Woolsey of Omaha, Neb., claims the title of champion mother. At 22 she is the mother of seven children, six of whom are living, and the stepmother of seven. She is five feet tall and weighs 120 pounds. When she was 11 years old she married a widower with seven children.

When Clarence Suttelle, aged 12, of Aurora, Ill., found he needed an auto, he made one. It works. It has a real gasoline engine of one quarter of a horsepower, electrical sparking device and other needed machinery all put together by Clarence in his own workshop in the back yard.

No great war of our time has ended during the winter months, nor, with the exception of the Russo-Japanese war, has any begun then. For a century all wars have begun in the spring, summer or early autumn, and ended between March and August.

A young rural mail carrier of Bellefontaine, O., reports finding a bluebird's nest in the mail box at Jacob Troyer's home. He is depositing the mail very carefully each day so as not to disturb the bird on the nest.

King George of England is making a collection which may some day prove very valuable. It is a complete set of all the trench periodicals that are being issued for private circulation by the men at the various fronts. Many of them are extremely curious.

Mrs. Mamie Johnson of Williston, N.D., applied at the naval recruiting station in Minneapolis to join the navy as a cook. "Women at this time should do something for their country," she said. She explained that in reading the law she had failed to find the passage prohibiting enlistment of women.

Sadie Valentine of Atlanta, Ga., has had Gus Cochran restrained from courtship by her by order of the court. He acted too much like a cave man for Miss Valentine and on her complaint has been made to promise by Judge Luther Rosser to woo her no more.

Somerville Journal Penelings

You can't please any girl whose name is Isabel by telling her that Adam Clarke, the classical philologist, says that Isabel and Jezebel are the same name.

Any poet who cuts and splits a cord of wood while he is thinking out a poem may justly feel when he has the poem finished that he has been doing useful work.

One reason why there are so many lies in circulation is that nearly everybody wants to tell an interesting story.

When you have moved into a new house, it is hard for you to see why the neighbors generally should show such reserve.

Some of the best-paid versemakers in the country might be better known if the advertising cards in the street cars were all signed.

It is fine to have a big dictionary in the house for reference, but a big dictionary isn't used half so often as a little one.

Speaking of well dinners, you might not think perhaps that dried apples and water might be called one.

Proving Faith By Work

A clever little girl, distressed over a brother's bird-trapping, once provided a very telling example of the faith she placed in her mother. Her mother, whose assistance she had implored in behalf of the birds, declined to inter-

TWO MOTHERS TELL

How Their Sickly Children Were Made Strong and Well

"For six years our little girl suffered from a bronchial trouble, she had no appetite, could not sleep and was so nervous we had to keep her out of school. The doctors said nothing but a change of climate would help her. We were discouraged, when one day a friend asked us to try Vinol, and after taking six bottles she does not look like the same child. She has a fine appetite, is lively, healthy and well, and Vinol did it all." Mrs. E. E. Hufford, Iola, Kan.

Another child made strong:—"The measles left my little girl thin and delicate, and the doctor's medicine did not seem to build her up. I read about Vinol and got a bottle, and her improvement was rapid, her strength returned and she is now as well as ever." Mrs. E. Linot, Pittsburg, Pa.

We ask every Lowell mother of a frail, sickly, ailing child to try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if it does not restore her child's normal health. Lisgett's Drug Store, Riker-Jaynes Drug Store, Falls & Burkinshaw, Lowell Pharmacy, Routhier & Delisle, Proprietors.

"O, it's all right, mamma," came the prompt and smiling reply. "I've asked God to make Johnny a better boy, so he wouldn't want to be trapping the poor little birdies, then I prayed that no poor little birdies would get into that trap, and then I went out and kicked the darned old trap to pieces."—Bryantville News.

What of the Fishes?
When Auditor of State Vice Donahay and six of his 10 children had returned from Sunday school he tried the children out on the lesson which had been Noah and the Ark. He inquired of their minds that of all the inhabitants of the earth, human, creeping and otherwise, all save those which had taken refuge on the ark had perished in the flood. There was nothing living at all except what was on the ark, he told the children. The waters had drowned out all life.

"Say, dad, inquired one of the youngsters, who is especially preoccupied, 'did the fishes in the water die, too?'"

This was a rouser for the auditor. He told the lad that he would answer the question later. Answering questions right off the bat is one of the accomplishments of the auditor, but the one the boy asked stumped him.—Columbus Dispatch.

Tomorrow
No one should be kinder or braver than he.

Tomorrow
A friend who was troubled and weary he knew.

Tomorrow
Who'd be glad of a lift and who needed it, too?

Tomorrow
On him he would call and see what he could do.

Tomorrow
Each morning he stacked up the letters he'd write.

PAY FOR SEIZED PROPERTY

Persons who owned property seized by the city for school purposes in Kirk and Anne streets were yesterday sent notices by the city solicitor tendering to them the amounts of money awarded some months ago by the municipal council. This form was carried out in all instances where payment has not been accepted. In addition to the awards, which in all instances were the assessed valuations of the property, there was tendered 6 per cent interest on the amount involved from Oct. 9 up to the present time, and costs of action, where action was taken, against the city.

HOME FOLKS!

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS SAY.

Boston, Mass.—"My husband took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery when he was convalescing after a serious operation. It helped build him up wonderfully and he has not had a sick day since. I feel that he owes his strength to this medicine and am glad to recommend it as a splendid tonic and strength builder."

"Dr. Pierce's book, 'The Common Sense Medical Adviser,' has been our only doctor for years in bringing up a family of eight children. It is written in language any mother can easily understand."

Mrs. Wm. Sloan, 304 E. 6th St., St. Boston, Mass.

(NOTE—If you write now, send only 3 dimes to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for this 1000-page cloth-bound book.)

Now is the time to bring to your aid Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (in tablet or liquid form). This wonderful remedy helps to restore the stomach to its natural health and strength and to secure proper flow of the digestive juices, a good appetite and full digestion of the food you eat. It invigorates the liver, regulates the bowels and purifies and enriches the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is absolutely free from alcohol and injurious drugs. You can take it and be certain you will find it a true blood-maker, tissue-builder, and restorative nerve tonic, and that it will produce no evil after-effect. Thousands are willing to recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because it has made them stronger in body, brain and nerve.

You can get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form from dealers in medicines or send Dr. Pierce 10c for large trial package.

Constipation causes and seriously aggravates many diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Peppermint. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The report in last evening's issue of the Sun, of the 25th anniversary of the Palmer club, brought to mind events of a quarter of a century ago, when the club was organized and named after the man who was at that time the most popular citizen of Lowell. Hon. Charles D. Palmer, three times mayor of Lowell, and a man who retained his popularity up to the time of his death, and who even after leaving the field of politics was not permitted by his fellow-citizens to completely retire to private life. Thus, while Mayor Palmer had been succeeded by Mayor Fife, in 1891, the former mayor was still the popular idol, and this club which organized after the mayor had become a private citizen took its name in his honor. In another item in this column we find him the guest of honor at the anniversary ball of the Burke Temperance Institute, and the columns of the old Sun reveal the fact that during the term of Mayor Fife, his predecessor attended a greater number of public functions than the mayor did. Mayor Fife had an aversion to banquets and public dances, etc., and rarely made any speeches outside of city hall, while Mayor Palmer, always agreeable, companionable and a ready and eloquent speaker, would attend anything from a christening to a wake, or from a club outing to a prayer meeting, and could adapt himself to his surroundings. He possessed an advantage not given to many of his successors in office, of being able to make a first class speech in French, and he was always on the job.

Burke's Seventh Anniversary
The Burke Temperance Institute will be 32 years old within a few days. The old Sun mentioned the event as follows:

"The seventh anniversary ball of the Burke Temperance Institute was held in Huntington hall, Tuesday evening (May 19), and there was an attendance of 2000 dancers. Never before have so many people danced on the floor of Huntington hall, at one time. Michael Sexton was general manager; John A. Marr, assistant; Frank Clark, floor director; James H. McVey, assistant; John P. Farley was chairman of the reception committee, and James Redmond, secretary of the ball committee. The grand march was led by Frank Clark and Miss Birdie Kelly. Mrs. Palmer was the guest of honor." "It's a long time since a ball has been held in Lowell at which 1900 couples have danced, and if that number attempted it in any of Lowell's halls of the present, they'd be pretty closely packed in. Only the armory could touch old Huntington hall, for floor space.

couldn't Kill Barney
Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"A boy named Bernard Judge, aged 14 years, was struck by the chief's wagon on the way to a fire in response to box 13, Tuesday evening. He had a narrow escape from death."

And now Barney is on the police force, where he'll be perfectly safe, while at home, he rejoices in the possession of a "full bench!"

Gardner W. Pearson's Debut

Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"The democratic city committee has elected the following officers: Gardner W. Pearson, chairman; George B. McKenna, vice chairman; James H. Owens, secretary; Charles H. Hobson, treasurer."

Speaking of the democratic city committee's election of officers, the old Sun, editorially, said:

"Young, able, energetic, enthusiastic,

Mr. Pearson seems to be the right man in the right place. And it only remains for the other members of the party to rally to his aid in leading the democracy to victory."

And they rallied, all right, and the following year with the help of a large number of democrats in different parts of the country, they elected Grover Cleveland president, and Hon. Moses T. Stevens, congressman, and subsequently the youthful chairman of the democratic city committee received the appointment as postmaster, and the democratic goose hung high.

Alpine Joke Us
The Alpine club passes into the quarter of a century class at this writing as the following little announcement in the old Sun will show:

When 'Blubs' Were Good
Says the old Sun:

"The Shaw Stocking company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. and has elected the following directors: F. J. Dutcher, president; Josiah Butler, treasurer; Earl A. Thissell, J. H. Sawyer, F. B. Shedd and Edward W. Thomas."

Old Tyng's Island
The Sun, quarter of a century ago announced:

"The L. Page company has leased Tyng's island and is prepared to accommodate picnic parties. Mr. George Wiggin and wife have charge of the catering and this alone is a guarantee that it will be well conducted. The boat runs at 10 a. m., 2:30 and 7 p. m. Returning at 2:30, 5:30 and 8 p. m. Last boat on Sunday at 7 p. m."

"The island" was the scene of many a lively and not a few wild events in days gone by, before the Yeager Country club took possession of it and quarter of a century ago it was just beginning to lose its popularity as a picnic grove.

Combined Street Railways

The statement made at the legislative hearings on the Bay State's petition for the privilege of raising the prices of fares, to the effect that Lakeview, Mountain Rock and other groves owned by that company are not paying propositions, recalls the days when Lakeview and Mountain Rock were in the height of their prosperity. Just quarter of a century ago, on June 1, 25 years ago the old Lowell and Dracut and Lowell Horse Railways combined and became the Lowell and Suburban, and here's the advertisement that appeared in the old Sun preceding the consolidation:

CONSOLIDATION

On and from June 1 next, the street cars now operated by the Lowell Horse Railway company and the Lowell and Dracut Street Railway company will be operated as the Lowell and Suburban Street Railway company. Until further notice the routes will be as follows:

From Broadway to Centralville and

return.

From Gorham street to Middlesex and return.

Lakeview avenue.

Fort Hill park to Highlands and return.

Post office to Pawtucket and return.

Transfer checks will be given on all lines and will be good only for a continuous passage in the same general direction on the date of trip punched. All cars on the foregoing routes, except the electric cars will pass the waiting room at corner of Prescott and Merrimack streets. A passenger on any route whose destination is a point on any other route than that of a parallel line can obtain a transfer check and change cars at the waiting room.

Lakeview tickets will be sold on all cars and will entitle the holders to a

P. F. Sullivan, General Manager.

In these days, too, one could ride for less than five cents per fare, by buying a $2 trip book which gave him 41 rides. Comparatively few of those who paid a quarter to go to Lakeview quarter of a century ago, took advantage of the ride on the lake, except to get over to Mountain Rock. Both Lakeview and Mountain Rock attracted great crowds. Lakeview had many attractions and a fine dining room, while Mountain Rock was the scene of many a big outing and ball game and boasted of a first class zoo. The town of Tyngsboro put Mountain Rock out of commission to get square with the street railway people for not giving a five cent fare from Lowell to Tyngsboro, by refusing the company a license for the place. As a result, today there is no such place as Mountain Rock, outside of the name, while the people of Tyngsboro have the distinction of paying a nickel for the shortest street car ride for the money in the whole wide world. (From the Country club to the end of the line). Strange as it may seem Lakeview went down when the price of car fare there went down. When the company charged 25 cents to get there and back, Lakeview prospered and was a paying proposition. But since the fare was lowered to five cents each way, the grove has not been such a success as it was formerly, as is probably known to all, and if the company's expert is to be believed is a failure at the present time.

THE OLD TIMER.

LOWELL SOCIALIST CLUB

At a meeting of the Lowell Socialist club, held last evening at 36 Central street, resolutions were passed in which Hon. John Jacob Rogers was asked to use his influence to prevent a breach of the friendly relations between this country and Mexico.

There will be a public meeting at 36 Central street on May 25, with Miss Grace V. Silver as speaker. The usual street meeting will be held next Monday evening at Jackson and Central streets with William E. Sproule as speaker.

CHURCH SOCIABLES

The second annual play under the auspices of the S. & C. club of the Highland Congregational church was given last evening in the church vestry, the title of the play being "Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," a three-act comedy from the pen of Evelyn Gray Whitney. Those who took part in the cast were Miss Elsie Bradt, Walter McLean, Elliott McLean, Miss Marion Yagerhorn, Miss Virginia Sargent, Irving Kimball, Donald Hanson, Gladys Dodge, Pearl Ealy, Miss Bessie Adams and Miss Harriet Smethurst.

Palmer Street Church

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society of the Palmer Street Baptist church was held last evening in the church parlors. At the close of the business meeting, supper was served by Mrs. Munn and Mrs. S. C. Pillsbury, and an entertainment program was given, those taking part being Master Wesley Boynton, Miss Marion McCord, Roderick Gendreau and Vera Brooks Brown.

ELGIN LODGE MEETING

The regular meeting of Elgin lodge, No. 166, N.E.O.P., was held last night in Veritas hall in Branch street. There was a large attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. Deputy Grand Warden Elizabeth Gahm of Cambridge made an official visit. She was accompanied by her suite which included: Deputy Grand Guide Mrs. Mayhew, Deputy Grand Chaplain Mr. Mayhew, Mrs. Clare Williams of Crystal lodge, Haverhill; Mr. Smith of Talbot lodge, Billerica, and Thomas Frost and Mrs. Porter of Echo lodge, this city. Other Echo lodge members were also present. All the visitors gave brief remarks and a social hour followed, during which refreshments were served.

"I immediately started to take Var-ne-sis, while in the hospital, in spite of the fact that other patients ridiculed me for taking a remedy that was advertised to the public. I wanted results and didn't care what was said as long as I regained my health. These same people soon saw an improvement and as I gradually recovered, became as enthusiastic about Var-ne-sis as myself. After taking the remedy nine months and finding myself strong enough, I suggested to my doctor that I was going to work. He said, 'Bosh; you'll be back in 30 days flat on your back.' It's No Secret—Public Should Know Facts

"What! A statement about my case? Well, it's no secret, and although I dislike publicity I think the public should know the facts; it may be the means of relieving others afflicted as I was," said Thomas B. Brennan, as he put the finishing touches to the close shave that the old gentleman requested.

"I have been working for more than a year and came direct from the hospital after spending two years in that institution. Don't look like a very sick man, do I? Don't look like a man that spent considerable time in a wheel chair, do I? In 1914 I contracted what the doctors called Arthritis Deformans, or rheumatism of the joints. The disease involved my toes, feet, knee, hip, neck, shoulders, arms, and fingers. Both arms were deformed and I could move them but very little on account of the stiffness and pain.

"Read this," he said, passing over a legal looking document which proved to be the hospital physician's certificate describing Mr. Brennan's case, and read as follows:

PHYSICIAN'S AFFIDAVIT

Thomas B. Brennan has been in the Hospital since March 2, 1911, and is suffering from Arthritis Deformans. Left arm is flexed at the elbow joint and is completely ankylosed, movements of left shoulder much limited. Right arm is flexed at elbow joint and motion much limited, movements of right shoulder are also much limited. CUKE BROKE UP GAME

Home Run in Eighth Won Fast Game for Lowell By Score of 4 to 3

"Cuke" Barrows' home run clout high over the right field fence settled the Lowell-Hartford game at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon, giving Lowell the one run needed to put the game on ice. "Cuke" came to the bat in the eighth inning with the score tie, no one on the bases and one man out. Zero, the Hartford twirler, hooked the first ball straight over the plate. Barrows swung from the left side hard and true and the ball went sailing, almost on a line, over the right field fence just a few yards to the right of the old $50 target which is now being rebuilt. Only 10 or a dozen cracks have been sent over the right field fence inside the foul line in the history of Spaulding park and very few, if any, were as long as the one yesterday.

Though the weather was cold, the game was fast throughout and before the home run came in the eighth inning fans were predicting an overtime game. Each pitcher was touched up for 10 hits and honors were about even. Lowell and Hartford each had one error. Torphy slipping up on a hard hit grounder and Gero dropping a throw while covering first base.

FATE OF AMERICAN
LONDON, May 19.—No information has yet been received by the American embassy here regarding the nature of the sentence imposed by the court martial in Ireland on Jeremiah C. Lynch of New York, who was convicted on the charge of complicity in the recent Irish rebellion. This is due to the fact that the sentence has not been confirmed by the higher military authorities. The embassy today requested the government, if a death sentence had been passed, to defer execution of the sentence until an investigation of the case could be made.

The Regulation Shoe for Boy Scouts

ELECTROCUTED

Martin Delmore Killed While Working on a Pole in Wamesit

Martin Delmore, a resident of this city and an employee of the Dixon Electrical Co. of Boston, was electrocuted this morning while working on some high powered wires at the plant of the Avery Chemical Co. in Wamesit. The unfortunate accident happened shortly after 10 o'clock. Delmore was working on a pole near a building in which sulphuric acid is manufactured. Other employees of the electrical concern were also at work on the same job, but they left Delmore for a few minutes to attend to other duties and when they came back they found his body stretched across the wires. The body, which was badly charred, was removed from the wires by Delmore's fellow workers and the ambulance was called, but there was no need for it as life was extinct. Delmore was married and has a wife and two children living in Cross st. He was born in Lowell and lived here most of his life, with the exception of short periods when his work took him to other points. He was 26 years of age. He is survived by his parents, John and Catherine Delmore, a wife, Mary, two children, Martin and Dorothy, four brothers, John, Patrick, James and Thomas, and two sisters, Mrs. Emily Spillings and Mrs. Thomas Murphy. He was a popular member of the local lodge. The body was removed to the funeral chapel of Undertaker J. P. O'Donnell & Sons and later to his home in Cross street.

DEATHS

McNAMARA—Timothy F. McNamara died at his home, 53 Brook street, Lawrence, Mass., yesterday. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, Mary; two children, George and Marie; three sisters, Mrs. Patrick Soughan, Mrs. James Duff and Miss Nora McNamara; a brother, Joseph McNamara of Lowell; his mother, Marie, and two sisters in Ireland, Mrs. Margaret Neilon and Miss Bridget McNamara.

THE PINDER CASE

Hearing Was Resumed Before Judge Enright This Afternoon

The hearing given in review of Mayor O'Donnell's finding in the John J. Pinder case was resumed in public court this afternoon before Judge Enright. Supt. Redmond E. Welch was first called by Dennis J. Murphy, counsel for Mr. Pinder, and asked as to the duties of the warrant officer, wagon officer, and other officers and captains. Supt. Welch explained the duties of each officer thoroughly and then Mr. Murphy asked: "Were any of the duties you have mentioned performed by Mr. Pinder?" "They were not." "There were the same number of officers in 1914 as there were in 1915?" "Yes." "Are any of the superior officers not working at the present time?" "Yes, Sergt. Groux." "Do you know of any wages due any superior officer in 1915 that are to be paid out of your estimate of 1915?" "No." "Do you remember that you inserted the sum of $2,000 in your estimate?"

ate for a new police patrol?" "Yes." "Why did you do this?" "I felt that we needed a new patrol because of the condition of the old machine." "Did you apply to the mayor for 10 extra patrolmen?" "Yes." "Did this because you wanted them to sit in on open beats, didn't you?" "Yes." City Solicitor Harold A. Varnum asked Mr. Welch various questions pertaining to department expenses in 1914 and 1915.

Auditor Paige
Auditor Paige was next called and questioned by Mr. Murphy and City Solicitor Varnum as to whether he knew that Lieut. Brosnan has filed a claim against the city for wages due him last year while he was sick. He said he had heard a report to this effect but didn't know whether it was true. Mr. Paige was also asked several questions as to whether the back pay, if awarded Capt. Brosnan, would be paid out of the claims department. He said it would not.

Deputy Downey
Deputy Downey was put on the stand by City Solicitor Varnum to show that he can perform the duties of finger printing and other tasks formerly done by Mr. Pinder. "You have been deputy how long?" "27 years." "You have done finger printing?" "Yes." "How long have you done this work?" "Since Feb. 1." "You are able to read and classify the prints?" "Yes." "How many prints have you taken since Mr. Pinder left?" "About 25 or 30." "Are there other men in the department who can do the work?" "Yes, Sergt. McCoughrey, Lieut. Maher, Captain Brosnan and Sergt. Bigelow." "Who attends the information window?" "The wagon officer and sometimes I do." "Who interviews prisoners now?" "The keepers." "There are three keepers?" "Yes."

A perusal of the mace wielding records bring out a peculiarity. It uncovers the fact that the majority of the greatest sluggers the game has produced have been right-handed hitters, yet the bulk of high percentage hitters are left-handers.

The left-handed batting stars for the most part are speedy afoot, the right-handers are clumsy to an extreme, most of the right-handers have been big men; the left-handers run to the diminutive on the average. Old Cap. Anson was a right-hander. So was Ed Delahanty, who could drive a ball as far as any man in the game. Lajoie and Wagner, the veterans, are starboard clouters. "Cactus" Cravath, who lammed the fences ever and anon last summer is a right-hander. Fred Merkle, the long distance bunter of the Giants, is a right-hander. "Piano Legs" Hickman, famous slugger of a few years ago, was a right-handed swinger.

On the other hand, Cobb is a south-paw center. So are Collins, Baker, Kauff, Speaker, Daubert, Luderus and Doyle. With the exception of Baker and Luderus all are fast men. Excepting these two, none can be classed as a terrific slugger; at least none is in the Cravath, Lajoie, Wagner, Delahanty division. They hit the ball hard and fast—but it is their speed that enables them to take into themselves each year a husky average.

Once upon a time Wilbert Robinson, the brainy Dodger leader, was asked: "If a youngster, aspiring to become a big leaguer, asked you from which side he should swing at a ball, what would you tell him?" Robinson gives advice.

Robinson, who has been in baseball since 1882, answered: "My first advice to him would be to swing from the side in which he packed the most shoulder power. That's the main essential in hitting. In cases where a youngster has almost equal power in his shoulders I would advise that he bat left handed, especially if he were somewhat speedy."

"A left-handed hitter always bats from three to six feet nearer to first base than is the right-hander. When a right-hander takes his position he is on the far side of the plate; the left-hander is on the near side. When the right-hander hits the ball the swing pulls him farther away from first, where as a swift actually sends a left hander nearer to the initial bag."

"When you take into consideration how often during a season that a throw beats a man to first by just one stride you can appreciate the

great advantage there is in hitting left handed.

"But this fact shouldn't influence a youngster who bats left-handed normally to shift to the other side—unless he has as much or greater power in his left shoulder as his right."

As to Lajoie and Wagner. And then the subject was shifted to Lajoie and Wagner. "How much better do you think those two men would have batted if they had been left-handed hitters—and fast afoot?" "From 20 to 40 points each season during their prime," answered Robby.

"Both men rank among the greatest sluggers the game has produced. They never scored fluke hits. When they made safeties they earned them by terrible wallpopping."

"At least 25 times each season Lajoie and Wagner have been beaten out of hits to the infield because they arrived at first just a fraction of a second behind the ball. That means the stride. Batting from the left side would have put that stride in their favor and those outs would have been hits."

"But both these men are normal right-handers. They have the real swinging power in their shoulders. Had they shifted to the port side they would have sacrificed their

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

Barrow's circuit clout which decided yesterday's game was certainly a beauty. "Coke" has sent the sphere over the right field fence at Spaulding park more than any other one player, but none of his clouts was hit any harder than the one yesterday. A fan remarked that if Barrow had got his batting eye there would be nothing to it for Lowell.

Helmie Wagner played a fast fielding game, but didn't get a hit. Kane robbed him of what looked like a triple by running almost to the fence in deep centre.

George Spires, who went from Lowell to Hartford about a week ago, played a fine game. Besides collecting two singles and a double he made a couple of nice plays at second.

First Baseman Smith made quite a record. He made all of the put-outs in the first two innings, the first five being made unassisted.

Downey hit the ball hard yesterday, getting two singles. He also accepted 10 chances without an error.

Weaver who was traded to New Haven by Connie Mack, had one bad inning in the game against Lynn yesterday and lost, 9 to 2.

All of the six runs scored in the Springfield-Lawrence game were the result of home runs, each team getting two.

Worcester defeated Bridgeport and jumped from 10th to seventh place.

Every day the Lowell team is idle on account of the weather, it costs the owners about 200 semoleons, $100 as a guarantee to the visitors and about $100 in salaries.

Danny Murphy, the New Haven manager who appeared here last week with seven or eight pitchers, has released Wilson and Cook. Both of these hurlers worked for a short time in one of the games against Lowell. Donovan, who held the locals to four hits Saturday, will be retained.

Although authorities in New Haven have refused to permit Sunday baseball, Owner Collins of the club will receive $100 for every game played by the semi-professional Colonials against clubs from organized baseball. This is the fee the New Haven owner is to receive for the invasion of his property.

Clinton fans are planning to give Manager Billy Hamilton of the Worcester club a hearty sendoff. The manager of the Boosters made his baseball start in Clinton and brought fame to the town by his long and successful career on the diamond. The project of it is being planned, will include a street parade in Clinton and excursion to Worcester. An effort will be made to have the Clinton mills shut down for the afternoon.

Word comes from Bridgeport that Manager Ball will protest the action of Umpire Doherty in forfeiting the Lawrence-Bridgeport game to Jesse Burdett's boys Monday because the Hustlers were an hour late on account of train connections. The fact that the Bridgeport team missed a train in Boston because of unavoidable circumstances and that the game would have been called off anyway will be gone into at the next meeting of the league directors, it is understood.

Several writers insist the brand of ball played in the new Eastern league is far and away ahead of the article served by the old New England and Eastern association. We're sure the article in the new circuit is in a class by itself. Proof of this was supplied the other day when 57 runs were scored, 32 hits lined out and 31 errors committed. These are certainly no comparison between such baseball and the kind given the fans in the old New England league days.—Manchester Union.

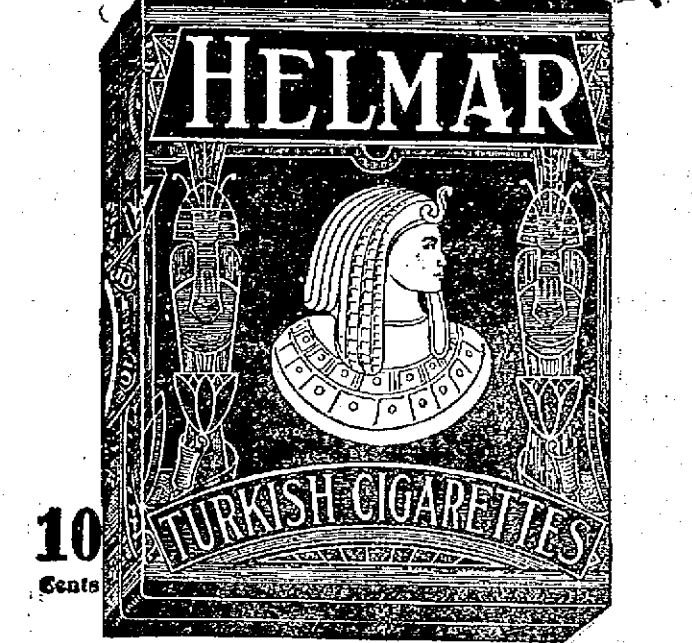

The Lawrence-Sun American apologizes for not having any opening day exercises in the city by explaining the management had a band at the park on Saturday "so that the real fans could take a hand." While this would indicate that real fans only attend games on Saturday, how are the 30 or more who turned out in the cold rain last Monday to be classed?

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Benny Leonard and Johnny Kilbane have been offered a tempting purse to appear before a Philadelphia club, but it is not likely that the offer will be accepted, as the managers of both men will wait and see what the Gotham promoters are willing to give for this match. Leonard's share of the purse is reported to be $5000 if he accepts. These two boxers shared over in New York some time ago, with Leonard getting the verdict in the majority of newspapers after a tame ten-round scrap.

George "Kid" Cotton, who put up a miserable showing against John Lester Johnson at Lawrence a few months ago is scheduled to appear against Rough House Wares of Memphis, Tenn. in an all-star show at the Vanderbilt A. C. of Brooklyn tonight. Both men have felt the impact of Sam Langford's fists and have been knocked out by "Ho-Ho" in short order.

Young Labore, the hard hitting Manchester boxer, is matched to meet Paul Demers the kayo king of New Bedford at the Waikiki City May 24th, in a 12-round contest. Demers is reported to be a terrific hitter, but he will find that Labore won't back away from his punches and it seems likely that Demers will know that he has been in a quarrel after the Manchester scrapper gets through with him.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—The Philadelphia Baseball club of the National league filed its answer in the United States district court here to the suit brought by the Baltimore club of the Federal league to recover $300,000 damages for the alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The answer of the Philadelphia club denies generally and specifically some of the charges in the plaintiff's bill, denies knowledge of the others and demands that the Baltimore club submit proper proof.

The other defendants, including all the clubs of the National and American leagues, members of the National Baseball commission, and James A. Gilmore, Charles W. Hughes and Harry Sinclair of the Federal league, are also expected to file answers shortly.

MEXICAN BANDITSHANGED

First Legal Executions as Punishment for Slaying Americans at Brownsville, Texas, Today

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 19.—The first legal executions as punishment for the slaying of Americans in border raids by Mexican bandits last summer and fall are to take place here today with the hanging of Melquiades Chapa and Jose Buenrostro. They were found guilty of murder in connection with the death of A. L. Austin and his son Charles, following a raid on Sebastian, Cameron county, Aug. 6, 1915, by a band of 14 Mexicans.

COWBOYS BROKE UP

BAND OF BANDITS
FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Near Naulgupa, May 19, via wireless to Columbus, N. M.—Twenty-five Mexican cowboys from the Hearst ranch at Babicora broke up and scattered a newly formed band of bandits near Matamoros about a week ago killing fifteen, wounding one and capturing six, according to news reaching here today. The band had been organized by Atzulio Dominguez and Pedro Castillo, who announced the unity for Americans and Carranza followers. After the theft of a number of horses from the Hearst ranch, the bandits began guerrilla warfare. Employees of the ranch surprised the bandits in camp near the ranch Vlejo. The six taken prisoners were delivered to Carranza authorities in Madera. Among the dead were Dominguez and Castillo, the toll bringing the number of Villa bandits slain up to nearly 500 since the American punitive expedition was sent across the border nine weeks ago. The cowboys captured thirty horses, a number of rifles and other booty.

RELEASED BY U. S. TROOPS
COLUMBUS, N. M., May 19.—Ninety Villa prisoners, captured by American cavalrymen in the engagement at Ojo Azules, Chihuahua, late in April, have been released, according to civilians returning to the border today. The prisoners were held some days and questioned concerning the movements of the various scattered bands and then released, it was said. A number of American soldiers encamped between Colonia Dublan and Naulgupa recently became ill after eating food purchased from Mexicans and as a result several of the natives were taken into custody the arrivals said.

TRIAL OF W. H. ORPET

THREE VENIRES EXHAUSTED WITH JURY NO NEARER COMPLETION YESTERDAY

WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 19.—The jury to try W. H. Orpet, the University student, for the murder of his former sweetheart, Marian Lambert, was no nearer completion when court opened today than it was yesterday morning. Two hundred and twenty-three men have been examined for jury service since the trial began and three venires have been exhausted. Attorneys for the defense have hinted that a letter, written by Marian Lambert to Orpet a few days before her death from poison last February, in which she threatened to commit suicide, will form a vital part of the evidence in their case.

FOUR BISHOPS ELECTED

BALLOTING RESUMED AT GENERAL CONFERENCE OF M.E. CHURCH TODAY

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., May 19.—With only four bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church remaining to be elected, the general conference today resumed the balloting which has been in progress since yesterday. Following closely after the election of Dr. Herbert Welch of Delaware, O., and Dr. Thomas Nicholson of New York last night, the announcement was made to the conference this morning that the Rev. Adna W. Leonard of Seattle, Wash., had been chosen on the tenth ballot. He is a son of the late Rev. Adna B. Leonard, for many years prominent in Methodism. He is only 41 years old, being the third bishop of the Methodist church to be elected at so young an age.

The Rev. Matt S. Hughes of Pasadena, Calif., was in second place on the tenth ballot, with 420 votes, which was 99 less than was necessary for election. Dr. Matt S. Hughes of Pasadena, Cal., was elected a bishop on the 12th ballot, receiving 549 votes or four more than was necessary. He is a brother of Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco.

Dr. Hughes has been pastor of a church at Pasadena since 1908 and previously had held pastorates at Portland, Me., Minneapolis and Kansas City. He is 53 years of age.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST

LONDON, May 19.—An important arrest was made last night in connection with the attempted landing of arms on the southwest coast of Ireland on Good Friday, says a despatch received by the Central News today from Tralee.

HELD WHIST PARTY

A very enjoyable whist party was held last evening in St. John's hall, North Chelmsford, under the auspices of the teachers of St. John's Sunday school. The proceeds of the affair will go towards meeting the expenses of the May procession to be held by the children of St. John's parish on Sunday afternoon.

Whist was started at about 5 o'clock and continued until 10.30 o'clock, the pastime being indulged in by over 50 couples. The following were announced as prize winners: Gentlemen's first prize, James Gookin; second prize, Leo Pope; third prize, Peter Bruely; fourth prize, Peter Lashop; ladies' first prize, Miss Anna Elvish; second prize, Mrs. Smith; consolation, Miss Josephine Tomhey. Following the awarding of prizes refreshments were served, after which dancing was enjoyed. The teachers of the school were assisted in making the affair successful by Rev. Henry L. Scott, James Daly and Arthur Welsh.

BIRRELL SAYS GERMANY AT BOTTOM OF REBELLION

Testifies at Inquiry—Says Passage of Home Rule Bill Prevented Serious Trouble—Had Appealed to Gens. Kitchener and French to Send More Troops to Dublin—If Redmond Accepted Place in Cabinet With Carson He Would Not Have Remained the Leader of Irish Party

LONDON, May 19.—Augustine Birrell, who resigned as chief secretary for Ireland after the Sinn Féin revolt, appeared today as a witness before the royal commission which is conducting an inquiry into the Irish rebellion. The presence of the chief secretary aroused keen interest in view of the testimony given by Sir Matthew Nathan, former under-secretary for Ireland at yesterday's hearing, that the government had had advance information regarding the German plans for aiding the Irish rebels. At the outset of the hearing today Mr. Birrell stated that he had read Sir Matthew Nathan's statement and that he did not know that there were any additions or modifications he wished to make. He then read a statement which he had prepared and which he described as dealing in a general manner with Sinn Féinism.

Mr. Birrell continued: "If the home rule bill had not been placed on the statute books there would have been a great explosion of rage and disappointment, both in Ireland and in the United States which when war came would have assumed alarming proportions. The events in Ulster and the gun-running at Larne by the Ulsterists in 1914 undoubtedly had a great effect on disloyalists elsewhere. Ireland had presented an unbroken front at the outbreak of the war, through the patriotism of John Redmond. Mr. Birrell continued, but there were many who did not agree with his attitude. It was impossible to overestimate the effect which the advent of the Ulster leader, Sir Edward Carson, to the cabinet had exercised upon the minds of the people of Ireland. If Mr. Redmond had accepted office in the same cabinet he would not have remained leader of the Irish party. When it was seen that the war would be prolonged Mr. Birrell said, Ireland soon developed not wholly unreasonable expectations of a German landing and of partial risings in different parts of Ireland, and promises of German assistance were at the bottom of the outbreak.

Answering Baron Hardinge, Mr. Birrell said: "Sinn Féinism had spread all over the place. The Sinn Féiners were sick of parliamentary parties and they desired to be left alone. I realized for two years certainly that there was a dangerous movement in Ireland but after consultation with the various Irish leaders I came to the conclusion that a policy of non-intervention was the safest." Baron Hardinge: "You need not answer this question, but why were the Irish leaders who advised you in this policy to be relied upon?" Mr. Birrell: "In the first place I had formed a pretty clear estimate of my own, and I don't think I ever was much influenced by other people. But Mr. Redmond, for example, always took the view that the Sinn Féiners were negligible, and he said so in the house of commons. I did not attach much importance to his opinion because I was quite sure they were dangerous. I had daily reports from the Royal Irish constabulary, and these reports were of such a character that one could form a general estimate of the state of feeling in the countryside.

"The state of feeling varied very much," Mr. Birrell added. "A priest was an anti-Sinn Féinist, Sinn Féinism died out, but if the priest was in favor of it the movement was promoted. But in Dublin it was different. I always felt that I was very ignorant of what was going on in the cellars of Dublin and I was exceedingly nervous about that. I had heard that the castle was to be taken.

"Steps were taken to deal with these reports, but nothing came of them, and I should be very curious to hear if anybody knew this thing was going to happen."

"I had very decided views, so much so that I had conferences with General Kitchener and French on March 20 and March 27 to persuade them to send more soldiers to Dublin. I knew the people of Dublin should have evidence that England still had soldiers and it was not a question of sending more soldiers with bayonets and bands could be got to parade the streets of Dublin it would have had a great effect on the Sinn Féiners."

"The revolutionaries would then have known there was a force in Dublin with which they would have to contend."

"The war office replied that they were very busy training men and that the men could not be spared to be transferred to Ireland. The military authorities considered that in case of trouble in any part of Ireland they could move troops from Liverpool as quickly and as safely as from one part of Ireland to the other. Lord Wimborne held the same views that I did."

Explaining why he spent so little time in Ireland, Mr. Birrell said he had to be in London to attend the cabinet meetings to represent Ireland, and then added: "But of course, a lack of a margin might have done just as well to cry out 'Ireland! Ireland!' when bills were being discussed by the cabinet."

Mr. Birrell said, however, that he had visited more parts of Ireland than had any of his predecessors. The commission adjourned until Monday.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

READING WAS FEATURE

CENTRE OF INTEREST AT OPENING—STEEL, COPPER AND MARINES

MAINSTAY OF FINAL HOUR

NEW YORK, May 19.—Reading was again the centre of interest at the opening of today's market. Its 1 point advance of the previous day to 100 or double bar, on an enormous overturn furnishing one of the most sensational features of recent years. The stock opened with an offering of 12,000 shares at yesterday's record price followed by blocks of 1000 to 3000 shares at steady gains up to 101 7/8. Reading second pfd. also made a new high record at 52, and other leading rails responded with one to two point gains. Speculation was almost neglected in the demand for standard stocks, but material advances were registered in that quarter of the market.

The Reading movement attained more impressive proportions later, the common stock advancing to 112. Dealings in Reading during the forenoon were estimated at 160,000 shares or about one-quarter of the entire operations of that period. Other high grade rails, as well as inactive stocks of that group, were favorably influenced, especially Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central, those roads holding large amounts of Reading in their treasuries. Western Maryland, recently mentioned in connection with Reading, was strongest of the obscure issues. Profit-taking reduced gains by a point or more at mid-day. Bonds were strong.

Reading's reaction of 4 1/2 points checked the heavy profit-taking in the noon hour. Specialties, notably motors and Crucible, were increasing by heavy Reading's setback was brief, however, that stock with other rails, copper and U. S. Steel leading another advance. Steel, copper and marines were the mainstay of the final hour. Reading again falling sharply on increased realizing. The closing was strong.

LATE WAR NEWS

BERLIN, May 18, via London, May 19.—The Austrian offensive to the south and southeast of Rovereto is making progress daily. The Austrian front already has been advanced five miles in places. These gains have been made in the face of great difficulties. The mountains still are covered with snow. The Austrians fought their way ascending and descending slopes varying in altitude as much as 4000 feet within a mile. Despatches from Austrian headquarters indicate that the successes achieved are due to the superiority of the artillery.

Captures of men and war materials are increasing daily. The number of prisoners now exceeds 7300. The Austrians also have taken 31 cannon and 55 machine guns.

The positions captured have been in the hands of the Italians for months and include points to which the Italians attached the greatest strategic importance. For example there fell into the hands of the Austrians on Folgaria plateau an order issued by an Italian division commander, in which the plateau was characterized as a position of fundamental importance, to be held at all hazards.

FRENCH TRENCHES ON BOTH SIDES OF HAUCOURT-ESNES CAPTURED

BERLIN, May 19, via London, 3.05 p. m.—French trenches on both sides of the Haucourt-Esnes high road, on the Verdun front west of the Meuse, have been captured by the Germans, the war office announced today. Nine French officers and 120 men were taken prisoner.

The announcement says the captured French positions extend to the neighborhood of the southern corner of Wood wood.

The text of today's German army headquarters statement is as follows: "Western front: To the west of the Meuse we captured French trenches on both sides of the road from Lisieux to Enes extending to the southern corner of the Canard, (Duck) wood. Nine officers and 120 men were taken prisoner.

"A new attack by the French against Hill 304 broke down with very considerable losses to the enemy. "East of the Meuse the artillery fire on both sides increased temporarily to great violence.

"Alarms on both sides have been active. First Lieut. Doelcke shot down his 16th aeroplane pilot of Ripont. The Lunville station and the aerodrome and barracks at Epinal were bombed.

"Balkan front: An air squadron attacked enemy camps near Kukush, Causica, Mihalova and Saloniki."

AUSTRIANS ADVANCING AT POINTS ON THE ITALIAN FRONT

BERLIN, May 19 (By wireless to Sayville).—Austrian troops are continuing to advance at points on the Italian front, the official statement of May 18 says, although the Italians are undertaking vigorous counter strokes.

The Austrians crossed the Luan valley and captured Costabella. The report of May 18 is as follows: "Italian front: In the coastal region and on the Carinthian sector artillery operations were impeded by fog. Southeast of Montefalco the Italians attempted to recapture positions near Bagui which they lost recently, but they were repulsed.

"In the Col di Lana district repeated hostile attacks were made without success. In the southern Tyrol Austro-Hungarian troops attacked and captured the frontier ridge of Maggio, between the Astico and Leno valleys. The Austrians crossed the valley southeast of Piazzola and took Costabella. They repulsed several hostile attacks south of Moschere on the Zegnatura.

"We captured yesterday more than 800 Italians, among whom were 12 officers, and took 18 cannon and machine guns.

"The 17th official Italian reports of May 16 and 17 state that the Austro-Hungarian losses in these engagements were enormous. These reports were invented in order to diminish the impression made by the Italian retreat. The losses of the enemy can be estimated only by those who hold the battlefield. The Italians are not in that position."

BRITISH WARSHIPS AND AEROPLANES BOMBARD EL ARISH IN EGYPT

LONDON, May 19, 2.14 p. m.—British warships and aeroplanes have bombarded the town of El Arish in Egypt, near the border of Palestine, and it is believed to have destroyed the fort there. It was announced officially today. El Arish is on the Turkish line of communication from Syria to Egypt. The text of the British official statement says:

"The general officer commanding in chief in Egypt reports that our ships, aeroplanes and aeroplanes successfully bombarded the town of El Arish, an important post on the enemy line of communication from Syria to Egypt, on the morning of May 18. The ships bombarded the fort southwest of the town and are believed to have reduced it to ruins.

"The aerial attack was divided into two phases. The aeroplanes opened the bombardment, being followed later by the aeroplanes. The latter were given orders to engage any hostile machines and to devote special attention to the enemy troops and camp. A column of troops about 1000 strong was seen south of the town on the march, and three bombs exploded among them. All the camps were effectively bombarded. "All the ships and machines returned safely.

"Weather conditions during the past week have been abnormal, intense heat being experienced day and night. Under the conditions the health of the troops remains good.

"Lieut. Gen. Sir Bryan Mahon has assumed command on the western front of Egypt and Lieut. Gen. Milne is now commanding the British troops at Saloniki."

GERMANS OBTAIN FOOTING SOUTH OF HILL 257—FIERCE FIGHTING

PARIS, May 19, 12.01 p. m.—Violent fighting on a large scale was resumed on the Verdun front last night. Two fresh divisions of German troops attacked French positions at Avocourt wood and Hill 304, west of the Meuse. The war office announces the attacks in the main were unsuccessful, although the Germans obtained a footing on a small post south of Hill 257, which lies just east of Avocourt wood. The Germans attempted to recapture the small fort on the northeast slope of Hill 304 which the French took on the preceding day but their effort failed.

Infantry fighting was confined for the most part to the sector west of the Meuse. East of the river and in the Woivre the artillery was active. The official statement says the troops employed by the Germans in their attacks had recently been sent to the Verdun front.

Sub-Lieut. Naveau, one of the best known French aviators who recently engaged in a fight with five German aeroplanes, brought down his tenth machine in an aerial combat at Dolante in the Argonne.

The text of the statement follows: "In the western part of the Argonne region the enemy has endeavored to penetrate a small salient of our line at a point near St. Hubert. This attempt was made after the explosion of a mine. Our curtain of fire checked the Germans decisively and they were thrown back into their trenches.

"On the left bank of the river Meuse yesterday evening forests renewed their attacks in the vicinity of Avocourt wood and Hill 304. These attacks were of extreme violence. In them participated large numbers of men belonging to two divisions recently arrived on the field. The enemy found it impossible to dislodge us from our position in the Avocourt wood and to the west of Hill 204.

"Nevertheless, on the center, the enemy were able to occupy a small work to the south of Hill 257. Several endeavors to continue their progress at this point were definitely checked by the French fire. On the northeast the French Hill 304 an endeavor to recapture the small fort taken by us yesterday resulted in failure.

STRIKE LEADER KILLED

One of the Five Men Shot in Riot at Ansonia, Conn., Died Today—Guards on Duty

ANSONIA, Conn., May 19.—Quiet prevailed in the strike district here today following the riot of yesterday when five strikers were shot by armed guards during an attack on the plant of the Ansonia Manufacturing Co. Charles Laepo, one of the men shot, died early today. The other four are not seriously wounded. The authorities were on the alert for any further outbreak and a large force of deputy sheriffs and special officers patrolled the plant and its vicinity.

Laepo, the dead man, was said to have been one of the strike leaders and had a large following among the foreign laborers here. The police reported considerable uneasiness among the laborers when they learned of Laepo's death, but there was no demonstration.

Most of the 150 to 200 men on strike

are foreign born and are employed in the fuse rooms of the company which is engaged in making war munitions.

A large number of them came here recently. The plant employs about 500 and the other departments are still in operation. Today, it was understood, as a measure of safety, the girls and women, a large number of whom are employed by the concern, were advised to stay at home.

NOTICE!

of street department water bill was again discussed, but no further action was taken. Prof. Buel of New York, who drew the plans of the Pawtucket bridge as submitted by the Connors Bros. Co. was present and he spoke at length on his plans. The meeting was called to order at 11 o'clock by Mayor O'Donnell with all members present.

Haven G. Hill was introduced by Mayor O'Donnell as the representative of the Connors Bros. Co. in relation to the bids for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. Mr. Hill said his purpose of attending the meeting, was to introduce Prof. A. W. Buel of New York, an engineer of high standing, who has had considerable experience in bridge construction.

Prof. Buel spoke in favor of the plan he drew for Connors Bros. Co. in relation to bids for the erection of the Pawtucket bridge. He said his plan is an excellent one and he hopes if the council has a better plan that it will take it. "You are liable to have high water in the river, and to avoid all trouble I have planned a steel bridge which is self supporting and which will avoid a great deal of danger."

"The arch is divided into six ribs, and each one of the reinforced concrete ribs is reinforced by two steel ribs. This will cost a little more money, but we will have the steel in the bridge. Some people will take out the steel and throw it away and that is lost. My bridge would stand up irrespective of the concrete."

"I am confident that my bridge can be built quicker than any other bridge."

"I would be very glad if you sent your plans to Engineer Worcester, for I feel they would be approved." Prof. Buel is a graduate of the Rensselaer Polytechnic of New York.

The New England Telephone Co. filed three bonds with the council for local locations, one for Westworth avenue, another for Osgood street and the third for the corner of Westford and Osgood streets. The bonds were accepted and placed on file.

A contract for the heating, lighting and ventilating of the new high school between the R. D. Kimball Co. and the city of Lowell was submitted by the city solicitor.

The mayor said the contract is on a basis, but did not force the city to put in a power plant. The contract was accepted.

The far question was then taken up by Mr. Morse, who said the contract for the supply of tar to the city by the American Tar Co. will be ready in a few minutes.

Mr. Morse also spoke on the stone matter, saying he has paid five cents more this year than last year. He said last year he paid 70 cents a ton for stone and $1.15 a ton for freight. He says five cents a ton means a lot. To a question from the mayor, Mr. Morse said he had reference to trap rock. He referred to another rock and said with a blinding of tar it is as good as trap rock. He said he would like the council to authorize him to call for bids for trap rock. He stated he had no specifications but would prepare some. It was voted to authorize Mr. Morse to call for bids for crushed stone, through the purchasing agent, according to specifications to be filed later.

Mr. Putnam again brought up the question of the water bill against the street department for water used in paving during the year 1916.

Mr. Morse said he does not know how much water will be used this year and he fails to see how he can pay for what he has not yet used.

Mayor O'Donnell said last year's water bill has not been paid. He said the bills are dragged along from year to year with the result that the bills are lost.

Mr. Morse said in 1914 he did not use but two cars and a bill for $1800 was presented. Mr. Morse said the only thing to do is to pay on a basis of three watering carts and two cars. The 1915 bill was not paid, said Mr. Morse, because we could not come to some understanding. I have nothing to say against the water department or how it is conducted, but I think I should be asked to pay as when Col. Carmichael was commissioner.

Mr. Morse said if Mr. Putnam is willing to present a fair bill he will pay in advance.

Mr. Putnam said the council voted a week ago to have Mr. Putnam present his bill, and he did. I want to know, continued Mr. Putnam, if the 1915 bill will be paid for.

"Did you ever pay for the water used in mixing concrete?" asked Mr. Morse.

Mr. Putnam: "That is not the question; I was authorized by the council to present a bill for $1000 for 1915 and a similar bill for this year."

The Genoa Club
A ten-minute recess was taken and when the council resumed, the mayor read a recommendation from the city solicitor asking the council to settle with the Genoa club for the property taken in Anne street for a high school site, and fixing the amount to be awarded to the club as $34,000. The city solicitor said a settlement was not reached the case would go to trial before the superior court right away.

He said he was ready with his evidence to go to trial, but he believed it would be better for all concerned to reach an agreeable settlement. Mr. Varnum told of expert builders who have stated that the value of the building and the land is more than the amount named, even without interest.

He said he had a conference with J. Joseph O'Connor and Benjamin J. Molony, counsel for the club, and they are willing to settle for the sum of $34,000. "A trial will cost money," continued the solicitor, "for experts will be needed and they charge for their services, and I believe the safest way

Mayor O'Donnell said inasmuch as he is a member of the Knights of Columbus he will not vote for or against a settlement, and this action will be taken in order to prevent criticism.

Commissioner Duncan said he has gone over the matter thoroughly with the city solicitor and after due consideration of the matter he thought it best for the city to settle. "I do not favor the Knights of Columbus," continued Mr. Duncan, "but I am endeavoring to do what is right for the city, and any other claimant who can show that we are wrong in the assessment will receive the same consideration."

Commissioner Donnelly said he is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, and he will vote in favor of a settlement upon the recommendation of the city solicitor. The city solicitor also suggested that the taxes for 1915 be abated. A vote was then taken on a motion to pay $34,000 to the Genoa club for damages to their property, presented by Commissioner Duncan and all but Mayor O'Donnell voting in the affirmative, the mayor not voting. It was also voted, the mayor not voting, to recommend to the board of assessors that the taxes for 1915 be abated.

When the building and land of the Genoa club was seized by the city, the club wanted $10,000 damages, while the council voted to give the organization the sum of $17,125, or the assessed valuation of the property.

The meeting adjourned at 12.20 o'clock until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

paid Mr. Morrison since May 16th" was asked.

"I could not tell you but Mr. Silverblatt could," answered witness.

George W. Morrison, the plaintiff, was then called. He said that in May, 1914, he was the owner of the Cross Awning & Sign Co. and on the 15th sold the business to the defendant, to the stock in trade he turned over considerable cloth to Mrs. Palmer which was not included in the bill of sale, Mrs. Palmer agreeing to pay him for it. Witness said that he remained at the store until about the middle of June in order to instruct Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and their two sons, various things about the business. Mr. Morrison said that while he remained there he gave his services and the use of his automobile to the defendant free of charge.

The case of George W. Morrison against Lina M. Palmer, an action of contract, was opened before Justice Bell in the civil session of the superior court this morning. Jackson Palmer appeared for the plaintiff while the defendant was represented by Bennett Silverblatt. The ad damnum named is $1738 with interest.

Mr. Morrison in his declaration stated that he conducted a business at 215 Dutton street, known as the Cross Awning & Sign Co., and that on or about May 20, 1914 he sold the business to Mrs. Lina M. Palmer. She was to pay him the sum of $3000, $1500 at the time of the sale and the remaining $1500 from the first receipts after deducting running expenses and $25 for living expenses. He says she made the payment of $1500 but since then has paid him nothing. He further claims that she also owes him $500 for merchandise and stock in trade, $25 for counsel fees and $3 which he paid for express on goods.

Mrs. Lina M. Palmer, the defendant, was the first witness called. She said that in 1914 she purchased the business of the Cross Awning & Sign Co. from Mr. Morrison. The purchase was made on May 15th and she took possession on June 1. She paid Mr. Morrison the sum of $1500 on the day the sale was made. In answer to a question put by Mr. Palmer, witness said she mortgaged the business to a Mr. Ratzko for $1600 about the time of the sale. She said that she had paid $200 on that mortgage up to April 15th, the money coming from the salaries of her husband and two sons and what she was able to save herself. Questioned as to whether she kept accurate books she answered in the affirmative, stating that all money received and disbursed has been entered in the books.

"How much if anything have you received since April 15th?"

"I have not received anything since April 15th,"

"Did you ever pay for the water used in mixing concrete?"

"No,"

"That is not the question; I was authorized by the council to present a bill for $1000 for 1915 and a similar bill for this year."
